CITES BRIBE ACCUSATION AGAINST DAVIS

Sergeant-at-Arms Revives Story of Lobby Grafting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—David S. Barry, veteran Senate Sergeant-at-Arms, cited statements of members of Congress themselves to the Senate Judiciary Committee today in support of his assertion in a magazine article that some Senators and Representatives take bribes.

The committee postponed action on his case, but will continue working on it tomorrow.

Appearing voluntarily, the 73-year-old suspended officer, calmly read to the committee a prepared statement citing several suggestions of bribery, including one by Senator Glass (Dem.), West Virginia, in the Senate last spring that bankers "hired some Congressmen" to oppose banking legislation.

DAVIS CHARGE CITED

Barry called the committee's attention to the investigation of charges by the Senate Lobby Committee a year ago and referred to a letter written by Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, as chairman of the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee, to the late Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Ar-

FLAMES PERIL CAMPBELL CAR

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—A brush fire in a field adjoining its garage today threatened the $60,000 racing car in which Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed king, hopes to set a new world land speed mark on the Ocean Beach Speedway here next week.

The fire was quenched by the Daytona Beach Fire Department after considerable excitement. A huge crowd gathered as rumors spread that the British racing machine had been destroyed. The car was not damaged.

Campbell today abandoned his announced plan of taking the "Campbell Special" on the beach tomorrow for photographs and a trial spin because of poor beach conditions. Prevailing adverse winds indicated it might be several days before a preliminary run could be made. He said:

"I'll take the car out only when I am certain the beach is in proper condition. There's too much involved to take any chances."

Coyne Assails Critics, Asks Parley on Bills

Senator Denies He's Foe of Schools, But Scores Waste

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 6.—In a letter to the Citizens' Committee today, Senator James J. Coyne refused to alter his attitude on legislation dealing with the county salary board, the city manager plan or the delinquent tax collector's office, defending his record of election reform legislation, and denied he had ever attacked the Pittsburgh school system.

At the same time, he invited the seven members of the committee to sit down with the special legislative governmental economy committee of which he is chairman, and discuss across the table the entire subject of government in Allegheny County.

DENIES SCHOOL ATTACK

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, Coyne pointed out, through their school boards, are the only cities which turn over a taxing power to an appointive body. Denying he sponsored any legislation interfering with the school system, the Senator added that the school boards in other municipal divisions of Allegheny County were elective, and intimated the committee for consistency in defending the Pittsburgh appointive board should advocate the same

'Unknown' Sphinx Unearthed in Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A hitherto unknown sphinx was reported today to have been unearthed near the second pyramid by Prof. Selim Hassan, of the Egyptian Archaeological Department of the University of Cairo.

Twelve mastabas, ancient Egyptian tombs, also were reported to have been discovered.

Senate Committee Approves 'Gas' Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The Senate Finance Committee today approved the House bill to continue for another year the one cent a gallon Federal tax on gasoline.

City School Board Head Sued

A suit asking $50,000 damages was filed today in Common Pleas Court against Marcus Aaron, president of the Board of Public Education, by Rush & McGonigle, certified public accountants, who have been gathering data on the school board as members of the Coyne sub-committee. Their attorney is O. K. Eaton.

The auditors, W. D. Rush and James J. McGonigle, allege that in a public statement made by Aaron December 30, 1932, they were characterized as "snoopers," as leading double lives in the role of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, and as being "discredited auditors," thereby injuring their reputation. They also say Aaron refused to retract his statement.

Aaron, in his reply, had suggested that the question of an apology by him be referred to the Pittsburgh Chapter of Certified Accountants.

The auditors are members of the sub-committee of the legislative committee of Senator James J. Coyne. In their letter asking a retraction, they declared they had not yet completed their report on the school board and so their work could not be judged by Mr. Aaron or anyone else.

GAS PERILS 3 POSTAL MEN

Inhalators were used to revive Supt. William E. Hazlett, 118 McIntyre avenue, North Side; James L. Lynn, a clerk and James Gibson, special delivery messenger.

Lynn discovered Hazlett had fallen to the floor unconscious. He immediately telephoned Police Chief W. E. Burke. When police arrived, all three were unconscious on the floor.

Persons using the postoffice lobby while waiting for a street car were blamed by Chief Burke for kicking open a gas valve on an unused heater.

Thug Beats, Robs Hollywood Actress

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Miss Patricia Regan, actress, was recovering in her Hollywood home today from a beating and slashing administered last night as she was accosted on a street and robbed of her purse.

Police reports said the young woman was struck from behind with a heavy club, the blow causing two ribs to be broken and sprintering her shoulder blade. As she fell, one of the attackers slashed the actress' wrists and fled with the purse, containing $11.

Bombing Planes Menace Mutineers on Warship

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Brandishing aerial bombs, Dutch naval airmen flew over the captured Dutch battleship De Zeven Provincien this afternoon, threatening to drop them on the vessel and its crew of mutineers unless they surrendered immediately.

The fliers were part of a squadron which put out in pursuit of the battleship after native seamen and petty officers, protesting against a 17 per cent wage cut, seized the vessel and steamed out into the Java Sea from the Sumatran Harbor of Olehle.

In a message broadcast "to the press of the world" and sent out from the battleship's wireless room, the mutineers insisted they intended peaceful settlement of the dispute.

FRIGID WAVE IN AREA TO CONTINUE

Families Escape Fires In Homes; Coasters Hurt in Mishaps

Pittsburgh today had a brief respite from the cold wave which sent the official thermometer down to eight degrees last night, but according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman more frigid weather is due tomorrow from the northweast.

Low temperatures and snow here have been accompanied by four coasting accidents and numerous automobile crashes.

Classes were dismissed in St. Mary of the Mount school, Grandview avenue, during the morning, because of the cold. Sessions were resumed this afternoon.

ROUTED BY FLAMES

Fires drove two families into the cold in East New Kensington and Carnegie, and damaged the Junction drug store at 7602-04 Forbes street.

Highways in all directions out of Pittsburgh were today reported in bad condition with snow drifts and ice, making automobile travel slow and dangerous. The Lincoln and William Penn highways east of Pittsburgh in the Allegheny Mountains were reported dangerous as far east as Harrisburg.

The lowest temperature reported from the boroughs was in Dormont where one degree above zero was registered unofficially last night. According to Brotzman, the temperature in Pittsburgh will drop to about 25 tonight.

The injured coasters were Edward Bigos, of 806 North Land avenue, taken to Pittsburgh Hospital after being struck by an automobile in Bennett place; Victorine Walters, 8, of 452 Ormsby avenue, taken to South Side Hospital after her sled struck a car parked at Ormsby avenue and Mountain street, and Grace Steiner, 13, of 1807 West street, West Homestead, and Bertha Beavers, 10, of 1308 Hays street, West Homestead, treated for lacerations in Homestead Hospital after their sleds struck parked cars, according to police.

CHILD ROUSES FAMILY

The cries of a 3-year-old child aroused a family of eight children and their parents when fire swept the home of John Cinkowski in East New Kensington. The family escaped by a porch roof and the house was destroyed.

In Carnegie, a 6-year-old child was carried to safety and five other persons were led from a burning building by firemen at 135 East Main street. The child was a daughter of Walter J. Wilson whose family occupies an apartment on the second floor. The blaze started in a shoe store operated by Joseph Malvarosa on the first floor, according to police.

Thieves Use Truck To Steal 'Evidence'

There won't be any material evidence at tonight's hearing of Joseph Patterson and Anthony Sannillo, of Overbrook, on a liquor violation charge, because the evidence was stolen last night from the office of Alderman Jacob Michael, 2509 Transport avenue, Overbrook.

Thieves parked a truck near the office and loaded it with 120 gallons of alleged moonshine and 1,300 pounds of sugar seized in a raid Saturday at 2027 Dartmoor avenue, Overbrook.

London Paper Quotes Mr. Hearst's Views On International Affairs

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Under the heading, "A Real 100 Percenter—A Broadside From Mr. W. R. Hearst," the London Financial News publishes this Monday a cabled statement requested by the editor from William Randolph Hearst.

Mr. Hearst's statement is prefaced by the following editorial comment by the Financial News:

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, the American newspaper magnate, has sent the following cable to the Financial News. His views are ominous indication of the opposition which must be overcome if any satisfactory settlement of the Anglo-American debt controversy is to be achieved. Through his series of newspapers, Mr. Hearst exercises an undoubted influence upon sections of American public opinion.

While English readers need hardly be told that the opinions of newspaper proprietors on public affairs are sometimes more trenchant than representative, it should be remembered that Mr. Hearst played a leading part in the convention which nominated Mr. Roosevelt as Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

He has, therefore, intimate associations with many of the newly elected Democratic leaders who, apart from their political connections, are peculiarly susceptible to the pressure exercised by the largest newspaper syndicate in the world—more especially as many of Mr. Hearst's newspapers are strategically situated in large groups of Democratic constituencies.

If Mr. Hearst's views can be regarded as representative of any large section of public opinion, the task which lies before the British negotiations at Washington must be difficult.

It should be noted that, during the last decade, Mr. Hearst's newspapers have been very friendly to Great Britain. Their views have undergone some change since Mr. Chamberlain's recent address to American journalists in London.

Following is Mr. Hearst's statement:

TO THE editor of the Financial News:

I believe in magnificent isolation for America.

I believe that America should have kept out of the war.

I believe that she should have kept out of the consequences of the war.

I believe that she should keep out of the League of Nations and the League Court.

I believe that we should have refrained from compromising the debts, and I believe that we should now refrain from conferences with European affairs and European obligations.

I have never seen the American Eagle go into one of these conferences that it has not come out plucked to its pinfeathers.

We have compromised the war debts of European nations to us more than they should have been compromised.

There should be, in my opinion, no further compromises, no further conferences.

If the European nations want to repudiate their honest obligations, let them do so; but let them take the full odium for such a disreputable performance, and, let me add, for such a short-sighted performance.

IN REGARD to America in conference with European nations, I am reminded of Mark Twain's story at the time of the Orange troubles in Ireland.

In these conflicts one side was shouting, "To hell with the Pope," and the other side, "To hell with the King."

The law was imposing a five-pound fine for any person shouting these offensive epithets. The informer to get half.

Said the policeman to the man, "To hell with whom—my good friend—to hell with what?"

The man replied, "Begorra, you can finish it yourself. It is too expensive for me."

BUSY DAYS AT DOORN BARED

Myth of Wood-Sawing Exploded by Investigator

(Editor's Note—With the changing political scene in Germany making a monarchical restoration more possible than at any time in 14 years, International News Service sent Edward Hunter to Doorn, Holland, to investigate the activities of former Kaiser Wilhelm at first hand. In the following cabled dispatch, the famous former Manchurian war correspondent explodes the myth that Wilhelm is spending his exile hours in cutting wood.)

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service.

DOORN, Holland, Feb. 6.—The impression prevailing throughout the world that former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany has become an amiable old man, passing his time sawing wood on the grounds of his estate and patting the heads of flaxen-haired Dutch children, is a myth.

Actually, he is every bit as active as he has ever been. He is keeping in close touch with political affairs in Germany. He refuses to acknowledge that he is beaten. He still regards himself as Kaiser and personally sees to it that a persistent campaign is kept up in behalf of his return to the throne

MYTH EXPLODED

The wood-cutting myth was successfully exploded in the course of a tour through the interior of Doorn house and its precincts, aided by conversation with numerous prominent individuals in Doorn, Amsterdam and The Hague who are in close contact with the ex-Kaiser's movements.

Doorn House revealed itself as the headquarters of an enormous

RIDING MASTER WINS APPEAL

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser today issued a certificate of reasonable doubt in the case of Sydney Homewood, who was convicted of betraying Charlotte Gibson under promise of marriage.

In announcing that he had ordered issuance of the reasonable doubt certificate, Justice Morschauser ruled that the prisoner, who has been sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and to serve from a year and a half to three years in prison, should be released in $15,000 bail pending argument on a motion for a new trial.

Shortly after Homewood, a Rockland County riding master, was sentenced, Miss Gibson gave birth to a child, who lived but a few days. Homewood has been kept, since his sentence, in the Rockland County Jail. His attorneys did not say today whether he would be able to furnish the stipulated bail and so gain his freedom at least for the time being.

Rebuke Proposed For Federal Judge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The House Judiciary Committee today voted 10 to 5 against filing impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Harold Louderback, but by the same ballot agreed to file in the House a censure of the conduct of the California jurist.

Representative LaGuardia (Rep.) New York, who sponsored the resolution for an investigation, announced immediately that he would file a minority report recommending impeachment.

RUSSIAN ARMS DELEGATE IN VEILED ATTACK ON JAPAN

LITVINOFF ASKS PENALTIES FOR AGGRESSOR

Meeting at Geneva Startled by Declaration

GENEVA, Feb. 6—(AP.)—Maxim Litvinoff, representing Soviet Russia at the world disarmament conference, today gave the conference a definition of an aggressor nation which caused a sensation in the meeting.

Penalties provided for an aggressor nation, said he, should be applied against any state which attacks or invades with armed forces the territory of another state upon any pretext whatever.

This detailed definition of an aggressor so closely paralleled many features of Japan's policy in Manchuria that the conference for a moment was startled.

TOKIO SEEKS TRUCE

GENEVA, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—The Japanese government made an eleventh-hour effort tonight to prevent the League of Nations from acting in the Manchurian dispute under Paragraph 4, Article 15 of the covenant.

Yosuke Matsuoka, chief Japanese delegate, received a long cablegram from Tokio instructing him to try and induce the League's Sino-Japanese committee of 19 to keep open negotiations for conciliation.

The Japanese proposed acceptance of the December 15 draft resolution as the basis for negotiations, provided the League definitely drops its plan to invite the United States and Soviet Russia to join in conciliation efforts and revamp that part of the resolution concerning Manchukuo.

Matsuoka made immediate efforts to learn whether he could submit the Japanese proposal, inasmuch as the committee has already started work under Paragraph4 by drawing up recommendations for settlement.

U. S. SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—The United States will gladly support the League of Nations in the Far East if the latter adopts the Lytton report condemning Japan for its invasion of Manchuria, but it is not prepared to express an opinion on any other measures pending the adoption of a report by the league.

This was the response of State Department officials today to reports from Geneva that the league intended to consult the United States before it adopts a report on the Manchurian situation.

Officials felt the United States might be accused of exerting influence in the drafting of the legal report if it expressed an informal opinion on the contents of the latter before it was adopted.

VESSEL AFIRE AT SEA

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—With her engine room and decks afire, the freighter Pacific Shipper, sent out a distress call today, requesting immediate assistance.

She gave her position as 43.10 north and 124.40 west, which would put her about 15 miles west of Cape Gregory on the Oregon coast.

All vessels were requested to stand by, according to the first distress call picked up by the Radio Corporation of America here.

Information received from the Merchants Exchange stated that the freighter Charles L. Wheeler was standing by to aid the crew of the flaming vessel.

Delay 1,000 Tax Sales at Altoona

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 6.—The sale of 1,000 properties for taxes in Blair County, scheduled for this morning, was postponed until May 6 by Judge Marion D. Patterson. It has been suggested by a former County Solicitor that when the properties are offered for sale no one bid on them.

kansas, then chairman of the Lobby Investigating Committee.

It contained a statement by S. S. Eveland that he believed Senator Davis (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, was "receiving money from Dahlberg (B. G. Dahlberg, president of the Celotex Company and other concerns) for favors which he (Davis) was rendering particularly during the tariff fight here."

The letter said:

"Eveland is of the opinion that many thousands of dollars were paid by Dahlberg to Davis."

The lobby committee later investigated the case, but made no final report to the Senate.

During the investigation it was found that Senator Watson (Rep.), of Indiana, and Davis each held stock in Dahlberg's companies for which they had given notes, but put up no cash.

Holding a derby and cane in right hand as he sat facing his inquisitors, Barry insisted the purpose of his article was to "proclaim the integrity of Congress as a whole," but asserted it was "a fair inference that there are some men subject at least to influence."

STANDS BY CHARGE

Senator Schuyler (Rep.), of Colorado, inquired:

"Do you believe there are any Senators or Representatives who have or do sell their votes?"

Barry said:

"I'm bound to believe so when I read the statements of Senators Nye and Glass."

"Aside from that have you any knowledge of any Senator or Representative who has sold his vote."

"I have not."

The committee ordered him to return tomorrow morning with an original copy of his article and correspondence relating to it with the magazine, The New Outlook. The magazine is edited by Alfred E. Smith.

He also was asked to submit the name of a local college student, who he said told him his professor taught that members of Congress were crooked. The committee agreed to call the professor tomorrow, if he could be located.

BAHAMAS GREET ROOSEVELT

NASSAU, Bahama Islands, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Vincent Astor's yacht Nourmahal, bearing President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt and party on a 10 days' cruise, arrived this morning.

Astor and Kermit Roosevelt came ashore, but Mr. Roosevelt remained aboard ship.

Island administration officials paid a formal call upon the President-elect. The Nourmahal will leave this afternoon on a fishing tour of the islands.

Rules Congressman Vote Expense Illegal

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Judge Henry Houck today ruled that G. F. Brumm, of Minersville, Representative in Congress, had incurred illegal election expenses in 1930. He ordered the findings sent to Gov. Pinchot for transmittal to the Speaker of the House in Washington.

TAGS IGNORED, FEW PAY FINES

More than half the motorists receiving "non-fixable" traffic tags last month have ignored them and will receive summonses to appear before Magistrate J. Scott Morgan, he announced today.

Of 414 motorists biven hearings, all but 23 were discharged, according to the records for January 4 to January 31. Twenty-one persons appearing on serious offense tags were found not guilty, two were fined and five were held over.

With 4,980 new tags issued during the period, the city has received $1,698, as compared with $2,306.25 for the same period last year, according to J. H. Tritschler, in charge of the tag auditing in the City Controller's office.

Magistrate Morgan said he had discharged many of the offenders because it was their first tag under the new system. In the future he will not be so lenient, he warned.

S. Kirschler Dies, Was Realty Dealer

Simon Kirschler, 79, for many years a well-known resident of the North Side and a brother of Charles F. Kirschler, a former mayor of old Allegheny, died today. He was in the insurance and real estate business until a year ago.

He leaves his wife, two brothers, Andrew and Charles F. Kirschler, and a sister, Mrs. William Hadfield. Funeral services will be held at the sister's home, 413 Jacksonia street, North Side, Wednesday at 2 p. m.

EXPOSED MONEY BALKS RUN ON BANKS

Cash Held Ready to Pay Depositors in Row With R. F. C.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—With stacks of money in their vaults, New Orleans banks threw open their doors an hour earlier than usual today and invited depositors to withdraw their money if they were excited over rumors of banking difficulties in New Orleans.

An hour after the opening, most of the banks reported receiving more funds in deposits than they were paying out. Normal banking business was reported by all of the banks except the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company, where a line of approximately a hundred persons, mostly women, was stretched before the savings accounts window.

The bank was paying all demands for savings. There was no crowd before the other windows and bankers were satisfied that any fear on the part of bank depositors had been allayed.

Piles of money, paper and silver, were stacked behind the tellers in plain view of the public and tellers were prepared to pay off depositors promptly. Many bank customers came into the lobbies, looked around and walked out without withdrawing any funds, and large numbers of them deposited their accumulation over the week-end.

The situation developed after Rudolph S. Hecht, president of the Hibernia bank, announced a run by mail and telegraph from out-of-town depositors had been started against his bank as a result of an attack on Hecht by Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep.), of New York, before a House committee in Washington. Hecht said the attack was based on a misunderstanding about loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the closed Union Indemnity Company of New Orleans.

The run reached such proportions that all banks in New Orleans closed Saturday under a proclamation of Gov. O. K. Allen to give the Hibernia time to ride out the run.

On Sunday the Hibernia bank obtained a loan of $20,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and added another $4,000,000 of fresh money to their supply in the vaults, and announced they were ready to pay 100 per cent to all depositors if they wished to withdraw their accounts. Officials of the Hibernia said they would remain open after the regular 3 p. m. closing time today to pay off any customers who might appear.

QUIZ SUSPECT IN LINDY CASE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Handwriting of William Dathe, held by immigration authorities investigating his alien status and a possible kidnaping charge from Germany, today was ordered compared with that of the Lindbergh kidnap note.

A striking similarity was said by authorities to exist.

Dathe was arrested here when he applied for charity funds accompanied by a 6-year-old girl, Hedwig, who speaks four languages. His first story was that he picked the girl up in the East. She, however, told a childish account of being kidnaped in Hamburg. Later, he said the girl was his daughter, but the German Consul today said that advices from Hamburg indicated the girl had been abducted there.

LIBERALS QUIT MACDONALD

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A declaration of independence from the "National" government by the Parliamentary Liberal party was voiced today by its leader, Sir Herbert Samuel, at a luncheon given in his honor by the party whips.

Sir Herbert did not indicate that his Liberal group would cross the House of Commons to the opposition side in what he characterized as "the rubber stamp Parliament," but he declared:

"The Liberal party is under no obligation to support the national government as it is now constituted, with its policy as now declared. The Liberal party is free and independent."

He objected particularly to the government's protectionist policy, asserting that the British tariffs "have been an utter failure."

Pomerene Expected To Quit R.F.C. Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Atlee Pomerene, who has headed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since the retirement of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, is expected to retire soon after the change in administrations on March 4.

Powerene, given a recess appointment by President Hoover, is nettled by the failure of his fellow Democrats to confirm his appointment. It is known that President-elect Roosevelt has plans for a sweeping reorganization of the R. F. C.

Prussian Diet Dissolved By Von Papen Move

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—The Prussian Diet, which defied Chancellor Adolf Hitler by refusing to vote itself out of office, was dissolved at 6:40 p. m. tonight by virtue of a presidential decree placing almost unlimited powers in the hands of Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The decree enabled von Papen, who is federal commissar for Prussia, to supplant Dr. Otto Braun, Socialist member of the Diet's steering committee, who on Saturday held out against dissolution.

After 90 minutes of debate, the committee voted, 2 to 1, for dissolution, thus overruling the wishes of the Diet itself, which signalized its desire to remain in office by throwing out a Nazi dissolution measure on Saturday.

Braun, former Premier of Prussia, announced he would file suit in the Supreme Court at Leipzig tomorrow to test the validity of the committee's action. A decision is expected this week.

Braun attempted to see President von Hindenburg personally to protest against the decree installing Von Papen as a committee member, but the Chief Executive refused to receive him.

Nazi Killed, 6 Hurt In Funeral Attack

DUISBURG, Germany, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Rifle shots and hand grenades, which were fired or hurled from an abandoned factory building into a Nazi funeral procession, killed one Nazi and injured six today.

Police wearing steel helmets and carrying carbines stormed the factory, but the results of the raid were not immediately determined.

LINDSAY GIVES DEBT VIEWS OF ROOSEVELT

International News Service.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The official attitude of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt toward Britain's demand for revision of her war debt to the United States was laid before the British cabinet today by Sir Ronald Lindsy, British ambassador to Washington.

Taken off the liner Europa, held in the outer harbor of Southampton by fog, aboard a special tender and rushed to London with all speed, Sir Ronald talked with Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, at the Foreign Office and then proceeded to 10 Downing street.

Members of the cabinet's "debt committee" were awaiting for him. Sir Ronald promptly gave his hearers a resume of the conversation he had with President-elect Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Va.

The Prime Minister greeted him and he went into conference immediately with the "big five" of the cabinet—Mr. MacDonald, Sir John, Neville Chamberlain, Stanley Baldwin and Walter Runciman.

Working on Memoirs, Bullitt Declares

VIENNA, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—William C. Bullitt, one-time emissary of President Woodrow Wilson, today denied emphatically that he is sounding out heads of European governments in connection with war debt settlements on behalf of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt. He declared:

"I am living and traveling as a private citizen."

He has conversed with Premier McDonald, of Great Britain; former Premier Paul-Boncour, of France; Chancellor Dollfuss, of Austria, and other statesmen. He added:

"All I am doing is working on my memoirs. Ninety per cent of the reports published in the American press are untrue."

G.O.P. LAUNCHES 'COMEBACK'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A national Republican league, headed by Vice President Curtis, has been formed to attempt restoring the G. O. P. from the tremendous drubbing the voters gave it last November.

The new organization, announced last night by John A. Campbell, of White Plains, N. Y., who will be its director, is designed to carry on a vigorous campaign for a comeback not only in the 1936 presidential election, but in next year's congressional races also.

It is professedly neither for nor against the interests of any one candidate. What has been disclosed of its makeup so far is strictly regular Republican.

Under Curtis as chairman, three vice chairmen have been named: Senators Felix Hebert, of Rhode Island, and Daniel O. Hastings, of Delaware, and former Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut.

This move is the first rebuilding step in the party since election, but a general reorganization has been looked for by many in the party to come some time after March 4.

What part Mr. Hoover is to play in the direction of the Republican party of the future is one of the fundamental questions to be settled. The machine as it stands is largely his, but whether it could remain so if he wished to retain control and point for renomination in 1936 has yet to be shown.

Shaw Eclipsed By Siam's Prince

BANGKOK, Siam, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—George Bernard Shaw, usually the center of the stage at ports touched by the world-cruising Empress of Britain, lost the spotlight yesterday when the liner reached Baknam, port of Bangkok. Crowds of loyal Siamese were in evidence at the quay, but they had never heard of G. B. S.

They were there to shout godspeed to his highness, Prince Curbhatra, brother of King Prajadhipok, who is proceeding to Manila in the world-touring steamship.

Farmers Battle Move To Upset $1.18 Sale

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Three members of the Farmers Protective Association, who bought John Hanzel's personal property for $1.18 at a sheriff's sale, today filed an answer with the Bucks County Court asking it to set aside the petition of Sheriff Horace E. Gwinner that the sale be declared illegal because of "coercive and intimidating methods" exercised by the Farmers Protective Association.

The three petitioners, Peter Kodas, Paul Gross and John Nidney, who leased the property back to the Bedminster Township farmer at a rental of $1 for 99 years, asked the court to grant them a trial before a judge and jury in the event their petition is denied.

It was charged in their petition, prepared by Attorney David Levinson, of Philadelphia, that Sheriff Gwinner failed to file a sworn statement in connection with his petition asking that the sale be held invalid.

They asserted further that Attorney Webster S. Achey, counsel for the holder for a judgment against Hanzel, himself bought some of the farm aparatus for 25 cents at the sale.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Taking cognizance of appeals for persons to refrain from bidding, Herbert S. Bolgar, Blair County Treasurer, today postponed until May 6, the proposed sale of 1,000 Blair County properties for non-payment of 1930 taxes.

Sleep-Disturbing Cat Chopped Out of Trap

A post under a porch may not seem a desirable place to spend a week-end, especially in this weather, but Blackie, a supposedly intelligent cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Squire Howe, of 1022 LaClair avenue, tried to hibernate in one recently. Apparently dissatisfied with conditions at home, Blackie went off to hunt new lodgings on Friday afternoon, without mentioning the fact to Mrs. Howe.

When Blackie didn't come home Friday night, Mrs. Howe began to worry. On Saturday a newsboy told her that he thought Blackie had moved into a post under the porch of a house on Milton avenue, as some cat had kept the inhabitants of that house up all night by its meowings. Mrs. Howe hurried over to the house and peered down the post. Blackie couldn't be seen, but she recognized his howlings and let down a blanket to help him out. It was of no use because Blackie had become wedged in between two joists.

Mrs. Howe then called up the police and they chopped a hole in the post and lifted out Blackie, who was too weak to move. Mr. and Mrs. Howe then paid the owners of the house for Blackie's room rent and the damage incurred in removing him.

AMATEUR CRIMINALS SOUGHT IN KIDNAPING OF DEAN'S WIFE

RANSOM NOTE ASKS $10,000 FOR LIBERTY

Son, Victim of Hoax, Finds Message On Door

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Five hundred policemen today were hunting what they believed to be amateur students of crime in connection with the kidnaping last night of 65-year-old Mary B. Skeele, wife of the dean of music of the University of Southern California.

A portable typewriter, evidently in poor condition, was used in framing a ransom note, completed with words cut from university publications, that was pinned on the door of her residence after she was lured away from home here last night.

The note demanded that $10,000 be paid tonight.

It gave detailed instructions for Dr. Skeele to leave the $10,000 on Montecito drive, at the top of the hill, and declared Mrs. Skeele would be held 24 hours to see if the instructions were carried out.

BOGUS WARNING

The woman telephoned her son, Franklin, an advertising man, last night that she had just received a telephone call to rush to the hospital where her husband was reported seriously injured. Franklin Skeele went to the hospital and finding the report false, rushed home to find the note pinned on the door and his mother missing.

On the envelope the following printed words, clipped from a periodical, were pasted:

"If there ever was a time to be careful.

"It is now. Otherwise."

The enclosed note read as follows:

No tricks.

"After due consideration and planning, we have decided to adopt your wife until such time as you see fit to release her or take her in payment for the bill.

"We feel that it is not a great hardship to you and that is the reason we are taking this means of getting the money. You no doubt consider that your wife is worth more, but to us she is just another one, and although we want the money, we can easily get rid of her. So if the money is not forthcoming we will feel that she is not worth much. . . .

ORDERS GIVEN

"So if you want her back please see that you do as instructed. You know others have tried to be slick, and let the officers know, but they have always paid off in flowers afterwards.

"So use your good judgment and see we know our business. It is strictly up to you.

"Ten thousand dollars in cash for the wife pays the bill. This money must not be marked or serials taken: the police or any other persons must not be notified. . . .

"Be very careful, as all will be OK, otherwise KO."

FLAMES SWEEP CONEY AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Fire, persistent plague of Coney Island, struck again today at the famous seashore resort, riding along the boardwalk on a biting southwest gale and destroying several amusement places.

In the bleak hush two hours before dawn and with thermometers registering 12 above zero, fire spurted from the wooden and papier mache "Tunnel of Love" in that section of the amusement place known as "The Bowery."

A great part of the Brooklyn fire apparatus was called out. The raw wind of one of the season's coldest nights wrestled with the streams of water from the hose, often tossing them back in broken spray upon the hosemen who soon were coated with ice.

An accurate estimate of the damage was not immediately obtainable. A police officer at the temporary headquarters established within the fire lines placed the estimate at $100,000.

THYRA SAMTER WINSLOW . . . HER 'EXTRAVAGANCE' COSTLY

Mrs. Winslow, the writer, who fed 26 guests in her New York home a "depression dinner" at which she tried to outdo Mrs. Gifford Pinchot's 5½-cents-per-guest dinner for Mrs. Roosevelt. Careful though she was, Mrs. Winslow reports, her dinner cost 29 cents.

CAPT. MOLLISON REACHES SPAIN

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—J. A. Mollison, who set out this morning from England for a flight to South America, arrived here late this afternoon and said he would remain only an hour. The weather on the way over was bad.

Capt. Mollison, husband of the famous British aviatrix, Amy Johnson Mollison, made the only westward solo crossing of the North Atlantic last August. He formerly held the England-South Africa and England-Australia speed records, losing the former to his wife last November.

CRANWELL, England, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—In an attempt to create a new world record for a long distance, non-stop flight, a Royal Air Force long-range monoplane piloted by Squadron Leader O. R. Gayford and Flight Lieut. G. E. Nicholetts took off at 7:15 a. m. (2:15 a. m. Pittsburgh time) for South Africa.

Cape Town is 6,198 miles from this Lincolnshire town. To beat the present non-stop record of 5,012 miles, made by the Americans, Russell Boardman and John Polando, on a New York-Istanbull flight, the British pair must reach the vicinity of Zesfontein in British Southwest Africa.

BOY'S SLED RIDE SAVES 9 IN FIRE

EAST CONCORD, Vt., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—"Who was this feller Paul Revere?"

So asked 13-year-old John Boutwell today, as he received the plaudits of his playmates, while the older folks in the village considered recommending him for a Carnegie medal.

Using a sled for a steed, and clad only in a nightgown, and with the temperature at 10 above, John coasted a mile and a half down a steep hill, carrying the news that his home was afire and his parents, brother and sisters were inside.

He escaped from the house by leaping from his second-story bedroom window—through the glass. He received several cuts, but the snow broke his fall.

When he reached the bottom of the hill, he ran 100 yards in his bare feet and hammered on the door of Sheriff Thomas McDonald.

When the firemen, sheriff and John reached the house, John found that his older sister, Edna, 15, had proved herself a heroine. She had already carried five younger children to safety, and although her hair was burned, she was still trying bravely to rescue her mother, father and another brother, trapped on the second floor.

A ladder was put up and Mr. and Mrs. Boutwell and their son saved.

Snow Sweeper, 70, Collapses, Dies As Job Ends

A man who was earning dimes and quarters sweeping snow from porches and sidewalks today, collapsed after completing his task at the home of Mrs. G. F. Ritenbaugh, 1202 Denniston avenue, and was pronounced dead at Pittsburgh Hospital. Papers in his pockets, including a county tax receipt, identified him as Samuel Bossler, 70, a lodger at 204 Anderson avenue, North Side.

Mrs. Ritenbaugh gave the man 25 cents and asked him if he was hungry when he finished his job. He said he was not, but asked permission to warm himself in the basement. He fell as he left the house and police took him to the hospital, where it was said he apparently suffered a heart attack.

Pair Dead Hand-in-Hand In Auto, Pact Hinted

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Authorities today sought an explanation for the deaths of Mrs. Rosemary Wallin, 18, and Bernard Kinney, 21, both members of wealthy and socially prominent families, whose bodies were found in Kinney's automobile.

They had died of asphyxiation, their hands interlocked. The bodies were partly frozen when discovered in the automobile on the Omaha Field Club grounds yesterday. A length of metal tubing was attached to the muffler and protruding through the board floor into the automobile.

Mrs. Wallin's father is Eugene McAuliffe, executive of the Union Pacific Railroad. She eloped last July with Eugene H. Wallin, 18, of Omaha, but they had separated and the young husband enrolled at Iowa State College.

Police were undecided whether the couple had carried out a suicide pact.

'NICKEL DINNER' COSTS WRITER 29 CENTS

Thyra Winslow Trying Pinchot Plan, Balked By Soupbone

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—In case you palpitate to know what put Thyra Samter Winslow's depression dinner in the red, it was the black bean soup.

—And several cups of java.

To Miss Winslow, who besides being a writer is what she laughingly admits to be a "swell cook, you know," there came last Wednesday an item of news that aroused her culinary pugnacity.

Gov. and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, had given a dinner to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and 49 others at a cost of 5.5 cents a guest. This was what they ate and liked it: Black bean soup, sticks of cornbread, cabbage rolls stuffed with salmon and rice, breadsticks of whole wheat flour, hamburger steak in white cornmeal shells, spinach and a salad made of apples and oranges.

SOUPBONE TRAGEDY

"Can do it, too. One good cook is as good as another and maybe a whole lot better."

But her ambition was drowned in the black bean soup. She explained:

"The bone meant that I had to have a pound of salt pork, 24 cents over and above the cost of Mrs. Pinchot's soup."

BARGAINS SCARCE

Besides, she had difficulty finding bargains quite as good as Mrs. Pinchot. She said:

"And then my guests expected certain things that I had to give them. Coffee, for instance. There wasn't any coffee on the Pennsylvania menu. A half pound cost me 14 cents, with 20 cents extra for cream. I did the best I could. It was the cheapest dinner I ever served."

Part of the 29 cents, according to a rumor leaking from the Winslow kitchen, was squandered because Miss Winslow's artistic soul couldn't bear to see a salad go forth into the world without lettuce or dressing. Lettuce cost her a quarter and olive oil 15 cents. Even Miss Winslow's tremendous triumph in oranges (they cost her 30 cents against Mrs. Pinchot's 36) couldn't make up for that.

NUDIST CHIEF'S OUSTER HELD UP

HALIFAX, Feb. 6.—(Universal.)—"Saint" Peter Verigin, dramatically saved from deportation to Russia by a writ of habeas corpus, which snatched him from the liner Montcalm just as the ship was weighing anchor for Europe, prepared today to wage a stiff legal fight to remain in Canada.

The leader of the nudist religious sect of the Douhkobors conferred yesterday with his attorney, Peter G. Makaroff, and the two other followers who temporarily saved him from deportation after a frantic plane dash from Winnipeg.

Verigin is to be given a hearing on the habeas corpus writ tomorrow, when his counsel will stress the claim that the religious leader's deportation to Russia would amount to a death sentence, as he probably would be executed by the Soviet.

COURT ORDERS ALOHA HELD

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Aloha Wanderwell, widow and chief state witness in the prosecution of Walter J. Guy for the mystery killing of her husband, Walter Wanderwell, appeared in court 15 minutes late today.

While officers were leaving the courtroom to search for her, she strolled in and apologized for being tardy.

The Judge ordered her into custody to be held until completion of the case, and the trial went on.

Through her testimony the widow has submitted:

That Guy attempted to lead a mutiny of a Wanderwell expedition aboard a French liner off the coast of Panama in 1931.

That Guy was put ashore, but before leaving ship signed and delivered to Wanderwell a paper "absolving Wanderwell of all responsibility."

That this paper, always carried by Wanderwell on his person, was missing when the body was searched.

Congregation Flees Flames in Church

SANDY LAKE, Pa., Feb. 6.—A hundred members of the First Methodist Church ran out on their pastor yesterday. As the Rev. Milo Mook was announcing the first hymn a cry of fire caused the congregation to rush out into the cold. Volunteer firemen extinguished the fire which started from an overheated flue.

HOLY YEAR TRIP BY POPE HINTED

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—High church prelates close to the Pope say he is likely to make a trip to the Basilica of St. John Lateran in Rome sometime during the holy year beginning April 1, to bless the crowd from the balcony.

Confirmation of these plans is lacking until Pope Pius definitely decides and fixes the date.

It was pointed out that such a trip could correspond to the traditional Corpus Domini Day procession outside St. Peter's, but whether this procession will be extended from St. Peter's square to St. John's is undecided.

It was suggested that as a part of the holy year ceremonies the Pope also might make his first trip on the newly-built Vatican City Railroad, riding a short distance outside the walls of the Vatican. However the prelates were unwilling to predict the railroad trip. At any rate they said such an innovation would be unlikely to have any connection with the Corpus Domini ceremonies.

It is believed the couple will undergo another examination by alienists of the State Lunacy Commission before Gov. Lehman passes on their requests for executive clemency.

LEAP OF DEATH LAID TO GIRL'S JEALOUSY

Jobless Stenographer Plunges From Room Of Auto Man's Son

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A fit of jealousy was believed by investigators, they said today, to have prompted Miss Vera Hayburn, 25-year-old unemployed stenographer, to leap to her death from the thirty-third floor of the Medinah Athletic Club Building after a visit to a night club with Albert Russell Erskine, Jr., 24, adopted son of the president of the Studebaker Corporation, motor car manufacturer.

ERSKINE'S STORY

Erskine told police Miss Hayburn had been his companion at the Chez Paree night club Saturday evening. After the festivities he said he had placed her in a taxi, presumably bound for her home, and that he then spent the night at the home of a friend, A. G. Atwater, son of a wealthy manufacturing executive and brother-in-law of Philip K. Wrigley, official of the Wrigley Chewing Gum Company.

Erskine was not held. His story was corroborated by Atwater, who was among the friends who accompanied him to the night rendezvous.

Lieut. Patrick B. O'Connell, who conducted the investigation, said Erskine's recount of a misunderstanding which arose at the night club when Miss Hayburn resented his attentions to another girl in the party, offered a plausible solution to the affair.

POLICE THEORY

Lieut. O'Connell expressed the opinion that the girl had gone to Erskine's apartment to demand an explanation of what she considered an affront and that, not finding him there, she became morose and leaped to her death.

An elevator operator at the Medinah Club said he had taken her to the floor on which Erskine's apartment is located about 3:30 Sunday morning.

Erskine said he had several dances at the club with Miss Gladys Stewart, adding:

"Vera didn't seem to like it when I danced with Gladys. We danced and looked at the show until about 3 o'clock and then decided to leave."

SLAYS JEALOUS HUSBAND

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 6.—Pretty Mrs. Anna Mae McNeil, 30, blonde and mother of two, today was formally charged with the murder of her husband, Harold, 34, as the aftermath of a liquor party in their suburban home early yesterday. She was committed to the County Jail, but is expected to seek her release on bond, to attend the funeral of her husband tomorrow.

Mrs. McNeil told police when they took her in custody yesterday that she had shot her husband after he had called her a vile name and had beaten her because she said she had danced with men to whom her husband had objected. The shooting occurred after the party had broken up and while the couple were preparing for bed.

J. Lee McNeil, 3-year-old son of the McNeils, was a witness to the shooting. At Mrs. McNeil's request the youngster accompanied his mother to her cell in County Jail here. A daughter, Betty, 6, has been visiting Mrs. McNeil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jones, of Martins Ferry, O.

Death of Bride, Man Held Murder, Suicide

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Murder and suicide was the verdict given by the Coroner in the death of Mrs. Frank O'Neal, 31-year-old Commerce Department employe and bride of six months, and her husband, whose bodies were found in their apartment early Sunday after a night of merry-making.

O'Neal's body was found by Mrs. Joseph Wilson, sister of the woman, slumped across that of his wife, who apparently was shot while she slept.

TOLL BRIDGE BILL STRIKES SNAG

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 6.—The Mansfield Bill, permitting the Board of Commissioners of Allegheny County impose tolls on bridges hereafter to be constructed, may be sent back to committee when it comes up for final passage in the Senate tonight.

The bill is the outgrowth of discussion among the Commissioners, in which Chairman Charles C. McGovern and Commissioner C. M. Barr desired that tolls be authorized on all bridges. This Mansfield declined to do, but agreed that tolls might be charged on new high level bridges from Homestead over the Monongahela and from Aspinwall to Highland Park should their construction be voted.

FAIRNESS QUESTIONED

Senator James J. Coyne may attempt to send the bill back to committee. The Senator today said it would be unfair to penalize the people of only two sections of the county for tolls while leaving the other bridges free. He doubted the economy of the move, pointing out that motorists would use alternatives bridges if the tolls were made large enough to return any substantial revenue.

Tolls, he said, should be collected on all bridge or none, explaining that the people of Homestead and Aspinwall and territory served by the two proposed bridges had through tax money paid their share of construction and maintenance of bridges in other parts of the county. To penalize these sections alone would create a special penalty.

Meanwhile Republican state organization leaders are to receive reports from Senators to determine the fate of the Prince-Chapman primary repealer.

The bill has passed second reading and was referred to committee pending reports on sentiment towards the measure from the various parts of the state.

James M. Hazlett, Philadelphia Republican chairman, is reported in Atlantic City conferring with William S. Vare, Republican leader of Philadelphia, to ascertain his views on the bill.

Entering its sixth week, the House of Representatives prepared to dispose of liberal Sunday observance legislation and begin consideration of prohibition enforcement repeal bills.

ACT ON SUNDAY SPORTS

Economy, unemployment relief and investigation of the cost of rural roads also are to come before the General Assembly.

The Schwartz measure, permitting Sunday afternoon sports and amusements, except boxing and wrestling, is expected to come to a final vote tomorrow morning.

Supporters of a liberal Sunday predict early passage in the House for the Schwartz bill, but express doubt about its fate in the Senate.

The House Law and Order Committee, which reported favorably on the bill, is to hold a public hearing tomorrow on measures repealing the Snyder-Armstrong prohibition enforcement act.

Pastor-Legislator Plans Bond Curb

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 6.—Before leaving today for Harrisburg to attend the State Legislature, the Rev. H. M. Stevenson, Mercer County Assemblyman, said he planned to introduce a bill which would allow only property owners to vote on bond issues.

plan for boroughs, such as Mt. Lebanon and Homestead.

In a four-page letter, the Senator took each demand of the Citizens' Committee, made to him last Friday, and made separate answer. His letter in part follows:

"You intimate in your letter that I am interfering in some manner with the public schools of the City of Pittsburgh. In answer I wish to say that no act of mine can be justly construed as being against the public school system.

"I do believe that the citizens of Pittsburgh are as competent to choose the members of their school board as are the people of the other municipalities in Allegheny County. I further believe that the school boards of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia are the only tax-levying bodies in the United States not elected by the people. I wonder if all these other communities are wrong and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia only right . . .

OPPOSES WASTE

"I say emphatically and in all sincerity that at no time have I opposed our present school system, but I am opposed as a taxpayer and a public official to extravagance and waste on the part of any public official, and particularly so at this time, when thousands of our citizens are losing their homes under the hammer of the Sheriff . . . the hammer of the Sheriff. And I venture the assertion that the Pittsburgh Board of Public Education is the only tax-levying body in the United States that has refused to recognize the desperate plight of home owners and business men.

CRITICIZES HIGH COSTS

"It is true that I have criticized what I considered outrageous executive salaries and overhead expenses, and particularly the money paid to the consulting engineer. And my criticism in these respects has been sustained by the findings of the committee appointed by the president of the School Board.

"It was reported to the committee, of which I am chairman, that the school board had a surplus of $1,102,110.11, together with a fund of $900,000 carried by the board as insurance protection. This makes a total of more than $2,000,000 which the school board could have used to relieve the taxpayer in this critical period. That others think as I do is evidenced by the fact that a body of taxpayers composed of prominent businessmen of this community has filed a bill in equity with a view to having the millage on school taxes reduced.

"I have no fault to find with the school teachers. I appreciate the responsibility of their position. I have never felt that they were at fault for the high cost of maintaining our schools . . .

RAPS VOTING MACHINES

As to my position in reference to election laws, I sought by a public utterance only 10 days ago to make myself clear to the people of this community. My record in the Legislature, both in the House and the Senate, sufficiently attests my sincerity in strengthening our election laws, and I propose to continue to support legislation which will guard against fraud and election cheating. I do not, however, propose to allow myself to be used by any individual who poses as an election reformer in passing bills which add only to the burden of the taxpayer without improving conditions.

"Among other measures that I have supported, with a view to safeguarding elections, was the act providing for voting machines in Allegheny County, and I now realize that it was a sad mistake . . .

"You ask that I support Senator Mansfield's bill for the abolition of the county delinquent tax office . . .

"Whether the abolition of this office or its continued operation on a fee system is best for the public interest is a matter of opinion, and it is my opinion that the fee system is the best. Believing that the best interest of the public is served by a continuation of the fee system, I introduced a bill in the Senate to reduce the fees of the collector, and will give earnest support to this bill. Experience teaches that the fee system is an incentive to the collection of taxes, and that where taxes are collected on a salary basis the public suffer by reason of a lesser amount of taxes being collected . . .

"Stop and think of our three third-class cities, 66 separate boroughs and 53 townships and deputies in these various divisions all on salaries and each furnishing their bond or the public furnishing bonds for them. I ask you on what theory you contend that the Mansfield bill is better than the fee system.

WON'T WITHDRAW BILL

"Your request that I withdraw my bill for a change in the Allegheny County salary board will not be complied with. It seems to me that your committee is prejudiced on this question, and I do not believe it is good for the people or that it is the intention of the law to give control of the offices of the elected county officials to the three County Commissioners...

"You ask that I cease my opposition to the Harris bill for a city manager plan of government for the city of Pittsburgh. Whether or not this bill is good for the people is a debatable question. Under its provisions Council would be in complete power of the city government. They would elect the manager, who would be under their influence and control.

"Under the existing system, the Mayor has a veto power over the acts of Council. It is a check upon the rule of one body, and is in accord with the fundamental principles of the American government. Under the city manager plan Council would be in absolute control . . .

"The experience of our neighboring city of Cleveland should be a warning as to the dangers that lurk in the manager plan. After a fair trial, the plan was discarded and the people gladly returned to the old system...

"Many people in criticizing existing forms of government and advocating changed systems seem to forget that the fault does not lie so much with the form of government which they criticize as with the shortcomings and weaknesses of the individuals who compromise that government. When human nature is perfect, forms of government will be immaterial..."

Joseph Dilworth, chairman of the Citizens Committee, today declined to make any answer to Senator Coyne's statement until after the committee has an opportunity to study it. He would not say definitely when the committee will meet again.

JUDGE WARNS OF REVIVAL OF COAL POLICE

A bill in the Legislature providing for employment of private police by Pennsylvania State College drew the fire of Judge M. A. Musmanno, of the County Court, today as an "opening wedge" to bring back the condemned coal and iron police system and as a setback to the cause of independent thinking in the college.

The Judge, long a foe of the coal and iron police and champion of free speech, saw in the measure an invitation to other institutions to set up their own police systems. In a letter to the Judge, Burgess Eugene H. Lederer, of State College, Pa., said the borough officials were at a loss to account for such a proposal because there has been full cooperation between borough and college officials.

Judge Musmanno said:

"If this bill is enacted into law, it will put to naught all the argument which has been so strenuously advanced against the sale of the sovereign police power of the state. In the second place, I can conceive of no more perilous setback to the cause of independent thinking in the college than the ubiquitous presence of police officers on the campus—officers selected, appointed and paid for by the college authorities.

"We have already experienced methods employed in some colleges to throttle free discussion on the part of the students concerning current problems. We have already observed that there have been occasions when students have been arrested and imprisoned because of innocuous gatherings to protect what they deemed protestable."

The bill was introduced by Senator Scott, of Philipsburg, and has been passed by the Senate.

LEWIS IN TILT WITH HIGHWAY PROBERS

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 6.—Subjected to another barrage of questions by the joint legislative investigating committee, Sam S. Lewis, Secretary of Highways, pleaded today after an hour's grilling that the queries might get him "in a jam."

Representative Morton Witkin, Philadelphia, a member of the group which is studying the administration rural road program, had just fired a question when Lewis begged off. Witkin declared he resented the secretary's inference that the committee wanted to get him "in a jam."

"If you're in a jam I didn't put you there."

The exchange between Witkin and Lewis came when the former was attempting to develop that allocation of federal funds had been made to the counties on the ratio of unimproved roads instead of on the basis of unemployment.

EXPLAINS ALLOCATIONS

Lewis had told the committee that such allocations were made by the State Emergency Relief Board.

Witkin read the allocations made by the board in December to several counties. He contrasted Bradford County, with 2,780 unemployed, getting $225,000, while in Allegheny the unemployed totaled 177,585 and the sum allotted was $122,200. He showed that the per capita allocation for Bradford was $81.15 and in Allegheny only 68 cents.

Senator Fred T. Gelder, Susquehanna, chairman of the committee, read a letter from a Bucks County citizen who charged that so many men are employed on some projects that "they get in each other's way." Gelder said he constantly was receiving such complaints.

Lewis admitted that many similar letters came to his department and that each was forwarded to the field forces for investigation. He explained that in addition to the highway field forces, various relief agencies sent men to the road projects.

When more men are on a project than are needed, Secretary Lewis said, the highway field forces are sent home.

FIGHTS ROAD BUILDING

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A moratorium on new road construction, with motor vehicle tax funds diverted to unemployment relief, is urged by Grover C. Talbot, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Asserting that Pennsylvania now has a road system "second to none in the country," Talbot declared the Highway Department should be given sufficient funds to maintain the system as it is and that the balance of the motor fund should be returned to the counties. He said:

"After all, it is the people who make this huge fund possible, and they should be entitled to some consideration in times of stress."

Fatal French Liner Fire Laid to Arson

PARIS, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The newspaper Le Nation said today that arson seems to be the only explanation for the burning of the steamer L'Atlantique, which was destroyed by fire in the English Channel on January 4 with the loss of a number of lives.

The report of the investigating committee has been turned over to the public prosecutor of Bordeaux with a view to criminal inquiry, the newspaper said.

It cleans off all stains and tartar, and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling—many shades whiter.

Dr. Lyon's is the only dentifrice old enough to prove it can be safely used for life. Free from all grit or pumice, it cannot possibly scratch, or injure the softest enamel, as years of constant use have shown.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth REALLY CLEAN and clean teeth mean—firm, healthy gums, freedom from pyorrhea and the least possible tooth decay.

RELIGIOUS WAR IN TURKEY

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A religious uprising in the holy city of Broussa, for which more than 60 priests and ringleaders faced possible death today, was believed part of a widespread reactionary plot against the modern Laicized Turkish government.

The plan was to pit the government headed by President Mustapha Kemal at Angora, the new capital, against its Asiatic rival, little Broussa, the first capital of the Turkish empire, which took up the defense of Allah's name, refusing to change it to the Turkish form "Tanri."

The uprising in ancient Broussa developed when a mosque muezzin, or crier, called the faithful to prayer in Turkish, as ordered by President Kemal, instead of in the traditional Arabic. Orthodox citizens attacked him and then they turned upon government officials who tried to save the muezzin.

Police quelled the riot. Arrests, totaling more than 60, continued today and an investigation of possible similar plots here was being conducted by Istanbul police.

Garbage Collectors Shocked by Wires

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Three housewives who attached electric wires to garbage cans to keep away dogs have succeeded in keeping away the garbage collectors, too. H. F. McElroy, city manager, said he had received reports of city workmen experiencing electrical shocks at the three homes and had ordered collections there to be discontinued indefinitely.

Famous Jumping Frogs Face Platter

ANGELS CAMP, Cal., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Jumping frogs of Calaveras County, famous since the days of Mark Twain's buckshot handicap, may be destined for the platter this year instead of athletic fame.

The committee in charge of the annual jumping jubilee admitted as much today. With many sighs and headshakings, it was generally agreed the financial prospects for a 1933 renewal of the amphibian games were not bright.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.—The Florists Telegraph Delivery Ass'n holds its annual while the National Flower Show is on . . . They say you've done more to popularize orchids than Peggy Joyce and Follies girls—so to show their appreciation—they will send anyone orchids (by wire during the week) that you want to toss them at . . . The F. T. D. in fewer words will wire them to any worthy citizen anywhere a paper prints your stuff—and all they want is your permission. I said yes . . . Josefsberg just phoned. Said that prosperity has been found —and it is being brought back . . . on a stretcher.

The new subway called the other day and asked that photographers and reporters come to report on the first trial train to run from Chambers street to Jay street, Brooklyn. . .When the press came they were allowed to snapshot matters, but not until after each reporter and photographer had paid a nickel fare each! . . . You certainly bungled that one up about Dr. Samuel Kaufman of Medical Center. I distinctly told you his nurse was secretly married—I didn't say the doctor was the groom. He's been happily married 25 years. . . He is very nice about it at any rate, and wishes you would untangle the item like a good little boy.

A man called to thank you for that item about the Bronx jurors not getting paid since December 5. . . He said the checks came in—as a result—and they all want you to be thanked loud . . . Norman Anthony's newest sold 90 per cent on the second issue of 200,000. The first issue sold 85 per cent. Prurry good! . . . The singing waiter has returned to the night life! . . . At Gene Sennett's Hunters Club—except that they are attired in red riding togs, etc. . . I like it there, too. . . . Connie Miles, who has the best of the air voices for children's hours, can't get a break. How about it? . . . Patsy Kelly, of "Flying Colors," and Jack Eby, of the Richman crew, are on the verge of something or other. The musicians there think they're gonna be or mebbe are sealed! . . . Donald Parr, of the Baltimore top hat tribes, and Lona Valen, of the Ziegfeld entries, will wed there within the fortnight. . . Henry Hull got a bum rap. He was stifling drunks at the Poor Richard Club, Philly, and others misunderstood his slap at "certain Philadelphians."

Good idea to run the new "Love Letters" column once every other week, replacing one of the other departments . . . I heard that Congressman La Guardia demanded a copy of your broadcast of two Sabbaths ago. He was recommended to see you about it, but hasn't yet. His office said that they didn't believe he was peeved about anything—as he had always said he liked your trivia . . . However, the only thing he might have objected to—was your line about if we got beer of 3.2 again, it would be the same beer we had before "the world was made safe—for the Republicans!" . . . Heavens! If Congressman La Guardia, a Republican, can't see the quip in that —and his feelings are bruised—what in the world does he think of what the People did to the Repubs at the last election? Which was not intended as a joke even!

You now are a member of the International Itinerant Workers' Union (Hoboes of America to you!) . . . Your number is 801,-242 and a nice letter came from Jeff Davs, "King of the Hoboes," saying they are proud to have you one of them. It's a Life Membership and costs you nothing. They would like you to be with them in Chicago, August 25th anniversary "of real service to America without politics, creed, or somebody's ax to grind" . . . So, hello, Bum! . . . Don't laugh—you're in luck! . . . As a genuine hobo all you need do is show your life membership to panhandlers and you get off without having to dime 'em . . . Reminds me of the grand quip about Shaw . . . The one when Shaw was ankling along a London street and a beggar asked for alms . . . Shaw said: "Press!" and went on.—Your Girl Friday.

Thrill Films In Davis

By MARY SHINE

For those of you who like plenty of action and thrills, with a paprika dash of mystery thrown in, the Davis will prove attractive this week, with its usual double feature. "The Devil is Driving" will make the wind whistle in your ears as you watch auto thieves recklessly drive stolen cars at a breakneck pace to their garage headquarters.

James Gleason, foreman of the garage, takes justice in his hands when his son, played meltingly by big-eyed Dickie Moore, is crippled in a clash with one of the stolen cars. The "big boss" has Gleason murdered, and the crime is cleverly covered, but Edmund Lowe, as the dead man's brother-in-law, proves an excellent Sherlock Holmes.

"Air Hostess" brings you Evalyn Knapp as an air hostess, who marries James Murray, as a death-defying flier with no place to fly unless he finds a backer. And who should the backer be but gorgeous Thelma Todd.

Then ensues a race between his plane and a speeding train hurtling toward a washed out trestle, and on the train is Evalyn. By this time your hair should be standing on end, and to smooth it down again you'll have to see the finish in the Davis.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6.

While the plaudits for "Cavalcade" are still ringing, Winfield Sheehan is quietly preparing another big picture, this time an epic of the great war.

As a groundwork for the film, Fox has purchased a 12-reel French feature called "Croix Des Bois." Scenes for this picture were taken during French military maneuvers on the actual site of the World struggle. No man's land once more becomes a mass of trenches, thousands of troops are disclosed in mock battle.

The war scenes, which are said to be the most sensational ever shown on the screen, follow the adventures of a single squad—actors who were put into uniform and mixed in with real soldiers.

Mr. Walsh

To weave a story into this spectacle, Sheehan has summoned Reginald Berkley, the man who adapted "Cavalcade" for the screen. He will inject love interest and will devise an American angle to the battle saga.

As Hollywood parties will do, this one grew until the guests numbered almost 200. Among them was a certain writer who arrived in a very mellow state. For two hours, he stood on one side, apparently ignoring the excited comments on the new hit. Finally, he came up to a director and tapped him on the shoulder.

"Do you know who I am?" he demanded portenously.

"I am the one person here who had absolutely nothing to do—not even a suggestion—with the success of 'Cavalcade.'"

Because of the recent epidemic of robberies of film stars, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon have had their beach house equipped with the most elaborate system of burglar alarms that money can buy . . . An old man in the Middle West showers Fay Wray with letters demanding that she give up her career and take care of him. He insists that he is her father, and berates her for not acknowledging him. Fay's real father has been dead for years. The strange part of it is, her annoyer is not even in want . . . Carter De Haven, who hasn't been heard of in some time, is putting on the floor show for the Club Airport Gardens here. The new home of Jean Harlow will be within shouting distance of Loretta Young's white colonial house with green shutters.

Harry Brown, manager of the Nixon, whose late canine pal, "Shimmy," was known to most people in Pittsburgh, has got himself a new pooch. "Nixon" is its tag, and Harry's chief concern now is teaching it that red show posters are not red meat.

"The Bread Line," by Robert Lord and Wilson Mizner, will be the next Richard Barthelmess film . . . Clara Bow, who has been traveling abroad since the premiere of her "come-back" film, "Call Her Savage," will sail from France this week and is expected back in the studios shortly . . . Miriam Jordan, Hollywoodite, is on vacation in New York . . . "Today We Live," Joan Crawford's new picture, in which Gary Cooper is co-featured, also has Francot Tone, Theater Guild actor, in its cast . . . Vicki Baum, author of "Grand Hotel," has signed a new contract to write original film scripts for M-G-M . . . Douglas Fairbanks is off on another tour of Europe, and will be joined in St. Moritz by Mary Pickford once she has her new picture, "Secrets," definitely off her hands.

Coward Film On Tonight

Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" comes to the Nixon screen tonight. Tomorrow and thereafter it will be shown twice daily. Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard, a beauty from the London stage, play the leading roles.

"Cavalcade" pictures the highlights of 32 years of history, parading armies, queens and emperors across the screen. To film it 25,000 costumes, three Zeppelins, one troop ship, four troop trains, a big ocean liner, 8,000 rifles, 1,000 horses, 50 guns and caissons, 200 automobiles, 50 hansom cabs, 500 dancers, thousands of singers and 1,000 musicians were required.

All in a Day

—By Mark Hellinger—

BRISTOL HOTEL, VIENNA, Austria.—Before I proceed further on my observations of Vienna, I'd like to jot down my impressions of a few characters I encountered during recent weeks. I'm afraid that if I don't get them on paper now, I never will write about them. So, with your permission, we'll consider the first one.

Petrus Oleson. I wrote about him in one of the Berlin columns, as you've undoubtedly forgotten by this time. Oleson is the keeper of the wild animals in the Berlin Zoo. He has held the position for 36 years. And as I talked to him, I wondered about him and his life. What the devil makes a man stick to that kind of job for so many years?

Accordingly, I interviewed him. The result? Certainly:

Oleson, as healthy a man today as you'd ever want to gaze upon, was born in a small town in Denmark. His age? He blushed when I asked him, and he wouldn't tell. Can you imagine a lion tamer blushing because you asked his age?

As far back as he can remember, Oleson was keenly interested in animals—possibly because of his father's mustache. He studied the trade of a smith because he had been told that, if one was really serious about the trapping of big game, a knowledge of bolts, locks and hinges was absolutely essential.

After serving his apprenticeship in Copenhagen, our hero joined a traveling menagerie—first as an assistant trainer and then as a head man himself. In 1896, after experiences with various circuses, he landed in Germany—and in 1897, he was engaged by Prof. Ludwig Heck to handle animals in the Berlin Zoo. At first, they'd only give him the small beasts such as hyenas and that type, but in 1901, they threw in the lions, the tigers, and the complete works.

Since then, except on those occasions that the zoo sent him to Africa to trap game of every description, Oleson has held his same position. He gets into cages with his lions and tigers when his helpers will not go within 20 feet of the spot. He says that the caffre-buffalo is the most dangerous animal in the world, but Oleson has never been married.

Has he ever been afraid? Yes, plenty of times. He thinks that trainers and keepers who say they have no fear of certain animals are complete liars. He has never been severely injured. But that, he admits, has been pure luck. He admits very frankly that he expects to get his at any time. All he does is keep hoping. And that, after all, is practically the only thing most of us can do in any business.

What would he do if he had his life to live over again? You know the answer. He'd do exactly the same things that he has done. He loves his animals, he loves the plaudits of the people who come to watch him, he's well fed and he's happy. So why should he hope for anything better? I couldn't answer that point . . .

An elevator man in Prague. An old man with sad eyes. Very few people in the hotel spoke English. On the first trip, I held up three fingers to tell him the floor I wanted. On the second trip, he smiled at me.

"Not necessary to hold up the fingers," he asserted. "I speak the fair English. You can talk to me."

I nodded.

"All right," I said. "Let's talk. I'll begin with the usual question. Have you ever been in New York?"

He smiled again. And those sad eyes became more expressive than ever.

"I lived there 20 years," he returned "In Brooklyn. I had the drug store there. On a good street and in a good location. I made very good money. I loved New York."

I was astonished. This old man was telling me that he had had a prosperous drug store in Brooklyn. Yet here he was, at an advanced age, running an elevator in a Prague hotel and earning, perhaps, $10 a month.

"How did this all happen?" I asked him.

He raised his hands in a gesture.

"Because I was the fool," he replied, "like so very many others. I worked hard for 20 years. I felt that I was growing older and I wanted to come back to my native land to spend the rest of my years in peace. I sold my drug store for $20,000, put that and all my savings into foreign money—and returned here.

"The rest you know. Almost over night, my money became worthless. Had I left it in American dollars, I would have been immensely wealthy. But I was not wise enough. And before I knew what had happened, everything I had saved had vanished.

"I am too old to start again. So I have been running the elevator for a long time. It is the only way I can get to eat. You see?"

I saw. . .

A cab driver in Berlin. When I hailed him in front of my hotel, I asked him if he understood English. He said he did. I told him where I wanted to go and what I wanted done. He nodded.

"You're sure you understand?" I asked him again. Once more he nodded. I slammed the door and we were off.

He drove and he drove and he drove. I didn't know anything about Berlin, but I knew enough to realize that he couldn't be going in the right direction. I was told that my destination wasn't more than five or six minutes from the hotel—and here I had already been riding almost 20.

I finally rapped on the window and motioned to the driver to stop his cab. He did so. I climbed out and spoke to a policeman who, fortunately enough, spoke English. I told him where I wanted to go and he told me that I had been traveling in the wrong direction. He addressed the cab driver vigorously in German, pointed in different directions, tipped his hat to me—and were were off again.

I was sore as the devil. I yanked open the window in order to tell the cab driver a few things.

"What's the matter with you?" I inquired. "Are you goofy or something? You've taken me all out of my way."

"That's right," was his laconic response.

I almost tumbled from the cab.

"That's right?" I shrieked. "Is that an answer? I thought you told me you understood English!"

He shrugged his shoulders.

"I do understand," he returned doggedly, "but there is one trouble. I understand badly!" . . .

MASS SUICIDE IN CHINA TOLD

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—An apparently extravagant story of how 4,000 Chinese farmers committed suicide rather than fall captive to Communists in the southern interior province of Kiangsi constituted today's sensation in the Chinese newspapers.

The papers declared the tragedy occurred in a village near Ningtu, Southeast Kiangsi, in the heart of the Chinese Soviet district. The Reds were reported to have besieged the villagers for many months. When it appeared the former would soon gain entrance, the farmers were said to have ended their lives.

Insull Free to Quit Country, Greece Says

ATHENS, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The Ministry of Interior announced today that Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities operator, enjoys full liberty of movement in Greece and that he is free to leave the country should he so desire.

Greek courts last December 27 refused a request for the extradition of Insull to Chicago to face charges which followed the collapse of his utilities interests.

WOMAN TO FACE DEATH CHARGE

OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 6.—Charged with the slaying of Clarence (Red) Cherry, 27, at a farmhouse party near here, Mrs. Carrie George, 34, is being held for the April term of court.

Crowds thronged the corridors and milled about in the street in front of the city building while the private hearing was conducted by Alderman D. H. McCready.

Bonnie McCammon, who police say was one of the guests at the week-end party, testified she saw the defendant lay down a bread knife, and that she heard Cherry fall.

NATION'S GREAT PAY HOMAGE TO COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Tribute to the memory of Calvin Coolidge was paid today by the nation's highest officials in a ceremony as simple as the life led by the former President.

Held in the spacious chambers of the House of Representatives, the memorial service consisted of a eulogy by Arthur P. Rugg, chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, two hymns, an invocation and a benediction.

Led by President Hoover, who served in the Coolidge cabinet and succeeded him as Chief Executive, the procession of fficials that wound slowly into the chamber included Vice President Curtis, members of the Supree Court and the Diplomatic Corps,

SENATORS ATTEND

Members of the Senate, over which Mr. Coolidge presided as Vice President before the death of President Harding elevated him to the higher post, suspended proceedings and marched in a body to the House.

After an opening prayer, Vice President Curtis announced the memorial session had been called "to pay tribute to a great man and a popular President—a man who was loved and is mourned by all the people—Calvin Coolidge."

NATION STUNNED

Justice Rugg said:

"The nation was stunned by this sudden and unexpected event. The people of the country realized what a calamity had befallen them. They would no longer be able to receive his wise counsel or to rely on his understanding heart.

"A great statesman is the product of heredity, endowment, education and the times. Mr. Coolidge was the son of generations inured to toil and discipline amid the mute eloquence of mountain and valley, inspired by the strength and beauty of nature, trained by association with the keen-witted, honest, industrious inhabitants of the sparsely settled country. He typified the characteristics of the race from which he sprang."

OPEN CATHOLIC JOB PARLEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Dr. J. E. Hagerty, professor of sociology at Ohio State University, Columbus, told the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems today that "in times like these through which we are passing the state should provide opportunities whereby the unemployed may work and support themselves."

The address was made at the opening session of a two-day meeting sponsored by Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York. Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, will outline his organization's program at tomorrow's session.

Dr. Hagerty quoted the contention of Pope Pius XI in his recent encyclical that "the chief cause of our economic ills is due to our excessive individualism," and said:

"This accumulation of great wealth has not only given the captains of industry great power in the economic sphere to the disadvantage of the wage earner, but it has had to wage a fierce battle to control the policies of states in their own selfish interests."

$7,500,000 for Idle Voted in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A $7,500,000 package of cheer will be broken open for the unemployed of New York state this month.

The state temporary emergency relief administration announced yesterday that an appropriation of that size, made for February, will provide jobs for 25,000 additional unemployed and direct relief to 75,000 additional families.

Girls Demanding Pay Peril Opera Chief

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Police were summoned to a hotel last night to protect Edward Beck, of Brookline, Mass., manager of the Boston English Grand Opera Company. Officers arrived to find Beck besieged by chorus girls and other performers demanding pay and clamoring for baggage which the hotel was holding and asking, "When do we eat?"

RECRUIT IRISH WHITE ARMY

DUBLIN, IRISH FREE STATE, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Striking developments in connection with Ireland's White Army, which is opposed to the Irish Republican Army, may provide President Eamon de Valera with a thorny problem.

Contrary to an idea in some quarters that the White organization would be allowed to lapse, an intensive recruiting campaign is now in progress, according to high officials in the organization, and everything is being done to put the body on a military footing.

Con Brosnan, organizer for County Kerry with headquarters at Listowel, said today:

"We are prepared to hand in every gun we have if the Irish Republican Army will do the same. If the Irish Republican Army is allowed to carry arms and the White Army is proclaimed illegal, then we are prepared to put up with whatever is coming to us."

There is no antagonism between the White Army and the Irish Republican Army at the moment, he declared.

AUTO STRIKERS INJURE TWO

DETROIT, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—A man and a girl were cut by flying glass today as a dozen strikers from the Briggs Manufacturing Company stoned a trolley car near the East Side plant.

It was the second stoning of a street car in 48 hours, 12 strike-breakers being injured Saturday when a mob of 300 stoned a car laden with 100 Briggs workers.

Two dozen bricks found their mark in four windows of the trolley today. When the shower began 25 passengers in the car dropped to the floor for protection.

CONTINUE FORD PATENT CASE

Charges of negligence made by the Ford Motor Company counsel against the windshield patent infringment claims alleged by the late Arthur L. Banker in seeking $18,000,000 damages today caused continuance of the trial until May term of Federal District Court.

The Ford interests charge negligence in not instituting action until after expiration of the patent rights. The plaintiffs, joined by Mrs. May Kable Banker, widow, claim the patent was obtained in 1907 and Ford started its use in 1915. A jury had been selected.

Judge Nelson McVicar continued the case until May 20, when further argument will be heard. If a ruling is made in favor of the Banker interests, the case will be heard during the May term.

TELL IT TO ELSIE -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By ELSIE ROBINSON

All right! G'wan and laugh! But Anita doesn't consider it a laughing matter, She thinks that it is one of our current problems, and Something Should Be Done About It.

Said she, with considerable heat, "It's perfectly disgusting to see young men using make-up! How could a girl possibly love or respect such a man? They can't possibly be regular!"

Now comes "He Man"—

Is it a real letter?

It is.

Did I have anything to do with writing it?

I did not!

Do I agree with the sentiments?

I don't.

And anyone who insinuates that I do is pickin' off a nice fat libel suit for himself. Boys were boys in my day, not boutonnieres!

Now go on with the story—

Dear Miss Elsie Robinson—

May I reply to Anita's letter about boys who use cosmetics? It seems to disturb the day, and I'd like to say a word or two to her.

You're way behind the times, girl! I'm just one of the Painted Huskies myself—and I'm not peculiar, either. You certainly are unobserving, judging by some of your questions, or you wouldn't say that you've noticed "a few boys made up" of late, because five out of ten of them use cosmetics—and they're just as dependable and manly as they ever were.

APPEARANCE IMPROVED

I will grant you that the thing can be overdone and that some boys may have their eyebrows plucked to a hairline and their hair retouched until they look like Great Big Beautiful (?) Painted Dolls. But there are plenty of decent fellows who "improve their looks" right along.

Most boys who use cosmetics are very careful how they apply them. Girls should be, too. In fact, in most cases where boys go in for using them it can't even be detected. Yet there is a great improvement in the appearance of the boy who uses them.

What applies to girls also applies to boys.

We must put ourselves over in looks before a girl will even try to get a glimpse of our personalities.

WANTS OPINIONS

Personally, there is nothing I like better than to see a good, healthy, well-groomed complexion and well-kept nails, as well as nice, even eyebrows. You've got to look well in this day and age if you expect to get anywhere, no matter how good a personality you have, and no matter whether you're a boy or a girl. People expect it. If they don't take to your looks, you're out.

And people who do take care of their looks can be, and generally are, just as regular as those who don't.

And now let's hear what some of the others think of men using cosmetics. HE MAN.

Do you, or don't you, admire beautiful boys?

Does, or doesn't, a tinted nail and a plucked eyebrow help a lad in the great, rough battle of life?

And is a marcelled male really a human being—or just a new kind of sweet salad?

Tell him, girls. Also boys.

What will the answer be? I don't know—but I have a hunch. And if you don't like what you get, Little Lollipop, remember, you asked for it!

Man Should Love Both Wife and Mother, Declares Fay King

By FAY KING

Which should come first, mother or wife?

Neither, if both are fair and worthy. A man can love both equally, but in a different way. Where one may be unreasonable or unfair, his love should not alter, but he should do all he can to be loyal to both.

If a wife cannot agree with her husband's mother, the women may not see one another, but no wife should demand her husband refuse to see his mother.

A man will have only one mother. Her claim upon him is unchanging. She gave him life. She loved him for 20 years longer. Wives should be generous to mothers and not resent this. They in turn are mothers and deserve the same consideration.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Defensive Play

When a defending player is able to determine the method of attack decided upon by the Declarer, he should take immediate steps to frustate the plan, if it is possible. The throw-ins by which difficult contracts are sometimes made at the Bridge table, following a strip play, can, on occasion, be averted, as was shown in the following hand, which was played in a Duplicate match at Crockford's Club, New York, in which one player, holding the West hand, made a very fine play to keep his partner from being the victim of a Forced lead play.

West—Dealer.

North
♠ A Q 8 6 2
♥ 8 5
♦ 9 8 5 4 2
♣ J

West
♠ 7 3
♥ 6 2
♦ K 10 6
♣ A K Q 9 7 5

East
♠ 5
♥ K Q 10 9 7 3
♦ Q J
♣ 10 6 3 2

South
♠ K J 10 9 4
♥ A J 4
♦ A 7 3
♣ 8 4

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1♣	Pass	1♥	1♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

West's Opening lead was the club King, and when the singleton appeared in the Dummy, he shifted to the heart 6. East's Queen forced the Declarer's Ace, and South then cashed two rounds of trumps. The Declarer then ruffed his remaining club and led a heart from Dummy. East won with the King and returned a heart, reasoning that a discard in Dummy would be worthless. Actually, he would have made the play slightly easier for West by leading the diamond Queen. South ruffed the heart in Dummy, the purpose being to determine something about the distribution of the diamond suit by leading toward the Ace. The contract could be made if East held the King-Queen of diamonds alone or was forced to win the second diamond trick and had nothing but a heart or club to lead. East played the Knave, and South won with the Ace and returned a small diamond. West now made his very good defensive play—the diamond King. It was obvious, of course, that East held the Queen of diamonds, but if permitted to win the trick, any card he led would give the Declarer a discard in his own hand and a ruff in the Dummy.

The play is not a difficult one, and West did not need to think very hard in order to make it, but it was a good play, and of that type, which frequently occurs at the Bridge table, where a little thought will defeat an otherwise certain contract.

Today's Question.

♠ A K Q 3 ♥ A 5 4 ♦ 3 ♣ J 10 9 7 4

Answer—One spade. In view of the diamond singleton, the hand is not quite strong enough for a Forcing Takeout, although the four-card spade suit should be preferred to the five-card club suit, in order to make it as easy as possible for partner to make some further bid.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Rheumatic Fever in Children

Now comes another uncomfortable statement from the health authorities. They say that heart disease in children continues to be a serious and fatal disease. It is to be dreaded when it affects undernourished children. It is particularly dangerous when the disease exists unknown to the parent or physician, with no effort to deal with it.

Dr. Copeland

The exact cause of rheumatic fever has never been discovered. But probably the disease is due to an infection. A germ with a great big name, "streptococcus rheumatism," has been found in many cases of rheumatism. Perhaps this germ is the cause of the fever, but it has not been determined for a certainty.

Early recognition of rheumatic fever in children is of great importance. When the disease is recognized in its early stages and proper measures are taken, such dreaded complications as rheumatic heart disease can be avoided.

Unfortunately, the disease is often overlooked in young children. This is explained by the vague and often mild complaints of the afflicted child. Of course in advanced cases the disease is easily recognized, but an important task is to detect the disease before the heart is actually damaged.

I want to warn all of you against the danger of ignoring certain complaints of childhood. I desire, too, to impress upon every mother that there is no such thing as "growing pains." If a child complains of pain in the legs, arm or joints, off he should go to a doctor. Don't be misled by somebody's diagnosis of growing pains.

Rheumatic fever should be suspected in a child who tires easily, is pale, has a poor appetite, and who has lost weight. A rapid pulse, shortness of breath when walking or running, and occasional fever, are signs that must never be disregarded.

Recently a child specialist told me that he makes his diagnosis of rheumatic fever by the appearance of the child. He claims that a child suffering from this disease has what is called a "rheumatic look." The cheeks are flushed, especially when in a warm room. Sometimes there is a greenish color of the skin about the nose and mouth.

Children with rheumatic fever should be given careful nursing and expert hygienic care. The food should be simple, nourishing and adequate. When fever is present the child should be kept in bed and every exertion prevented. It is not known if the disease is contagious, but to be on the safe side keep the sick child away from other children.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Grantland Says Hiding Place Has Been Found

There was such confidence in Hugh Grantland's voice when he spoke of my part in the rescue of the girls that I quailed at the thought of having to tell him I could give him no aid whatever. I knew that, able strategist as he was, he had carefully planned every detail of the attack he meant to make on the kidnapers, and that to have any block of his pattern lifted out was to mar the whole.

He was entitled to my cheerful co-operation in any task he set for me, and I found myself suddenly resentful at Dicky for exacting a promise from me to stay at the hotel during the rescue.

"Are you all right now?" Hugh's voice, tender, solicitous, broke through my panicky planning. "I should not have told you the news so abruptly. There is no hurry. We can sit here until you are yourself again, and then I will drive."

I pulled myself together, and seized this heaven-sent opportunity for delaying my announcement to him that I could not help him.

HIDING PLACE FOUND

"I am perfectly all right now," I told him, "but I shan't be able to live much longer if I do not learn just what you and Dicky found out this morning."

He laughed and I saw thankfully that I had diverted his attention, for a time at least.

"We must prevent a calamity like that," he said. "I will tell you at once everything we saw. In the first place, we found the lake and the big trees, one of them struck by lightning, just as Marion described them in her code letter. We also saw the house, answering her description as far as we could determine from our height. As nearly as we were able to check—and I think we were pretty accurate—the roads that Samuel Brixton traveled last night, with you and Ronald trailing, lead ultimately to that place. There are other roads, also by which the twisting, narrow mule paths that are nearest to it can be reached."

"But isn't there a chance that you will miss the roads in an attack made after dark?" I asked.

"Not if my plans work out, and I think they will," he returned with quiet confidence. "That is the reason I telephoned you, instead of Harry Underwood, because of my fear that Mrs. Brixton might be in the Underwood apartment.

OUTLINES PLANS

"I want you to get hold of Mr. Underwood for me, and tell him I need him immediately. Under the pretext of scouting out the region for telephone lines, I'm going to throw a gang of supposed workmen into that locality today. In reality they are trained men, some coming for me, others for your father and Mr. Underwood. The cleverest one of the lot will take the immediate region of the house, but I warrant the kidnapers will not suspect his real errand.

"By the time they all get through, we shall have a perfect map of just where we're going. If we have luck, we can stage the rescue tonight, but we will risk nothing until our plans are perfected. What do you think about it?"

"Oh, it's wonderful," I cried. "You have thought of everything!"

"I have tried to," he said, not boastfully, but simply, in the manner of a commander who appraises his own work as clearly as he does that of those he is directing, "and I am glad you approve of the plan. I shall leave it to you to tell Mrs. Underwood about it, and to insure her staying with Mrs. Brixton, so that there can be no possible leak in our plans in case Mr. Brixton returns. I will let you know what time you are to join us, but please be in readiness from nine o'clock on."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The 'Return Present'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently I had my brother, his wife and grown daughter at my home for supper. They brought a box of candy. Of course I thanked them and served the candy after the meal was over.

Now my husband, my 9-year-daughter and I are invited to supper at their home. What is the usual custom? Should I take something when we go, as they did? If so, please give me an idea, or a few suggestions. P.

It isn't necessary for you to take a "return present," but it would be thoughtful of you perhaps to make a pleasant gesture of some kind when you go to dinner. But so that the present you take won't seem too much like the one they brought, perhaps you could plan to take a special box of, say, nuts both salted and glace, or a combination box of sweets of various kinds. Another charming present would be a box of various kinds of hors d'oeuvres—green or ripe or stuffed olives; sardines; anchovies; pate de foie gras, and any other delicacies you think they would enjoy.

Another present that is always appreciated is a box of various kinds of jams and jellies. These come in small jars, very attractively packaged, or you can choose the kinds that you especially want.

From 'Master' to 'Mister'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know the proper time for a boy to cease to be addressed as "Master;" that is, in correspondence. For instance, should one address a boy as "Master Charles Jones" until he is 16 years of age, or to what age? C.

When a boy is about 16 we drop the Master and substitute the Mr. in addressing a letter to him. At the same time he begins to use the title of Mr. before his name on his visiting cards.

Household Hints

Brass curtain pins and hooks often get discolored through windows left open at the top during summer. They may be cleaned by first soaking in ammonia, then boiling afterwards in water in which haricot beans have been cooked. The bean water acts on the discolored metal and cleans it without much labor.

Vinegar, diluted with cold water, makes a safe and effective astringent. Use in the proportion of one part vinegar to five parts water, and apply to the skin with a pad of soft cloth.

-:- The Beauty Box -:-

By HELEN FOLLETT

Human beings love their old shoes, but their affection is misdirected. When shoes have spread, cease to provide support for the instep, they are enemies. The housewife who travels the old routine beat day after day needs to be properly shod if she is to avoid corns, ingrowing nails, all that trail of twinging horrors. By changing shoes frequently, she will be benefited. Stockings should be of ample size; small ones cluster toes together, cause smarting of the skin surface. When flesh is tender, inclined to be painful, lisle stockings are more soothing than silk.

Women who are inclined to take on curves have a heavy crush on the bath room scales, must watch their calories during the winter season. That's when insidious fat cells get a foothold. In warm weather there is more exercise, lessened appetite, more sweating, all of which tends to ward off added ounces. If it looks as if measurements are extending, if one can't wriggle comfortably into the form-fitting gown, there are tap-dancing classes and special reducing routines at gymnasiums. When muscles are active there's not much chance for adipose tissue to collect.

Every young girl should be encouraged to travel along the beauty way since many efforts made toward gaining pulchritude make for health and vitality as well. Deep breathing and daily bathing improve the complexion, put the beams of animation in the eye. Clear smooth hands are less likely to carry bacteria than hands that have only casual attention. A balanced diet, necessary for the health of the skin, keeps muscles in condition, repairs tissue wastes, promotes the well-being of the teeth.

DON'T SCOLD IF CHILDREN CATCH COLD

The boy or girl who catches cold sometimes gets a good scolding, not always deserved. Perhaps such children are over-tired, run down, and underweight. Build up their resistance against colds with Father John's Medicine and they can face the rigors of the season with confidence because it builds sturdy bodies, supplies vitamin strength and is free from drugs.

STRENGTH TO FIGHT COLDS
BUILDS NEW HEALTH
FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

"WHAT A SNOW-WHITE WASH!" I exclaimed
2.
I SCRUB FOR HOURS— YET MY CLOTHES NEVER LOOK SO FRESH AND CLEAN
YOU'RE FOOLISH TO SCRUB, MARGE. RINSO SOAKS OUT DIRT WITHOUT ANY HELP. IT SAVES HOURS OF WORK— AND SAVES THE HANDS, TOO
3.
WHAT SUDS — SO RICH AND CREAMY! I WISH SHE HAD TOLD ME ABOUT RINSO LONG AGO. THE WAY THE DIRT SOAKS OUT IS SIMPLY MARVELOUS!
4.
I'M USING A NEW KIND OF SOAP —RINSO. IT SAVES SCRUBBING, JIM! YOUR SHIRTS WILL LAST LONGER NOW. RINSO'S GRAND FOR DISHES, TOO
Rinso
The biggest-selling package soap in America

Save money—clothes last 2 or 3 times longer!

YOU save hundreds of dollars when clothes are SOAKED in gentle Rinso suds—instead of being SCRUBBED threadbare against a washboard! They last twice—three times—as long.

Rinso saves the hands, too—that's why so many millions of women use it for dishes and all cleaning. And it's economical; cup for cup, it gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—in the hardest kind of water.

The makers of 40 famous washers—the home-making experts of 316 leading newspapers—recommend Rinso. It gets clothes 4 or 5 shades whiter, safely.

TRY RINSO FREE

If you never have tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. 071, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

CALL PROTEST MEETING ON SCHOOL TAX

The Allegheny County Real Estate Owners and Taxpayers League has called a mass meeting of real estate owners and taxpayers for tonight at 8 o'clock in McCann's Auditorium, Highland avenue, East Liberty.

Among the speakers will be Attorney Frank S. Delp, one of three complainants who have filed a bill of equity in Common Pleas Court seeking an injunction to prevent the school district of Pittsburgh and Richard W. Thompson, school treasurer, from collecting more than 8 mills school tax on real estate in 1933. The present school tax is 11¾ mills.

Other speakers will be John Dimling, I. L. Aronson, Dr. J. J. Buchanan and Harry Shapera.

The league also stands for conducting schools under a centralized state department and financing them through taxes other than a direct tax on real estate. A series of mass meetings are to be held in various sections of the city.

MIZNER, NOTED TRAVELER, DIES

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Addison Mizner, 69, world traveler and architect, who developed a distinctive Spanish type of architecture in Florida, died of a heart attack at his villa here yesterday.

He had been in ill health for some time, but it was only recently that his condition became critical. Structures typical of his work include the Everglades Club, the cloister at Boca Raton and various Palm Beach mansions.

The architect was credited with adapting to American needs the Spanish type of architecture in Florida and with molding the kind of building that prevailed here. Only recently he prepared the plans for a Palm Beach postoffice building.

Last summer Mizner went to California for a visit with his brother, Wilson Mizner, his sole survivor, and his health was reported improved in the fall, but he suffered a collapse from a heart attack a month ago.

CHILDREN PLAY IN SNOW, DROWN

HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The joy that new, white snow brings to children meant tragedy to the family of Lieut. Godwin Ordway, Jr., of West Point.

His son, Albert, 7, and daughter, Margaret, 4, looked out the window yesterday and saw shining whiteness everywhere. They begged:

"Please, can we go out and play in it?"

They were permitted to go, and they didn't come back. Following tiny footprints, their father found them drowned in a small pond that holds only six feet of water. They apparently had slipped on the snow-covered bank.

Gold 'Liberty Bell' Frees Town of Debt

ARICA, Chile, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Inhabitants of this town had a liberty bell of their own today, and they wasted no time deciding what to do with it.

The bell, weighing a ton and containing 860 pounds of gold, was found buried near the outskirts of the city. It was used to settle the entire municipal debt.

Fire Damages Home On Mt. Troy Road

ABORTION of Colds

(with lemon juice)

Do you sometimes get colds that hang on for days? That's because the remedy used does not drive the cold symptoms from the system. Try cold abortion and you'll find those stubborn colds broken up and gone within a few hours. To abort a cold, squeeze two full-sized lemons in a glass of very hot water, to be taken preferably at bedtime. Two hours before, start taking a tablet of Pape's cold compound each hour. After the third tablet take the lemon juice and hot water without sugar, and go to bed, well-covered. Sound sleep will follow, and the cold will be aborted by morning. The lemon juice treatment never fails, but you must have the cold compound to clear the head, dry the nasal passages, and allay any fever. Any druggist has Pape's cold compound; it is perfectly safe, and a tablet will check a cold at any time.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

"I wanted a clear skin—

If you long for a better skin pause and reason

A CLEAR, healthy skin is an evidence of good health. Ample red-blood-cells, filled with hemo-glo-bin (skin and tissue purifier), are necessary for good health and a clear skin.

When the hemo-glo-bin is right you feel it . . . your looks show it. But when sickness, colds or the "flu," tear down this vital substance, or you neglect your diet, you get weak, tire easily, lose your appetite. Your resistance is lowered—and your complexion usually shows it.

And here is the reason: When the hemo-globin is reduced, the billions of tiny cells in the body are not getting sufficient oxygen, because it is the hemo-glo-bin that takes the oxygen, breathed into the lungs, to all parts of the body—even to the skin. Also, it throws off the poisonous carbon dioxide.

To clear your skin of pimples and get back that old-time vigor with color in your cheeks, take S.S.S. Tonic just before meals. No need to change your diet . . . S.S.S. will not interfere with any other medicine you may be taking. You will be happy with the beneficial results obtained.

S.S.S. is a proven Tonic . . . by experience for over 100 years . . . and by modern medical research. Start taking it today. At all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The larger size is more economical. © The S.S.S. Co.

Cabinet Circles Entertain for Mrs. Hoover

WASHINGTON—In the intimate "home circle" of her husband's cabinet, Mrs. Hoover has been honored at two informal luncheons lately—at Mrs. Hyde's Thursday and at Mrs. Wilbur's January 28.

They were quiet little occasions, in keeping with the spirit of the 30-day period of official mourning for former President Calvin Coolidge, who died January 5.

That mourning period has just ended, and White House entertaining will resume this week, with fete dates as thick as they could be splattered on a calendar, from now until March 1.

That's Ash Wednesday, when Lent begins, and the "social season" ends, with two days left to the Hoovers in the White House, before the Roosevelts come in, March 4. So February is the month for farewelling in all official Washington.

At four state dinners, and two huge receptions, Mrs. Hoover will still be hostess. She's also much in demand as a breakfast and luncheon guest. The League of Republican Women will hold a luncheon for her Saturday. She will be the center of the one big formal event of the Congressional Club the day before Washington's Birthday, three other large affairs having been canceled during the mourning period.

AIRCASTER ✣ Mystery Thrillers, Dance Music ✣ RADIO NEWS

By AIRCASTER

"Mr. Alladdin Aircaster," they call me now—for the Wonderful Lamp, a little onyx gadget which Kate Smith presented to me, seems to possess some fraction, at least, of the magic Kate claimed for it.

Among the initial wishes conveyed to the Genie (I've decided to call him Herman), were that the Magic Carpet singer might stop using the London version of the word "again;" that the Hollywod Newsboy would stop shouting at the audience; that Ed Wynn would change his operas, and that Georgie Price and Ludwig Laurier would come back on the air again. Well, Herman did a bit of squawking, but he did a nice job anyhow.

Nevertheless, I can see I'm going to have trouble with Herman. He's not a young genie, and he belongs to the magical slaves' union. As he points out, even genies named Herman have their limitations. However, at the risk of calling down Herman's wrath upon me, I'm gambling on him to get busy, when I rub the lamp again and wish—

That the Fu Manchu sponsor might get wise to himself and abate that intensive and nerve-wracking ballyhoo.

That the network executives would issue an order banning the P. A.'s (Not press agents—I mean Paid Applauders.)

That the Humming Birds would substitute some other noise for that banshee wailing.

That Amos 'n' Andy's boss might ponder the shocking effects on the audience of those ballyhoo scenes in dentists' offices.

That Ben Bernie would meditate a bit and realize that his universal log-rolling with other artists is no longer amusing.

That Fred Allen and Jack Benny would realize that they're plenty good enough, without resorting to the use of effeminate characters in their acts.

That Don Voorhees do something about getting a different quartet if there must be one, for the Ed Wynn programs.

That announcers be smitten down with sleeping sickness every time they insist on gagging a song title.

That George Hall's orchestra cut in half the number of its broadcasts, to give the maestro time for proper rehearsing.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L KAUFMAN

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Morris M. Berger, a guest at the Rubinoff dinner for Eddie Cantor, relates this as the prize of the table repartee:

Eddie was extolling the accomplishments of Sydney Franklin, the bull fighter who played with him in "The Kid From Spain." Someone interposed that Sydney also holds Eddie in high regard. To which Eddie modestly retorted:

"Why shouldn't he? He always works with bulls."

The other day's item about a dignified civil wedding ceremony evoked this comment from another globe-trotter who was married by the squire last October.

As she and her intended stepped into the office, a card game was in progress, and for a moment the groom hesitated whether to join the game or proceed to the back room for the ceremony. But the fee he paid evidently went into the game anyway. It was the only wedding she ever expects to have, and wishes that the squire would have been a bit more solemn about the matter.

Hello B. P. As to that question regarding the Bolivia-Paraguay dispute, it is all over a question of boundary, each nation claiming the Gran Chaco region. Asked Mark Shields how long it has been going on and he says—"too long—" which is about as correct an answer as you'll get anyplace.

Jimmy Murray was going great the other day interviewing people on the street with his lapel "mike" when a stalwart of the law stepped up Jimmy inquired about his reaction to groundhog day. The reply:

"I don't know about groundhogs, but this crowd will have to break up. Get moving, you."

MANY SCHOOLS IN DISTRICT GET HIGH RATING

Many schools in the Pittsburgh district are included among those placed on the accredited list for 1933 by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The list was announced today by Dr. E. Duncan Grizzell, chairman of the commission, at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Grizzell said that in compiling the list, the commission does not assume any responsibility beyond that of judging the ability of an efficient secondary school to prepare its students for college work. He said failure of a school to be included on the list does not necessarily imply inefficiency on the part of that school. The schools include:

Clairton High, Coraopolis High, Crafton High, Homestead High, Munhall High, Sewickley High, Wilkinsburg High, Allegheny High, Arnold School, Aspinwall High, Avalon High, Bellevue High, Carrick Junior-Senior High, David B. Oliver Junior-Senior High, Dormont High, Duquesne University Preparatory, Ellis School, Fifth Avenue Senior High, George W. Westinghouse Junior-Senior High, Mount Lebanon High, Peabody Senior High, Perry Junior-Senior High, Pittsburgh Central Catholic High, Samuel P. Langley Junior-Senior High, Schenley Senior High, Shady Side Academy, South High, South Hills High, Taylor Allderdice Junior-Senior High and Thursday Preparatory.

Your Income Tax

Deductible Taxes on Auto Outlay Explained

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

This is the thirteenth of a series of articles analyzing the Revenue act of 1932 and discussing the problems of income tax payers.

Deductions allowed in connection with the expenses of maintaining an automobile are confusing to many income tax payers. Whether an automobile is used for business or pleasure is the determining factor in making many expenses deductible.

The purchase price of an automobile, whether it is used for business or pleasure, cannot be deducted from gross income. If it is used for business, the cost represents a capital expenditure. If it is used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure. Both types of deductions are expressly prohibited by the income tax law.

If an automobile is used exclusively for business purposes, the entire cost of gasoline, oil, repairs, rent for garage and other expenses incidental to its operation and upkeep may be deducted. Depreciation based on the cost of the car and its estimated useful life also is an allowable deduction.

Regardless of whether the car is used for business or pleasure, interest paid on money borrowed for its purchase may be deducted. It has already been shown that registration fees and drivers' licenses are considered as taxes and may be deducted, although the gasoline taxes are not deductible in this state. Of course, if the car is used for business, the gasoline tax may be included in the cost of gasoline and deducted as a business expense.

Other income tax problems in connection with the use of automobiles will be discussed tomorrow.

Wyoming Proposes Speedier Divorces

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The legal required residence of divorce seeking persons in Wyoming would be reduced from one year to 42 hours under a measure advanced for passage by the state House of Representatives. Representative E. J. Goppert, of Cody, who proposed the reduction, said the state might "become famous overnight."

"'MOIST THROAT' STOPPED MY COUGHING SPELLS!"

"I'm certainly glad I learned about moist throat!" writes Miss A. S., of New York City.

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny "bottles" continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."

Then these pores clog. Phlegm collects. Dangerous germs find a breeding place. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.

T[illegible]e your cough you must increase the f[illegible] your throat's natural moisture, lo[illegible]ng the phlegm so it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely "deaden" the nerves . . . but don't get at the root of the trouble!

PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of th[illegible] moisture and brings quick relie[illegible]turally.

[illegible] your throat's raw or dry, take a few [illegible]poons of PERTUSSIN now. It's safe, even for children. At drug stores, 60¢.

KIN OF NEVIN DIES IN WEST

Another Ethelbert Nevin tie with his boyhood haunts of Greater Pittsburgh is broken. Friends have received word of the death of Mrs. Mary Paul Armstrong, sister-in-law of the late composer of "The Rosary," in Los Angeles last Saturday.

Mrs. Armstrong was plain Mary to Nevin when he called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Paul, in Oakmont, to court her sister, Anne Paul. Many times she sang in what is now St. Thomas Memorial Episcopal Church, Oakmont, while Ethelbert Nevin played the organ.

After marrying Harry Armstrong, she moved to Los Angeles. There funeral services and interment will be held.

Goat Herder Proud Of Garner's Gift

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Juan Mora, 70, a Mexican goat herder, was happy today in possession of an autographed photograph of John N. Garner, who now lives "so far away among the Yankees in the snow and ice." Juan used to cook for the Vice President-elect on hunting expeditions on the border. The photograph was mailed with "best wishes" by Garner after Juan had sent him a gift of Mexican food.

Seeks to Dismiss Lone Policeman

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—This village's political strife, already blamed for the bombing of a councilman's home, and resulting in the discharge of the police chief and resignation of two councilmen, today opened on a new front.

BARDOLPH'S TRIAL IN BANK SHORTAGES POSTPONED

Delaware Scion Forced Down by Storm Near Greensburg

Richard du Pont, Jr., 24-year-old son of A. Felix du Pont, a vice president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, today winged a farewell to the mountainous slopes of Chestnut Ridge which had held him and his plane snowbound following a forced landing late Saturday, 14 miles southwest of Greensburg.

A dozen or so mountain folk waved their hats and cheered as the millionaire socialite and "Happy" O'Brien, manager of the Pittsburgh-Greensburg airport, "rode" the plane as it skidded and bumped down the side of the mountain, taking to the air barely in time to clear a copes of trees at the foot.

Young du Pont, smiling all the while finishing touches were being made for the take-off, said he was going on to Pittsburgh to visit friends at Sewickley.

Du Pont landed his ship, a J-6 Stearman, on the cliff's edge Saturday when he was blinded by the snowstorm that swept over the mountains.

A crew of farmers worked yesterday and today shoveling a path; a new battery was installed and the engine oil was heated over an oil stove in a farm house.

Du Pont was at the controls as the ship shook itself free of the snow and soared away to the City-County Airport.

HOSPITAL LEAP KILLS PATIENT

A leap from a window of his second-floor room, in Homestead Hospital today, caused the death of John Gegsinger, 78, of Duquesne road, Mifflin Township.

Gegsinger was found at 2:15 a. m. today in the hospital yard, beneath the window from which, a coroner's report stated, he had jumped.

While making rounds during the night, a nurse discovered the window of Gegsinger's room open and investigation led to the finding of his body.

Bandits Take $15 At Gas Station

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 6.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph.

Will Rogers

Funny thing, in the same paper Saturday that told about the Senate versus honesty, the Coolidge autobiography in that very day's installment said, "If the Senate has weakness it is because the people send men lacking in ability and character, but this is not the fault of the Senate. It can not choose its members. It has to work with what is sent to it. When I was elected Vice President I was going to learn the rules of the Senate, then I found that the Senate had but one rule and that was, that the Senate would do anything it wanted to do whenever it wanted to do it." Now there's the words of a man that listened to 'em for two years, and argued with 'em for six.

Yours, WILL.

MARY SHELLY . . . SHE LEADS PROM WITH A TRACK STAR

At least, that is the kind of music Mary Shelly, of Harrisburg, will hear when she leads the University of Pittsburgh junior prom Friday, February 17, at the William Penn Hotel, and Bill Keller, Pitt track star.

When Prom Chairman Keller and his committee could not agree on the orchestra or the style of music they wanted for the dance they asked the student body. In a straw poll the students agreed they wanted their prom music "soft, sweet and low" in preference to the "fast and hot" variety. One co-ed wrote on her ballot:

"Give me that sweet kind of rhythm—it's so romantic."

It was also learned from Walter Rome, dean of men at the university, that collegians are spending less on their proms in these times. He said:

"Last year the Junior prom cost $1,400, but this year it will be $800. The social program has been scaled down to the times."

Man Found in Store Held for Hearing

George Hickman, 24, is held in the County Jail pending a hearing today before Justice of the Peace P. H. Allen, of Dravosburg, on a charge of entering the confectionery of James Clark in McClure street, early Sunday.

Police Chief Charles A. Livingston said Hickman, wearing a white mask, was found crouching in the basement of the store when police were summoned by Clark to investigate a broken window. A suitcase and burlap sack filled with merchandise also were found in the store, Livingston said.

Search Under Way For Missing Student

Police throughout Pennsylvania have been enlisted in the search for Martin Robinstein, 16, Taylor Allderdice High School student, who disappeared from his home, 1115 Richmond street, last Thursday. He was described as average height and weighing 140 pounds. He was wearing a brown overcoat and a white turtle neck sweater at the time of his disappearance.

The honor was in recognition of Dr. Alvin's charity and medical work among the Italian residents of Pittsburgh. Among the speakers were the Rev. Florindo Francesco and Judge M. A. Musmanno.

The body will be brought here from Fort Myers, Fla., where Herron, former president of the board of California Teachers' College, died Saturday.

Herron, who occupied a seat in the Senate from 1918 to 1922, was a former president of the Monongahela City Trust Company and the Farmers and Miners National Bank of Bentleyville.

19 Arrested in Raids, One Man Fined $10

Walter Kubara, of 2756 Sarah street, was fined $10 in South Side Police Court yesterday. He was the only one of 19 persons arrested in nine raids who was fined by Magistrate John J. Sweeney. Small quantities of home brew and whisky were produced by police as evidence, but the defendants declared it was for their personal use.

Should Get New Deal After All This Shuffling

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Nobody asks what's wrong with Kansas now because the symptoms are no longer localized.

Whatever it is we've all got it. And it knits us closer together than a pair of grandma's mittens.

Curing the trouble is a tougher job than stomach-pumping a blimp. This Congress helped us like a buzz saw licking our wounds.

We welcome a new deal in March even though we have seen too much shuffling already.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, but we'd rather have egg stains on our vest.

SUCCOP READY TO MEET HIS FATE

'Didn't Do Anything Wrong,' Own View of Case

The former city purchasing agent sat staring into the fireplace in his modest home on the South Side, declaring ill will to no man. He said:

"What the hell! It's got to come; why not take it now?"

Succop today or later this week must surrender to serve a one-year sentence imposed after he and Mayor Kline were convicted of malfeasance last May in Butler.

CHILDREN IN COLLEGE

Succop, in his fifties, has both his children in college. Both his parents are living. His wife has been bedfast since Christmas.

He said:

"My children have confidence in me. They know I didn't do any wrong. I've had to tell my wife the news but I tried to break it easy. My father wants me to fight the case . . ."

How does Succop feel about Mayor Kline?

The telephone rang—the third time in 20 minutes. Another friend wanted to know if there was anything he could do.

Succop is reconciled to going to jail. When he comes out he's going back into politics. He feels he hasn't lost any friends. He explains:

"I'm going to run for something—anything, maybe dog catcher. I knew I had a lot of friends before this happened, but since it's happened I've met a lot of people that tell me they're for me."

WAR VETERAN

This is not the first crisis in Succop's career. At 17 he volunteered for the Spanish-American War. He served in the border fight at Mexico in 1916 and, out a few months, he reported for the World War. He came home a lieutenant-colonel.

He entered politics when, after the World War, then Mayor Babcock named him a police magistrate. His father before him had been the same. When Charles H. Kline succeeded Babcock he moved Succop to the supplies office.

During these years he has maintained a real estate business which, now, is like most offices. But if he has any complaint he sums it up in his oft-repeated phrase:

"What the hell!"

Her Dog Came Back and He's Well

WALKS DESPITE BROKEN BACK

Despite a broken back, Jack Piper, 28, of 1226 Buena Vista street, today walked into the grand jury room to appear as a witness for his wife. Three weeks ago Mrs. Piper was attacked by three men and suffered a broken collarbone. She filed charges against the men and the grand jury was to pass on the case today.

Piper, on January 19, was struck by an automobile at Diamond and Grant streets. Taken to Presbyterian Hospital, it was said his back was broken.

To aid his wife, Piper, on January 27, tore the cast off his back and left the hospital. Today when he appeared at the grand jury room he was bent almost double and in intense pain. He said he appeared to clear the name of his wife, and as soon as that task is accomplished he intends to return to the hospital. While in the hospital he was attended by Dr. S. J. Glass, of 516 Federal street, who vouched for the statement that Piper's back is broken.

Pet Dog, Sought After Biting Girl, Returned

Youth Sees Picture, Takes Terrier to Little Owner

Little Lois Jane's wire-haired terrier, "Duke," has returned and all is forgiven. The dog was brought back to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Broida, of 5532 Wilkins avenue, by a student. "Duke" disappeared after biting the hand of Lois Jane Broida, 6.

The doctor to whom Mrs. Broida had taken Lois Jane said the pup must be found and put under observation, to discover whether or not it was afflicted with rabies. Thereupon followed a thorough and frenzied search for "Duke." A youth, who did not disclose his identity, saw the picture of Lois Jane in the Sun-Telegraph Friday and recognized the description of the terrier. He found and returned the dog, which is now under observation.

Mrs. Broida regards the puppy with suspicion, but Lois Jane has made up with him and promises to forgive his breach of etiquette.

GIRL AND 3 MEN SENT TO JAIL

A 17-year-old McKeesport girl and three men went to the County Jail for 30 days today after the girl's story that she was abducted and held a captive in a shanty failed to impress Magistrate James J. Lundie in McKeesport Police Court.

Police said the girl, Mary Depiro, of 743 Indiana avenue, McKeesport, and Dan Collins, 50; Joe Brown, 30, and Joe White, 32, all of McKeesport, were found in the shanty Saturday night. The girl said she had run away from home and was forced to accompany the men, but her father, Joseph Depiro, testified she had left home under similar circumstances several times and he was unable to control her.

None of the four was able to pay a fine and all went to jail. White was fined $10 and costs on charges of resisting an officer, being a suspicious person and vagrancy and the others were fined $5 each.

Predicts Spiritual Rule by Jerusalem

Dr. Lion Feuchtwanger, German novelist, described his visions of a spiritual world rule emanating from Jerusalem in an address last night at the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association. He addad

"But this world rule I conceive of in quite different terms from that of the anti-Semite, and from those of some Jews. It should be, I think, a spiritual rule, and one only of the spirit."

2 Held as Witnesses To Fatal Stair Fall

Adam Kardonis, of 123 South Twenty-first street, died yesterday from a fractured skull suffered Saturday when he fell down a flight of steps, according to a police report. Joseph Valis, 38, of the same address, and Charles Clirom, 38, of 2223 Tustin street, were being held by South Side police as witnesses.

NESBIT TRUST TRIAL OPENS

The attempt of some 12 Pittsburgh and out-of-town creditor banks to break up an insurance trust created in 1928 by the late Harrison Nesbit, then president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., for his family, was to move into a Common Pleas Court room today.

The banks want to collect the $829,000 held in trust to reimburse themselves in part for their loss of about $1,200,000.

Chief drive of the claimants, whom Attorney William Watson Smith represents, will be to show that Nesbit was insolvent at the time he opened the trust, in 1928, and that he alone knew it. Attempts will be made to show that Nesbit knew that his chief asset—Bank of Pittsburgh stock—was not worth its quoted price at that time.

Nesbit was killed, October 31, 1931, in an auto accident, not long after the Bank of Pittsburgh failed.

Arrested in Raid, Escapes Dry Agents

Prohibition agents were searching for a prisoner who escaped from a club on the second floor of a building at Baum boulevard and Amber street while they were raiding it early yesterday morning. The suspect escaped after he had been arrested, the agents said.

The raid followed many efforts of the federal men to gain access to the club, they said. Beer, gin and whisky were reported confiscated.

Child Labor Stays, Woman Declares

Child labor has not been eliminated by the depression, Miss Beatrice McConnell, director of the state bureau of women and children of the department of Labor and Industry, told members of the League of Society Justice last night in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement. She urged strengthening of child labor legislation.

FRANKLIN CHIEF TO FACE TRIAL ON MARCH 6

Lawyers Hold Stories Prejudice Any Jury Against Defendant

The trial of Charles A. Bardolph, president of the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company, on charges of embezzlement and making false entries in the bank records, was postponed today to March 6.

Judge Samuel H. Gardner ordered the postponement just before the trial was scheduled to open today, upon petition of Bardolph's attorney, Charles B. Prichard, that newspaper articles published recently would prejudice "any jury that might be impanelled."

CITES STORIES

Referring to an article appearing in a Sunday paper yesterday undet the caption: "City, County Graft Probe Trial Opens, Bardolph Is First," Prichard said the article indicated that the Bardolph case was a part of a whole list of cases purported to have developed from a condition of graft and improper public actions by city and county employes. He declared:

"The effect of the publication is evidently to prejudice the public and influence the public and all jurors impanelled."

He asserted Bardolph would not receive a fair trial, adding that another paper recently printed an article quoting former Deputy Secretary of Banking George F. Taylor, in charge of the bank, as saying:

"We feel we have adequate proof with which to convict those guilty of ruining the bank."

DENIES SCHOOLEY LINK

In presenting his motion for postponement, Prichard contended that the Bardolph case has no connection with former City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley's case. He said:

"It's a banking matter and not political."

Assistant District Attorney Harry R. Phillips opposed the motion which was made before both Judge Gardner, sitting as president judge in Criminal Court, and Judge William H. McNaugher, assigned as the trial judge. Judge Gardner ruled:

"The jury might be improperly prejudiced. The newspapers should be very cautious."

Bardolph was indicted by the 1932 April grand jury, which held him responsible for defalcation of about $300,000 in the resources of the bank and charged him with perjury and conspiracy in addition.

The latter indictments were returned against him, together with R. T. Armstrong, vice president of the bank; Herman Friedman, second mortgage dealer, and David Kellerman, of the agricultural exchange.

The County Commissioners have authorized payment of $23,169 to R. H. Cunningham and Sons Company for work on the Clever road and the West End-North Side Bridge. This was done Saturday after auditors had assured them there was still nearly $100,000 due the company for work on two contracts now under investigation.

Suspect Traced Here In Slaying of Girl

Search for a man with a scratched face, wanted by New York police in connection with the killing of 15-year-old Mary Helen O'Connor, turned to Pittsburgh today.

Particles of flesh under the girl's fingernails indicated she had scratched her assailant's face, and police have broadcast for a man so injured.

Such a man was seen on a New York to Pittsburgh bus last Friday, police were told last night by an unidentified woman, who said she was also a passenger on the bus. The man alighted in East Liberty, the woman said in a telephone conversation. Police in that district were asked by detectives to instigate a search for him.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—As the body of his murdered daughter, 15-year-old Mary Helen O'Connor, was being lowered into the grave today, James O'Connor raised his right hand over his head and took an oath to avenge her death.

As the body was being lowered into the ground, O'Connor and his wife sobbed. The father leaned forward and dropped a white carnation on the casket. Suddenly he raised his right hand and said:

Hotel Guest Swallows Poison, Dies in Leap

Ben Nydes, 35, of 3453 Milwaukee street, leaped to death from an eighteenth story window of the Roosevelt Hotel yesterday after swallowing poison, according to a Coroner's report.

In the room which he had engaged Saturday under the name of Max Cohen, police found two letters to his brothers, indicating his health had failed and asking them to care for his wife and children.

Robert Boone, of Atlanta, Ga., from his room on the eighth floor, told police he saw the body topple downwards into a wire screen covering a skylight on the fourth floor.

POMP ELIMINATED AT INTERNATIONAL ART EXHIBITION

GOTHAM SHOW BEING HELD IN SKYSCRAPER

By PENELOPE REDD

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The international exhibition of paintings assembled by the College Art Association was presented to the public yesterday on the twenty-seventh floor of the RKO Building in Rockefeller Center. This skyscraper show eliminates the pomp of art institutions, the performing drum majors, and other phenomena that we associate with so momentous an affair as an international.

Miss Redd

The suave elevator which conducts ascending visitors to the galleries symbolizes the ease and speed that expedited the show. Mrs. Audrey McMahon and Mrs. Frances Pollak, of the College Art Association, regarded their task as a blithe adventure. Within three months in Europe, they had assembled canvases representing more than 250 painters. Within 36 hours after the arrival of the paintings in New York, they were ready for the press view.

GALLERIES SMALL

The galleries in RKO are rather small, with glimpses of the paintings in the room beyond to entice the visitor and thus defeat art's enemy, gallery fatigue. The effect of the whole is of an exhibition gathered with enthusiasm, hung without too great deliberation, and passed on to the public without undue solemnity.

The American section of 50 paintings again shines forth as it did at the last Carnegie International as a consistently vital group. Germany, with 38 canvases, is the runner-up for a high average of vigor.

In the French group one discovers all of the familiar great, including older men as Bonnard and futurities such as Berrard, born within the present century.

BRITONS SURPRISE

One finds it difficult to believe that the British section is from England. Accustomed as we are in Pittsburgh to a majority of paintings in the grand manner, attached to well-worn names, many of the British painters se-selected for the College Art Association's international astound with their initiative.

In the Italian, Spanish, Russian, Polish, Austrian and Hungarian sections, novelty is the rule to our bewildered amusement. To represent the countries that appear in our Pittsburgh shows as the minor ones, Mrs. McMahon has contrived, through some alchemy of hard work and ingenuity, likeable collections.

Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Scandinavia, countries that are the ebb of our Pittsburgh internationals, command respectful consideration in the College Art Association's show.

While the exhibition at Rockefeller Center lacks the focal advantage of prizes, the visitor may exercise his free will all the more.

In the German section are haunting pictures by Kandinsky, Kaus and Janssen. The French list includes stimulating paintings by Chagell, Rouvault, Georg, Matisse, Legeult, Roy, Bonnard and De Segonzac. Two of the best canvases in the show are by Matthew Smith and Paul Nash in the British section.

Russia has a dramatic genre by Bebutova. Sweden contributes a superb figure by Grunewald; Norway produces a provoking portrait by Per Krogh. Belgium has a happy Ensor.

HUMOR KEYNOTE

Throughout the RKO exhibition, gaiety prevails. In every section, there are paintings well on the side of humor. The fact that the paintings are frankly exhibited as a temporary show and are not burdened with the onus of official honors or displayed as if they were already attached to museum walls for posterity, reinforces the spontaniety of the occasion. Prize awards are replaced by a fund for purchase.

Incidentally, this international was assembled at a cost so reasonable that the many top flight museums throughout the land who intend to exhibit the show during the year may do so without depleting their treasuries.

All of which reminds us, there was once a small boy named David who found giants just too tiresome. The "College Art Association's International 1933" will be on view at RKO through February 26.

SANDINO AIDES ACCEPT PEACE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The followers of the liberal Gen. Augusto Sandino have agreed to comply with a peace settlement the leader reached last week with President Juan Bautista Sacasa and other government officials, said a statement issued today by a member of a commission Sandino empowered to carry on preliminary negotiations.

The statement, issued by Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda, said that after leaving Managua upon the completion of the conference last week Gen. Sandino went to his headquarters, a place called Embocadero, in the mountains, and there told his forces of the agreement for peace he had reached. His officers and soldiers then "unanimously accepted" the agreement and promised to heed the wishes of their leader.

As a result of the trip by plane to Managua, Dr. Zepeda said, Gen. Sandino had suffered and attack of grip, but had recovered and intended to go tomorrow to San Rafael del Norte, where the troops will begin laying down their arms.

KAHNS PAY UP FOR EX-WIVES

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(Universal.)—The Kahn boys, Roger and Gilbert, sons of the famous financier, have found that the husband always pays, it was revealed today.

Gilbert Kahn, just married to Sara Jane Heliker, showgirl, found it necessary before the ceremony to pay in full a bill from a Fifth avenue gown shop for frocks purchased by his former wife, Anne Whelan, who recently went shopping for a Reno divorce.

And Roger Kahn, although separated from his wife, Hannah Williams Kahn, decided to pay the $625 she owed the same shop before the case came to trial.

BENEFIT MOVIE HELD SUCCESS

Yesterday's Sunday food benefit for Father Cox at the Rialto Theater, Mt. Oliver, was another big success. It is estimated that approximately 2½ tons of canned goods and package groceries were donated by the 5,000 persons who saw this show. Considering the size of the theater, this was an unusually large amount of food. Father Cox wants to express his appreciation to Manager Weiland, of the theater, his employes and all others who donated their services, and also to the big audiences that came to his aid at a time when he most needed it.

Other independent theaters have asked for the privilege of holding similar Sunday shows for the benefit of Father Cox, and dates will be announced later.

The Sun-Telegraph-Father Cox subscription drive is still swinging along with fine results. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page gives Father Cox a liberal cash commission for his unemployment relief fund.

BALFOUR HERE, GLOOMY

The business outlook in the United States fails to encourage investment of foreign money here, in the view of James Moncrieff Balfour, head of three of Great Britain's largest investment trusts, who is the guest of Pittsburgh financiers and industrialists today.

Until American, British and European governments adjust the international muddle and revise tariffs so trade can be re-established, Mr. Balfour expects no improvement. He described the situation as out of the hands of business leaders and resting upon the politicians.

Mr. Balfour scoffed at th. report of huge steel orders to be placed here.

Mr. Balfour, who also is chief of the British Persian Commission, was luncheon guest at the Duquesne Club. He will address 150 leaders at a dinner in Pittsburgh Club tonight. J. C. Chaplin, president of Colonial Trust Company, will be host.

Woman Who Shot Doctor, Self Dies

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. John Courtney, 68, died yesterday of a bullet wound in the abdomen which, police said, she inflicted after she shot and wounded Dr. Karl Rotluff, 32, a Bonner Springs physician, Friday.

Dr. Rotluff, who suffered only a flesh wound, was quoted by police as saying he had been harassed by Mrs. Courtney, whom he once treated for nervousness.

Swimmers Flee In Cold, Leave Clothing

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 6.—Police have a lot of clothing and a lot of sympathy for a group of boys—but the boys probably won't call for either. Steamship company officials complained the boys were swimming nude in the Christian River. When the boys saw police they fled in various stages of undress. The temperature was only 20 degrees above zero—which explains the sympathy.

SLAYING LAID TO 'TRIANGLE'

DELAWARE, O., Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Authorities of Northern and Eastern Ohio today were enlisted in an extensive search for the slayer of Whit Presley, 43, farmer residing near Berkshire.

Working on a "triangle" theory, officials here have asked for the apprehension of a Sunbury (O.) man, who is accused by Presley's widow, Ida, 30, of the killing. Mrs. Presley told officials that her husband had been threatened two weeks ago by a man who warned Presley to "let my wife alone." At the time, Mrs. Presley said, her husband denied any association with the suspect's wife.

Presley was slain by a bullet in the barnyard of his farm as he was doing his chores yesterday afternoon. The shot entered his chest.

SUSPECTS TOUR HOLDUP SCENES

A pair of suspects who detectives say admitted the killing of Charles F. Huber in the holdup of his drug store, Paulson avenue, last Wednesday, were being conducted to scenes of their alleged former holdups today by homicide sleuths.

Lieut. Frank Ferris said yesterday he intended to lay a score of holdups to Abe Liebman, 18, of 42 Reed street, and John Kerchek, 20, of Vine street, before he turns them over to the Coroner for an inquest into the death of the druggist.

Yesterday they were taken to the Jackson Pharmacy, 901 North St. Clair street; the Lee Drug Company, 2338 Carson street, and to a shoe repair shop in Fifth avenue. Police said the youths admitted robbing the places.

Five other youths, arrested with the pair, were discharged yesterday in Morals Court. They were Louis and James Manfredo, of 2 Roberts street; Robert Freeman, Negro, of Rowan street; Harry Schmoker, 16, of Reed street, and Liebman's brother, Joseph.

Ex-Harvard Athlete Saved from Auto Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—H. Covington Janin, 37, San Francisco broker who played end on the Harvard football team a decade ago, was pulled from the burning wreckage of his motor car here today with his injuries confined to a few scratches. The car burst into flames after hitting a pole and turning over.

DENY HARMFUL EFFECTS FROM ALUMINUM

A report of six years' research by the Mellon Institute today blasted as a myth the impression that aluminum cooking utensils might taint foods, making them unsafe to eat, or cause disease.

Findings of the institute were announced in a booklet entitled "A Select, Annotated Bibliography on the Hygienic Aspects of Aluminum and Aluminum Utensils," with an introduction by George D. Beal, assistant director of the institute. It includes a detailed survey of scientific findings on the use of aluminum over a period of some 40 years.

The research was conducted by a multiple fellowship financed by the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Company of America. Dr. Gerald J. Cox, physiologist, and Dr. Erich W. Schwartze headed the research as senior fellows. Work began in 1926.

CANCER STORY DENIED

Allegations that use of aluminum is contributive to the growth of cancer are branded as "absurd."

The survey points out that only oxygen and silicon represent a higher percentage of the earth's crust than aluminum. It is present in plants and animals everywhere, although, since it is insoluble, in small quantities.

That aluminum in small quantities is absolutely harmless to the human body is a conclusion reached in the survey. In experiments with feeding salts of aluminum to guinea pigs and rats, it was found that their systems passed off excess amounts with impunity.

INDUSTRY IS HEALTHY

An overdose of the metallic salts would have about the same effect on the body as an overdose of table salts, it was found.

The aluminum industry is, moreover, free from occupational diseases, the study proclaims.

VALLEY GROUP TO OFFER AID IN PROJECT

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—A small empire coming of age through the unleashing of its vast natural resources was visioned here today after President-elect Roosevelt announced he eyed the Ohio Valley for an economic and industrial project.

Mr. Roosevelt's proposal to spread population and employment by reforestation, flood control and agricultural development in the Tennessee watershed was indorsed by W. C. Culkins, secretary of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association. Culkins said:

"We shall write him immediately and offer the assistance of our association in planning a program for the Ohio Valley."

LINK TO LAKES

Hope that the Ohio River might be linked with the Great Lakes was expressed by Culkins. He said a project of the scope Mr. Roosevelt contemplates along the Tennessee River, when applied to the Ohio valley, no doubt, would bring up the possibility of a waterway from Lake Erie to the Ohio.

He pointed to the Ohio valley as perhaps the richest in natural resources—forests, fields, mines and water—and said hydro-electric development particularly would be a boon. The Ohio River is largely unsuited for water power projects, but Culkins said its tributaries offer bountiful opportunities.

Government engineers have been surveying the river for the last two years.

The Tennessee and Mississippi River sections will benefit from development of the Ohio valley, he said, and vice versa.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

The Ohio Valley, Culkins said, would be admirably suited for the proposal the President-elect has in mind for the Tennessee watershed. Improvements have been in progress for several years, notably the Miami valley flood control plan, which Mr. Roosevelt regards as ideal for application in other ports of the country.

After the loss of more than 400 lives in a flood in 1913 which almost wiped out the city of Dayton, O., and caused great damage to other cities, the small but one-time powerful Miami River was shackled.

The cities along the river are protected by an elaborate system of dams, which create what engineers call "dry reservoirs," or retarding basins.

The project was completed in 1921 at a cost of more than $34,000,000, and engineers have estimated its benefits since then at more than $77,000,000.

MAE MARKEY, 13

Desires to Aid Her Classmates—Many Send Cards

Widespread interest in the "Junior Patrol" now being organized by the Sun-Telegraph is evidenced by the hundreds of pledge cards arriving daily from boys and girls throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Pretty 13-year-old Mae Markey, of 1403 Martha street, Munhall, said today she is going to organize the patrol among the pupils in her eighth grade class.

She explained:

"I want to help other people and I'm going to do all I can to organize a Junior Patrol among my classmates."

For those boys and girls who have not heard of the "Junior Patrol" turn to the comic page and read the new comic strip "Junior," by Quin Hall. You will find a pledge card opposite the comic.

The organization is for both boys and girls and is intended to help others at home, at play and at school.

BRITISH BUYING DRIVE HITS U. S. COAL TRADE

The effect of "Buy British" on Pennsylvania coal has catapulted the trade downward so that from 1924 to 1930, records showed a drop of nearly 1,500,000 tons, it was revealed yesterday.

The fall in trade, with Pennsylvania producers and employes the losers, came to light with a request filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce the rates of nine railroads hauling coal from Pennsylvania to Canada.

A reduction in rates would allow Pennsylvania mines to compete with British-mined coal. From England and Germany last year, Canada imported well over 1,000,000 tons of anthracite alone.

Aspinwall Council has joined the "Buy American" group, it was announced yesterday. The borough's legislators, in indorsing the movement, asked the residents to support it as a means to crush unemployment.

FARRELL, Pa., Feb. 6.—Members of Preston H. Carroll Post, No. 160, American Legion, have adopted a resolution demanding that Farrell merchants offer for sale only merchandise produced in America. Dr. Joseph B. Dodds was appointed chairman of a committee to inform the merchants of the post's action.

CAFE, 2 SHOPS BURN IN BUTLER

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Fire Chief I. S. Zorb today estimated the damage from flames which swept three business places in the shopping section of Butler at approximately $18,000.

Firemen labored for three hours late yesterday before the blaze, whipped by a sharp wind, was finally brought under control.

Starting in the Drake auto accessory shop, the fire spread rapidly through the structure and to the buildings on either side—George's restaurant and the Churngold general store.

500,000 'Finger Nail' Bivalve Mollusks In Carnegie Group

A collection of more than 500,000 "Finger Nail" clams, the largest of its kind in the world, is now a part of the Carnegie Museum.

The clams range in size from a mere pin point to one-half inch. They were collected by the late Dr. Victor Sterki, 86, who was assistant curator of invertebrate zoology in the museum at the time of his death. It took him the greater part of his life to gather the rare specimens of molluscan life, which come from every corner of the globe.

Dr. S. T. Brooks, 30-year-old curator at the museum is now in charge of the minute animal life. Following the death of Dr. Sterki, last month, he shipped cabinets containing 175 drawers of the clams from New Philadelphia, O., to the museum where they will be preserved. Dr. Brooks said:

"The death of Dr. Sterki left no living authority on this line of work and if I live to be 90 I will never be able to take his place."

CALL IN BONDS ON APARTMENT

Holders of $188,000 in bonds against the Terrace Court Apartments, Douglas street and Shady avenue, have been called upon to deposit their bonds with the Real Estate Bondholders' Protective Committee of New York for a financial reorganization.

In the call for the deposit of bonds, the committee states that it has been advised that sufficient money is not available for current payments of interest, amortization and taxes. Terrace Court and seven other properties in New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo and Pelham Manor, N. Y., have been placed in the hands of the committee for readjustment.

The committee states that as soon as a majority of bonds of each issue are deposited with it, an expert examination of the properties will follow to determine the course of action.

Science Reveals Way to Liven 'Dead Pans'

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Discovery of a high-speed method of grafting living human nerves from the leg to the face was announced today by the Milbank Memorial Fund.

It is used to restore more quickly to victims of facial palsy both control of muscles and of emotional expression. Thus far, according to the announcement, it has speeded up the facial restoration by three to eight fold.

A sensory nerve is taken from the patient's leg and spliced much like a rope into the deadened section of the facial nerve. The leg, after temporarily losing part of its "feeling," automatically restores itself to complete sensation.

A COLD Goes Thru 3 Stages!

And Relief Is Far Easier in the First Than in the Second or Third Stages!

A cold ordinarily progresses through three stages: the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. The first stage is when treatment is most effective.

To stop a cold in the first stage, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It does the four things necessary. Opens the bowels, kills the germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and tones the entire system. Anything less than that is trifling with a cold. All drug stores sell Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE. Be sure you get that and nothing else. Now two sizes—30c and 50c.

PIRATES OPEN FOR HELPFUL DICKER

In addition to the adoption of a card of playing dates for the coming pennant race, the schedule meeting of the National League in New York tomorrow may produce something of interest in the form of a trade or two. If anything further is to be done in that line, it probably will develop while the club officials are gathered. It is known that several deals have been proposed since the December session, and that final decisions were deferred until the moguls could get together and talk things over to better advantage.

Sam Watters

Developments at this meeting will determine whether there is to be any change in the Pittsburgh roster before training time, apart from the transfer of one player to Kansas City next week to complete the deal for Pitcher Hal Smith. If any Pirate trade is made, it is likely to be only a minor one. The management probably would be willing to part with one or more second-stringers if it could better itself, and Vice President Sam Watters, who left this morning to represent the Pittsburgh club at the session, is prepared to swing a trade for this material provided anything more useful to the Bucs is offered in exchange.

DISCUSSING THE GREAT baseball clubs and leaders of the bygone, Connie Mack says that, as a bench manager, Edward Hanlon belongs among the game's immortals. Hanlon not only won three pennants with the famous old Baltimore Orioles and two more with Brooklyn, but he developed some of the sport's brightest stars.

Among them were John McGraw, Hugh Jennings, Joe Kelley, Willie Keeler, Steve Brodie, Bill Clarke, Joe McGinnity, Jimmy Sheckard, Joe Corbett, Bill Hoffer and many others. Mack himself played under Hanlon, right here in Pittsburgh. That was in 1891, following the disbandment of the Brotherhood.

HANLON SERVED TWO separate engagements as manager of the Pittsburgh club. The first was in 1889, when he succeeded Horace Phillips. In 1890, Ned jumped to the local club in the Players' League, along with Ed Morris, Jimmy Galvin and so many others that only four men—Billy Sunday, Doggy Miller, Fred Dunlap and Bill Sowders—remained loyal to the older team.

Returning to the Nationals here the following year, Hanlon again was made manager, but was dismissed in August to be succeeded by William McGunnigle.

THE OWNERS OF the Cubs do not expect that Tut Stainback, the young outfielder claimed from the Los Angeles farm, will be ripe for a trial before 1934, but they're taking no chances on seeing his value as a prospect lessened or destroyed in the meantime. Accordingly, baseball has been carried into the insurance office again. Through the Los Angeles club, a $75,000 accident policy has been taken out on the youthful gardener. The sum is distributed, $25,000 on his right arm and the same sum on each leg. Californians go in for that sort of safeguarding of their baseball chattels. A number of years ago, Jimmy O'Connell was insured for $75,000 and Willie Kamm for $100,000. Those were the respective sums for which the two players were sold to the Giants and White Sox.

Gordon Slade

AS CASEY STENGEL puts it, there are two kinds of shortstops—the sort that makes hard chances look easy, and the kind that makes easy chances look impossible. There are some who rate with the former variety, but who can't hit. Gordon Slade is one of them.

A great fielder and thrower, Slade is deplorably weak with the stick, and one of Max Carey's problems in the spring will be to improve him. Max tried it last year by making a choke hitter of Slade, but it didn't work out. Now the Dodger pilot is going to try some other means, rendered desperate by the fact that if Glenn Wright doesn't hold up, Slade will be Brooklyn's only hope at shortstop.

THE LETTER FROM Robert J. Watson, published recently, brought another interesting communication, this one from Attorney Waldo P. Breeden. "Your contributor, Mr. Watson, makes timely mention of Hershberger and O'Dea as the longest kickers in football," he writes. "The Hershberger referred to is Clarence Hershberger, of Chicago, 1894 to 1898, the best kicker of his day, if not of all time.

"Predecessor and superior to Walter Eckersall, his feats have been overshadowed by the luster of the latter, who shone at a time when football began to be highly publicized. Hershberger, a Peoria (Ill.) boy, was, though not fast of foot, a fine ball carrier, built and gaited similar to Carl Bohren, of Pitt.

"THE GREAT KICKER had a toe so well educated that placement goals from the center of the field did not seem extra difficult for him, and his spiral punts carried on similar maneuvers to a spitball in baseball. His contemporary, O'Dea, of Wisconsin, an Australian by birth, was the brother of the crew coach at the same university. O'Dea was of similar build to Dr. Jock Sutherland and too slow to be much of a ball carrier, but was often in the fullback position for his punting and dropkicking. His efforts had great carry, but not the accuracy of Hershie's, as always proved the case when the two met.

"HOWEVER, TWO GREAT kickers of the same day must not be overlooked. They were Richards, of Wisconsin, who came on just before O'Dea and was the latter's teacher, and Dewitt, of Princeton, who kicked occasionally, and extremely well.

"Hershie's parents kept him out of school one fall, 1895, to prevent his participation in football. While at home Clarence accidentally shot himself through the hand, whereupon his parents decided that it was safer for him to play football than stay at home."

THE WEST COAST admits it saw some new tricks in pro football when the Green Bay Packers played two games there recently. One was worked from the Packers' system of using a loose back who wanders wide to one side or the other Sometimes it's an end.

In this case, an end went way out wide and they fired a long forward pass to him. Instead of running with the ball, the end, in turn, threw a lateral back in toward the center of the field to one of the backs, thereby reversing the old double pass play from a back to an end and taking their opponents completely by surprise for a long gain.

Pete Bostwick

ENGLISH JOCKEYS WILL have a formidable American rival to contend with in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, Liverpool, on March 24. George A. (Pete) Bostwick, young millionaire sportsman of New York and the undisputed champion cross-country rider of the United States, is determined to have a mount in the famous event and is now in England getting himself in condition. He says he will solicit a mount, if necessary, and if he fails to land a good one he will buy one of the eligibles and ride him.

The weekly professional boxing show in Motor Square Garden and the finals in the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. junior championship tournament are on the agenda—there's a word for you—for the boxing fans of Pittsburgh tonight. The amateurs wind up four nights of battling in the gymnasium of the Keystone Athletic Club.

Harry Dublinsky

Tony Falco

Harry Dublinsky, of Chicago, and Tony Falco, of Philadelphia, lightweight stars, are the headline artists at the Garden. Ordinarily a meeting between two out-of-town boxers would mean nothing, or less, here, but both of these young gentlemen have thrilled the local fans before, and they will be welcomed back. Dublinsky recently stopped Frankie Bojarski at the Garden, while Falco has appeared in battles against Johnny Datto at the Arena and Tony Herrera at the Garden. Both have class and a punch.

TEST FOR ALABAMA

The Alabama Kid, Negro southpaw middleweight, of Dover, O., who has stopped Jimmy Belmont, Davy Grove and Paul Oger, and won over Red Bush since coming into local prominence, meets Rosy (Kid) Baker, of Indianapolis, in the eight-round semi-final. Baker has boxed Paul Pirrone, Sammy Slaughter, Jackie Purvis, Pete LaCrosse, Frankie Palmo, Norman Brown, Tony DeMarco, Lonnie Bowden, Billy Rose and others of renown, and should be able to make the Alabama strut handsomely.

Freddie Edwards, of East Liverpool, O., boxes Max Elling, of the Hill, in the second bout, and Johnny Hazel, of Hazelwood, meets Johnny Horner, of Brownsville, in the opener, which goes on promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The Edwards-Elling bout is a repeat, Edwards having won a decision over Maxie in the same ring recently.

Beginning with this show, the Garden cuts its prices to $1.10 and $2.20. There will be no $3 seats.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: THE BLIND BOY PRODIGY—The 12-year-old boy was a Hebrew teacher in Sniatyn, Poland, and his name is derived from the Hebrew word meaning "teacher." Having lost his eyesight in infancy, he spent his childhood listening to Bible students, until, at the age of 12, he had memorized the Bible and its commentaries (Rashi and Rambam) so thoroughly that he was able to recite any passage from memory and engage in the teaching of the Bible to older students. Although he had never seen a word of it, no error of pronunciation or reading of the Scriptures ever passed undetected in his presence. He was also a good swimmer and there are many American citizens, natives of his town, now living in America, who have been pupils of the young prodigy in both Bible studies and swimming.

WARNER NAMES ASSISTANTS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—J. Charles Winterburn, Fred Swan and Heinie Miller have been selected by Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, Temple University's new football coach, to assist him this season. Earl R. Yeomans, graduate manager of athletics, announced this afternoon.

Although neither Winterburn nor Swan has signed a contract yet, Yeomans said both have accepted terms offered by the school for one-year appointments.

Winterburn, associated with Warner at Stanford University for seven years, will coach the ball carriers; Swan, now at the University of Wisconsin, will handle the line, while Miller, who was displaced as head coach by Warner, will remain in an advisory capacity and as head scout.

Both Winterburn and Swan are former pupils of Warner's. Winterburn played for Pitt in 1921, 1922 and 1923, starring at right halfback and quarterback. Swan is a Stanford graduate and played guard for three years, captaining the Cardinals in 1927 when he was a senior.

Yeomans said that nothing would be done about the selection of a freshman football coach until next fall.

Sarazen II Nears 'Caliente Track Mark

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Sarazen II, racing for Ben Johnson, came within two-fifths of a second of the track record for six furlongs in winning the featured race at the Agua Caliente Jockey Club track here yesterday.

The 6-year-old gelding, carrying top weight of 113 pounds, ran the distance in 1:11 in the Peggy Hopkins Joyce claiming race named after the screen actress Sarazen II won by a length from Las Palmas, with Flagtime, the favorite, getting the show. Miss Joyce was on hand to greet W. D. Wright, the winning jockey.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Jim Corbett is reported near death as these lines are being written . . . The man on the street pauses to read the headlines . . . Jim Corbett is no ordinary mortal at death's door . . . He is an immortal . . . His name will live on, and on, and on, as that of the man who whipped the mighty John L. Sullivan to win the world heavyweight boxing championship.

We of the present generation recall the vivid details of the defeat of Jack Dempsey by Gene Tunney in Philadelphia . . . The world refused to believe it . . . Even after Tunney did it again, in Chicago, a year later, there were those who doubted the genuineness of his triumphs . . . Dempsey had pricked the popular imagination as an unbeatable great . . . He was the reincarnation of Sullivan, the Roaring Bull of Boston, the Strong Boy . . . If you recall the utter confusion of the masses when Dempsey was toppled from his throne by the amazing Tunney, multiply that befuddlement many thousands of times and you will have some idea of how news of Sullivan's defeat by the dandy of his time, Jim Corbett, the former bank clerk, stunned the multitudes . . . They tell an amusing story of the man who refused to believe the news of Sullivan's crushing defeat by Corbett until he saw it detailed in cold type and pictures in the Police Gazette, the sports authority of the times in the barber shops and barrooms . . . That made it "official."

They called Corbett Gentleman Jim, and it is said he heartily disliked the appellation . . . They called him that because he brought a new type into the boxing game . . . Just as Dempsey was a new Sullivan, with his thundering fists, so the polished Tunney was a duplicate more or less of Corbett, and each accomplished the downfall of the bully of his era.

They feared for the frail Corbett's life when he met Sullivan, and they feared for Tunney's life when he fought Dempsey the first time . . . Yet each won with ridiculous ease, proving the supremacy of skill over brute strength and murderous intent . . . The analogy is carried out all along the line . . . It was Corbett who first introduced science into the ring, and it was Tunney who revived it when the reviving was necessary . . . Both Corbett and Tunney were men of ideals, and both carried on these ideals after they retired to more prosaic pursuits.

It was just after Tunney's first victory over Dempsey, and Corbett was a visitor in Pittsburgh on one of his lecture tours after a considerable experience on the stage . . . He was being interviewed by this writer, who wanted to know what he thought of Tunney's victory, while cries of "fake" and "fix" were following in the wake of the bout . . . Corbett found in the outcome a parallel to his victory over Sullivan . . . He told how he, a clever boxer, had hounded Sullivan for a match, how he had deliberately set about psychologically to get "the old man's goat," relating how he had tossed insults and slurs in his direction at every turn, how he had gone to the scene of their battle dressed in his fanciest best to impress Sullivan that here was the "dandy," unruffled and unafraid at the zero hour, how he had studiously ignored the baleful glare of the Sullivan eyes as they sat in the opposite corners awaiting the bell, how he had planned his bout in advance to let the dissipated Sullivan wear himself out with his wild rushes, and then go on to the "kill." . . . The plan worked out to perfection, and Sullivan went down and out in the twenty-first round . . . And so was

DODGERS SIGN OTTO MILLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced receipt of the signed contracts of Coach Otto Miller and Pitcher Ed Pipgras. Miller has been with the club for 20 years. Pipgras, a rookie, is a brother of George Pipgras, veteran hurler for the New York Yankees.

Babe Ruth has changed his mind about having any further conferences with Yankee officials over his salary here and plans to leave with his family for St. Petersburg, Fla., within a few days.

The Babe's aim is to get an early start at getting into condition. As a result of his decision any further dickering over his slashed salary will have to be done under the palms, probably after the Yankees go into camp there.

Carey Sets Unofficial Auto Speed Record

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Bob Carey, of Indianapolis, national automobile racing champion last year, won the 100-mile feature race on the dirt track at Oakland Speedway yesterday in what track observers believed to be record-breaking time of 59 minutes 33.9 seconds.

W.P.I.A.L. to Set Tournament Dates

George Cassler, chairman of the W. P. I. A. L. basketball committee, will call a meeting this week to arrange plans and dates for the annual elimination series between the 18 sectional winners.

The majority of the games will be played off in the Pitt Stadium pavillion, it is reported. The league races end on February 21.

Several of the playoffs may be staged out-of-town to avoid unnecessary expenses.

DAVIES FIVE, GENEVA MEET TOMORROW

GAMES TONIGHT

West Virginia vs. Georgetown, at Washington.
Bethany vs. Westminster, at New Wilmington.
Concord vs. New River, at Montgomery.

By JESS CARVER

It begins to look as if the second Pitt-Duquesne basketball game, which will be played in the Stadium Pavilion Feb. 17, will be THE big game of the entire campaign, with a flock of titles and things hinging on its outcome.

The city rivals have been moving along far ahead of the district pack and apparently are destined to wind up even further in the van than they are at present. Return games with the Dukes, Tech, West Virginia and Wash-Jeff are ahead for Pitt, while the Dukes have Carnegie, West Virginia, Wash-Jeff, Geneva and Grove City to meet before winding up their campaign. They'll get past two of these obstacles this week, taking on Geneva tomorrow night at Beaver Falls and meeting West Virginia here Saturday.

NEXT GAME IMPORTANT

The game on the seventeenth may decide the resting place of the city championship and that of the district as well. A victory for Pitt will throw matters into a deadlock as far as the city race is concerned, provided, of course, that both teams can repeat their earlier triumphs over Carnegie Tech, which is by no means assured. The Dukes couldn't do it last year, and Tech wasn't as strong as at present.

Tomorrow's game with Geneva becomes doubly important to the Bluffites. Should they bow to the Covenanters and to Pitt also, it would give the Panthers the edge in its claims for championship honors, provide the Carlson warriors can beat the Dukes in the second clash.

Both quintets picked up added laurels last week. The Panthers went East and won a pair of easy triumphs, walloping Fordham and the Army. Duquesne won over Geneva and Westminster after tough battles. Carnegie Tech, in its only start of the week, lost to Notre Dame at South Bend after a very torrid fracas and by a disputed goal.

Besides the Dukes and Pitt, West Virginia and Waynesburg won two games last week. The Mountaineers trounced Mariette and then nosed out Wash-Lee as they set out on an extended road trip, while Waynesburg annihilated Thiel and Allegheny.

Pitt's games this week both offer the Panthers something along the line of real tests. Wednesday the Panthers must take on the troublesome Western Reserve quintet, a veteran aggregation that enjoys the enviable reputation of having beaten Pitt two years in a row. On Saturday the Pitts move into the Midwest for a return engagement with Notre Dame at South Bend.

Carnegie Tech makes its only journey to the wars Saturday night by playing this same Reserve team in Cleveland.

SMITH TOPS SCORERS

Capt. Don Smith, of Pitt, still is out front in the race for individual scoring honors with 88 points rolled up in 13 games. Claire Cribbs, the Pitt center star, has 79 in 10 games and Skippy Hughes and Don McCamant have 74.

Paul Birch, Duquesne's sophomore, who has had considerable experience for a second-year man, has totaled 71 markers, while Bob Smith, of Tech, has 73. Cribbs has scored the most field goals, 33.

In the Tri-State Conference, Rab Currie, of Waynesburg, has a three-point lead over Douglas, of Westminster with 53 to the Titan star's 50. Cliff Aultman, crack Geneva performer, has 40. The Covenanters are unbeaten in the Conference, with four victories and no defeats . . . exactly the same records as has been compiled by Pitt in the Intercollegiate Conference. Grove City is trailing Geneva and Tech is following Pitt.

GRID RULES COMMITTEE EXPECTED TO MAKE FEW CHANGES

SIX REVISIONS SUGGESTED BY COACHES

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The National Football Rules Committee goes into annual mid-winter session this week-end, ready to study the means by which the game can be improved through alterations in the playing code.

Out of their deliberations at Green Hill Farm, Overbrook, Pa., Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will come either a revised code or an announcement of satisfaction with the rules as they stand.

FEW CHANGES SEEN

The chances are that the rule-makers will decide upon a few minor adjustments, but that there will be no such series of drastic changes as were ordered at this time last year following the 1931 season, when some 50 lives were lost on the football playing field.

The rules committee, in its annual report to the National Collegiate A. A., opposed any radical alterations in the code, taking the position that the rules, as revised, had accomplished their purpose of making the game safe for the players. The report did advocate restrictions on the indiscriminate use of the forward pass and this matter probably will be one of the chief items up for discussion.

CHANGES ADVOCATED

The committee likewise will consider six changes in the rules advocated by the American Football Coaches' Association. Meeting here Saturday the Coaches suggested elimination of the side-line play; recommended that no ineligible man (tackles, guards, center) shall be permitted to pass beyond the line of scrimmage on a forward pass play until the pass is thrown; suggested that whenever an agreement is reached between contesting teams, time may be kept on the sidelines by representatives of the two teams, thus doing away with the services of a field judge; recommended that, in the interests of stricter enforcement of the rule against clipping the penalty be reduced from 25 to 15 yards; suggested that coaches be notified by an official when the teams have had three times out; and recommended that interference be not called on a forward pass unless there is bodily contact.

SCRIBES HONOR JOHN M'GRAW

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—John J. McGraw, who retired last season after 30 years as manager of the New York Giants, told the annual banquet of the Baseball Writers' Association last night that ill-health alone, and not any friction with his associates, caused his withdrawal from active participation in the game.

The veteran pilot took cognizance of reports about his differences with the New York club by emphasizing that he left the bench only because of the orders of his doctors. McGraw interrupted his annual vacation in Havana to be the guest of honor at the tenth annual banquet, and was accorded an extraordinary ovation by several hundred guests, including scores of men prominent in baseball.

Herb Pennock, veteran southpaw of the New York Yankees, was honored by the New York chapter of the writers' association as the player contributing most to the game's benefit within the past several years.

The speechmaking was paced by Arthur (Bugs) Baer as toastmaster. Heywood Broun, once a baseball writer, and Joseph Cunningham also were among the speakers. On the dais with them were John Heydler, president of the National League; Charles H. Knapp, president of the International League; W. G. Bramham, president of the Minor League Association; Cullen Cain, Julian Curtiss, Glenn Warner and Daniel M. Daniel.

Pitt Passers in Easy Win Over Army

DOUBLES PLAY ON TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Fifteen clever teams await the call to action as opening contests of the Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., novice handball tournament switches attention to doubles on the courts of the Keystone Athletic Club this afternoon.

Singles play was terminated yesterday as J. Parker Smith, youthful East Liberty Y. M. C. A. ace and brother of Frank Smith, of district glove fame, rallied gallantly to capture final victory from Eddie Roche, P. A. A. star and former Columbia University middle-distance and cross-country trackster, 13-21, 21-9, 21-15.

KRAELING, BENNETT GOOD

Favored contenders for the dual crown are Harry Kraeling and Dick Bennett, crack P. A. A. pair, but opposition aplenty will be forthcoming from their clubmates, Roche and Harbaugh Miller, as well as from Maurice Arnd and Campbell, another keen Winged Head combine; Ed Reno and Joe Gish, talented Keystone array; Poling and Marcin, hopes of the Downtown Y. M. C. A., and Frank Koubek and Wallace, an unattached outfit of no mean ability.

Neither Smith nor Roche flashed customary form in the title tussle. The Y. M. C. A. delegate encountered difficulty in handling deep shots off the wall in the early stages of the tilt, with result that Roche stepped off to a comfortable lead and was never headed in the initial game. Thereafter the Winged Header was almost constantly in the hole. Smith tightened perceptibly at the start of game two. His returns were lower and crisper, and he scored numerous points outright as Roche faltered.

The P. A. A. entrant enjoyed 3-0 and 4-1 advantages in the deciding canto, but Smith sped to the front at 10-4. Roche pulled up to 7-10, but lost service as he mistakenly failed to play a ball which he thought had touched the ceiling. Smith added a brace of markers, whereupon Roche swung into dying spurt that slipped him a 13-to-12 margin. Smith was still strong, however, and met his rival's desperate sortie successfully by garnering a hand-out and running up stantial lead, which he refused to relinquish.

BICKEL ADVANCES

In the K. A. C. class A intramural squash racquets championship, Bill Bickel advanced to the semi-finals by virtue of a decisive 15-10, 15-2, 15-10 victory over Herb Lytle in a fast, hard-hitting Sunday fracas. At the same time, J. O. Craig rounded out the second bracket by nosing out Theos Manos, 18-17, 15-12, 13-15, 15-12. Bickel and Charley Fagan now repose in the penultimate frame, where tomorrow the former takes on the survivor of today's George Craig-Chip Kennedy debate, and the latter meets the winner of skirmish involving J. O. Craig and Jean Caspar.

Wykoff to Try Comeback Tonight

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Beaten badly in his debut in indoor competition, Frank Wykoff, of Southern California, world 100-yard record holder, will make another attempt tonight in the annual Seton Hall College games in the 113th Infantry Armory.

The Pacific Coast flier will match strides in the sprint series of 40, 50 and 60 yards, with a group of other well-known performers, including Ed Siegel, of New York, one of the three who led him to the tape in the 50-meter dash of the Millrose Games Saturday night. Siegel trailed Emmett Toppino, of New Orleans, with E. G. Widmyer, University of Maryland, third, and Wykoff fourth.

CUE PLAYOFF TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Jay N. Bozeman, Jr., of Vallejo, Cal., and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., play off here tonight for second place in the world three-cushion championship tournament won by Welker Cochran. Layton is a 10-time holder of the title. Cochran won the event in his first attempt at three-cushions supremacy after a long career as a balk line star.

avert defeat. In fact, according to the Detroit papers, the fans were far from satisfied with Referee Slim McClelland's decision and set up a clamor, claiming Marcus was the real winner. The pair may be rematched for Indianapolis, Cox's home town.

Mike Barto, southpaw lightweight puncher, of New Kensington, will make his professional debut against Johnny Birek in one of the four-round bouts at the Moose Temple Wednesday night. Birek gave Johnny Hazel a tough fight there last Wednesday.

Charley Baxter boxes Willard Brown, claimant of the Indiana welterweight title, in the main bout of 10 rounds at the Arena, on the North Side, Friday night.

Don Asto, of Uniontown, will box Eddie Zivic, of Lawrenceville, in the eight-round main bout at the Moose Temple Wednesday night, with eight four-rounders completing the bill, which will be offered at 60 cents and $1.15, including tax.

A special bout will be staged in connection with the amateur championship finals at the Keystone A. C., tonight. It will be between Smoke Robinson, of Oil City, and Al Quaill, of the Y. M. H. A. Robinson came here to compete as a welterweight in the tournament and was four pounds overweight, but was eager to box Quaill and the match was arranged for him.

New South Wales Cricket Victor

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The coveted Sheffield shield, cricket trophy competed for annually by the four major elevens of the commonwealth, today was won for the twentieth time by New South Wales.

New South Wales defeated South Australia by 98 runs in the final match. The scores were: New South Wales, 113 and 356 (Bradman, 56 and 97); South Australia, 114 and 258 (Nitschke, 105).

BRISBANE, Australia, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The first innings of an exhibition cricket match between Queensland and the visiting English test match team was still unfinished today after two days of play, with Queensland All out for 201 and England 303 for eight wickets.

SAM WATTERS AT CONFAB

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Sam Watters, Pirate vice president, left this morning for New York, where tomorrow he will represent the Pittsburgh club at the annual schedule meeting of the National League.

Baseball is popping at the metropolis this week, largely on account of the February gathering of the magnates, but the Pirate officials are taking rather quiet parts out of respect to the memory of the late Barney Dreyfuss, long-time Buccaneer owner, who died one year ago yesterday.

Pirate President Bill Benswanger remained in Pittsburgh and away from a very happy occasion held last night in New York. The New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America held its annual banquet and show last night, the affair being staged in honor of John J. McGraw, famous pilot of the Giants for something like 30 years.

COMMENDS McGRAW

Had it not been for the Dreyfuss death anniversary, Benswanger would have been among those at the festive board. Instead he sent telegrams to McGraw and the committee of writers in charge of the feast.

In his message of congratulation to John McGraw, Benswanger dwelt upon the benefits which baseball had gained through McGraw's long association with the national game. The telegram to the New York writers commended them for their laudation of McGraw.

Watters is to be the sole representative of the Pittsburgh club in the schedule pow wow and in any other sessions which may interest the Pittsburgh club.

BUCS OPEN IN CINCY

The draft of playing dates has been prepared, but they do not get official approval each year until the February meeting. It is practically assured, however, that the Pirates will jump off in Cincinnati. The Buccos opened in St. Louis one year ago and in 1930 they started their campaign in Chicago.

The first squad of Pirates, to be made up of pitchers and catchers, Manager Gibson, President Benswanger and others, will depart from Pittsburgh one week from next Sunday morning. The second squad will move toward the Paso Robles training camp one week later. The Buccos will travel over the Pennsylvania, Rock Island and Southern Pacific systems this year on their jaunt to California.

Chilly Sauce

The incident concerns Bill Brubaker, the Coast collegian, who looked like a million dollars as he played third base for the Pirates in a few games last September.

Capt. Traynor had a badly damaged digit in the final series of the last campaign—the series with the Cubs in Chicago. Shouted Gibby on the bench, and in front of his whole squad:

"You stay out today, Pie. I'll put a real third-sacker in the game. Hey, Brubaker—get in there and show them how to play that bag." He did.

One of the first Cub hitters slapped a hot one toward left and Big Bill made a regular Traynor stop and then hung a "clothesline" with his throw to Suhr to spoil a base hit. Two or three Pirate veterans fell off the bench, but Traynor did not. Grabbing his glove and jumping up, Pie yelled:

"My finger is a whole lot better now, Gibby."

Give Brubaker one hard season in a classy minor league and he is apt to graduate to the big show with honors. He has something like a dozen qualifications, including natural freshness, speed, daring, confidence, batting power, fielding skill and a remarkable physique.

BATTLE LOOMS FOR CELTICS

Local basketball fans have been treated to some great floor battles hereabouts in the past, but the one they are going to witness at Motor Square Garden Thursday night, when the Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics meet the crack Paterson (N. J.) passers, promises to eclipse them all in point of thrill and action.

Included in the Paterson lineup will be Carl Husta, former star with the Rosenblums, and Tiny Heran, the 6-foot 9-inch center, former intercollegiate star from the South. Husta rates as one of the most famous stars in the game.

The Celtics will have all the old favorites in the lineup, including Joe Lapchick, Pete Barry, Dutch Dehnert, Dave Banks and Nate Hickey.

JOHN SCHULTZ DIES

John Schultz, 42, former well-known local sandlot baseball star and a brother of Joe Schultz, former member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, died at his home, 511 Curtin avenue, yesterday. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Pauline Schultz and five brothers, Frank, Joe, Bernard, William and Lawrence Schultz.

Coast College Lands Stagg

A. A. STAGG — PROF. T. C. KNOLES

"Too young to quit at 71." A. A. Stagg, for four decades football coach at the University of Chicago, which dropped him because of an age limit rule, will make a fresh start as coach of The College of the Pacific, at Oakland, Cal. He is seen above with the president of the small institution, who went to Chicago to talk him into accepting the berth as against the offers of a number of other larger positions. SUTTER WINS OVER LOTT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Clifford Sutter, former Tulane University star, repulsed the challenge of George Lott, of Chicago, to win the singles championship of the Pan-American tennis tournament here yesterday, but failed to carry his winning streak into final doubles competition.

Sutter played a determined and confident game in the singles to take an early lead in a match with the set scores 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

Lott teamed with Richard Covington, of Asheville, N. C., to defeat Sutter and Bryan Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, 6-4, 6-3, for the doubles title after approaching darkness had forced an agreement to base the title claim on the best two out of three sets.

Earlier in the day, Lott and Covington advanced from the semi-finals by defeating Gustavo Vollmer, of Havana, Cuba, and S. Jarvis Adams, of Port Washington, L. I., 6-4, 4-6, 3-6, 6-4, 10-8.

Jadick to Seek Lightweight Title

Jadick, recognized in several quarters as a leading contender for the lightweight title of Tony Canzoneri, will confine his activities to the 135-pound lightweight class. He declared there was no talent in the 140-pound division and that since annexing the title he has been able to obtain only eight bouts. White said:

born a new era in the boxing game . . . Young men patterned themselves after the new champion and idol, science came into its own back there in New Orleans on the night of September 7, 1892.

"When I returned to my hotel," Corbett said, "the stage was set for a big glorification. . . . Frequent quotations of his opinions made him appear in a poor light and gave him an undeserved reputation as a bad prophet . . . In recent years he has purposely refrained from making predictions in an effort to live down this phase of his past . . . Make no mistake about it, Corbett never forgot his keen knowledge of boxing, although he could have forgotten more than the average man ever will know about the sport and still would have remained far ahead of the flock.

Bill Corum, brilliant sports columnist of Mr. Hearst's sparkling New York Evening Journal, says he is sick unto death of this constant talk about the depression and wishes he had heard the end of it . . . He rather likes the optimism of the farmer down in Kentucky who squelched a drummer who greeted him with "Terrible depression we're having, isn't it?" . . . "Eh?" replied the farmer . . . "I say, it's a terrible depression, and we're right in the middle of it . . . You have no idea how bad things are . . . Yes, sir, this depression is awful," elaborated the drummer . . . "Wal," replied the farmer, as he spat upon the ground, "this sure is a mighty fine day we've got for it."—HARRY KECK.

International Field In Squash Tourney

HAVERFORD, Pa., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—An international field of 64 players today begin competition in the annual national women's squash racquets championship tournament at the Merion Cricket Club.

With foreign stars competing for the first time in the history of the tourney, the field is made up of first-rank players from England, Canada and several eastern United States cities, including Boston, New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Neil Sullivan yesterday won the Pennsylvania squash racquets title when he defeated Don Stachan in straight sets, 15-7, 15-10, 15-10. Strachen was seeded No. 1 and Sullivan No. 2.

REVOLVER MARK TIED

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 6.—Jack Coulter, of Grensburg, tied the world revolver shooting record here Saturday when he scored 299 in a match with the Fort Pitt Rifle Club, of Pittsburgh.

CURRY BEATEN IN UPSET

By TOM BIRKS

The Moon Run Soccer Club provided one of the big upsets of the season by defeating Curry in the third round of the National Amateur Cup competition, 1-0, at South Park yesterday afternoon.

The defeat of the Keystoners can be attributed to the fact that Buff Donnelli and Mike Bookie were missing from the forward line. Both are professionals and cannot play in the amateur cup competition. Cyle, the big fullback, also was missed.

VICTORS TOO FAST

The Moon Run booters ran the legs off the Curry halfbacks and were far more speedier than the Broughton aggregation.

The only goal of the game came 14 minutes from the end, Sella, the Moon Run inside right, shooting from a scrimmage, and sending the ball into the net.

Ambrose, Moon Run goalkeeper, was the outstanding star of the game. Many of his saves were sensational. The lineup:

Ambrose	G	Stanko
Macek	R.B.	Cingel
Riddle	L.B.	O. Cimerolli
Van Jura	R.H.	Kirk
Pawlick	C.H.	Powell
Kashn	L.H.	Susko
Dollnar	O.R.	Bruce
Lloyd	I.R.	Magre
Rasputnick	C	J. Cimerolli
Sela	I.L.	N. Cimerolli
Cantwell	O.L.	Molly

Goal—Sella.
Referee—Evans.

DE MARCO VICTOR

The final game in the Panhandle League found Local Union defeating De Marco, 3-0. Nothing depended upon the outcome of the game, De Marco already having the title in the bag.

In the West Penn cup the Barsotti-Heidelberg Rosies game was abandoned when the referee examined the McKinley Park field and declared it unplayable.

The McKnights, of Castle Shannon, fresh from their victory over Akron Goodyears last Sunday, travelled to Springdale and swamped the Valley Athletics, 10-0. Avella defeated Sygan, 5-3.

MACCABEES BEATEN

DETROIT, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The Sons of Malta shut out the Maccabees All-Stars, of Chicago, 2 to 0, in a soccer match here yesterday. The victory made the Maltese outstanding contenders for the National cup championship finals to be played at Chicago during the World's Fair.

Steffen Refuses To Succeed Stagg

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—Judge Walter Steffen, recommended by University of Chicago lettermen for the football coaching job at Chicago, announced today that he is not interested in the position as successor to Amos Alonzo Stagg.

The alumni forwarded their recommendation to Athletic Director Ralph Metcalf, asserting that they are planning to "urge the appointment of a Chicago alumnus as the new coach." Steffen is a former Maroon star and Carnegie Tech mentor. Steffen said:

"After careful thought I have decided that I don't care for the job. That is final."

Corbett's Condition Reported Unchanged

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(INS.)—The condition of James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, remains unchanged, his physician, Dr. George Fish, said today.

Corbett has been critically ill for some time. Today, for the first time, visitors were denied admittance to his home. Even his telephone was disconnected temporarily so his rest might not be disturbed.

It was said at his home he is confined to his room, but has strength enough to move about if he so desires.

BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

GOLD IMPORTS TO CONTINUE THIS YEAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The return movement of gold to this country in the last half of 1932 will continue in 1933, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute, which sees in the expected favorable trade balance for the United States a difficult situation for foreign countries which, with foreign bank balances almost exhausted, must meet the trade balance with gold shipments from a present limited supply.

It is apparent from fragmentary information that the United States had a favorable international trade balance in 1932 as in the previous three years, according to the institute. One indication is the fact that the merchandise balance was favorable. Another indication is provided by the excess of gold imports. A third indication is the fact that foreign balances in American banks were apparently decidedly smaller at the end of the year than at the beginning. Heavy gold exports during the first half of 1932 were accomplished by the withdrawal of foreign deposits in the United States. The return movement of gold during the last half of the year was evidently caused by the need of settling indebtedness and did not serve to replenish foreign bank deposits.

Another factor indicating a favorable trade balance in 1932 was the complete stoppage of new American investments abroad and consequently the probable return of some funds previously invested. It is also a well-known fact that tourist expenditures which ordinarily run heavily against the United States were noticeably curtailed in 1932. It is true that returns on private investments abroad and war debt payments were reduced last year, but such contraction was probably at least offset by a smaller volume of debits.

Foreign trade developments in 1933 are likely to be of a noteworthy character. Since foreign bank balances in the United States are practically exhausted, it will be necessary for foreign countries to meet a trade balance favorable to the United States with shipments of gold. The amount of gold which can be shipped however is extremely limited at the present time because foreign reserves have already been well depleted.

BRITISH POUND UP SHARPLY

London cables were quoted at $3.43½ at the opening, a gain since Saturday of 3½ cents. Later, the quotation moved somewhat higher.

Bankers and dealers here were at a loss for an explanation, but Wall street's London advices indicated the Bank of England's sterling equalization fund may have withdrawn temporarily from the market. It had been reported selling sterling in order to keep the quotation steady around the $3.40 level. One explanation was advanced that British governmental authorities desired to put a check on the boom in South African gold mining stocks. With sterling going higher, it would be more difficult to support such a boom.

Trading in other foreign exchanges was reported quiet.

TRADE SHOWS NO STEADY TREND

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The business record of the past week shows about an even balance between positive and negative factors, according to reports from 55 cities to Bradstreet's Weekly. But while business may not be improving it is finding new ways of making narrow profits.

Retail business in many parts of the country has been hurt by rapidly changing weather. In some instances mild weather has hurt the movement of winter stocks, while in others rain, the department store man's bugaboo, has slowed up sales. Industrial production, with the exception of Detroit, where Ford and other manufacturers are keeping the assembly lines moving, inclined to lower levels.

CLEARINGS GAIN

On the positive side of the picture we have bank clearings rising from $1,036,000,000 in the previous week to $4,284,000,000. On the negative side we have Bradstreet's Weekly food index at $1.49 or about 1 per cent under a week ago. Car loadings are 2 per cent under last week while anthracite and bituminous coal production is 2.7 and 4.3 per cent under the previous week. Petroleum production is virtually unchanged from a week ago.

In Chicago, January business made a fair to good showing. Distribution in most lines suggested small gains, particularly in steel and general merchandise while other lines maintained about the same volume of output as in recent months. An increase in steel production was the important feature of the month, the mills in the Chicago district beginning the month at 10 per cent and ending at 18 per cent.

STEEL ACTIVE

In Cleveland, the fact that the steel industry is operating at 26 per cent is reflected in the report that basement sales in department stores are better off than floor buying. Mild weather has slowed up sales of winter merchandise.

In New York City women's wear and furniture promotion have produced a moderate movement in these two groups. Men's clothing continues to meet a good demand in medium price groups, in contrast to the prevailing trend for strictly low-priced stocks.

Klein to Address Bankers' Meeting

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, will be the speaker of the evening at the twenty-second annual banquet of the trust division, American Bankers Association, which will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City, February 16, it was announced today. He will speak on The Factors in Business Recovery.

Dr. Klein, nationally known as an economist and executive, is soon to enter the trust field as a special advisor to the Irving Trust Company, New York City, in connection with the administration of several large retail receiverships.

Building and Loan Joins Association

The Improved Washington Building and Loan Association, of Pittsburgh, was admitted to membership recently in the United States Building and Loan League, according to H. F. Cellarius, of Cincinnati, O. Mr. Cellarius is secretary-treasurer of the league.

The building and loan association becomes a member of a national organization in this field that has over 2,800 members. Its business is administered by an executive manager and staff from its offices at 59 East Van Buren street, Chicago.

National Register Best in 3 Months

DAYTON, Feb. 6.—January domestic sales of the National Cash Register Company were the largest in three months. Several substantial orders from banks for accounting machines, and from retail stores for cash registers, were signed last month.

STOCKS MEET SUPPORT ON DECLINE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The stock market showed some inclination to pull itself together today, after absorbing a little flurry of selling in the early dealings.

On the whole, however, the market failed to display recuperative power, and traders were cautious. A firmer tone in wheat in the earlier dealings may have been helpful to shares.

Losses of fractions to a point or so were partially regained here and there, and General Motors, on which the dividend announcement was expected after the close, rose a fraction.

The action of the rails was followed closely by chart readers, for that group, thus far, has failed to come down to the lower levels of the trading range of the past four months. Should rails come down, and in some instances slip through the lower resistance levels, as have a number of the industrials, a considerable section of market theorists would regard it as a bad technical sign.

The number of dividend actions due in the next 10 days injected an element of uncertainty, which made traders cautious. General Motors' directors were slated to meet after the close today, and during the next few days meetings are slated for Socony-Vacuum, Eastman and Union Pacific, among others. A week from Wednesday, American Telephone directors are scheduled to convene for dividend action.

Week-end trade reports were inconclusive, and corporate news was light. Toward the end of January, Wall street begins to look for signs of seasonal business recovery, and despite lack of definite indications as yet, a pre-spring pickup is still expected in a number of quarters. It was pointed out that the colder weather which arrived over the week-end may stimulate the movement of coal, as well as use of electric power, and tend to make better showings in the standard business barometers.

COTTON DROPS ON SELLING

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 9 to 12 points decline, in response to lower Liverpool cables and under active March liquidation. March, 5.77c; May, 5.86c; July, 5.98c; October, 6.19c; December, 6.31c; January, 6.36c.

These offerings, with some Liverpool and continental selling, were absorbed after selling down to 5.98c for July, or a couple of points below the recent point of resistance, prices steadied on trade buying and covering. March liquidation was active and there were further exchanges from that delivery to later months at about recent differences.

The market was less active later in the morning. Offerings were much lighter and the tone was steady on continued trade buying and covering. There may also have been some buying for a rally promoted by reassuring financial news from New Orleans. July sold up to 6.11 and active months at noon generally were within a point or two of Saturday's close.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 6.—Cotton, 20,000 bales including 3,900 American. Spot in limited demand; prices six points lower; quotations in pence; American strict good middling, 5.58; good middling, 5.28; strict middling, 5.03; middling, 4.88; strict low middling, 4.73; low middling, 4.58; strict good ordinary, 4.38; good ordinary, 4.08. Hesitancy Is Noticeable In High Circles

By B. C. FORBES

BUSINESS SENTIMENT is at sea.

Hesitancy, uncertainty, timidity rule.

FRANKLY, UNFAVORABLE have outweighed favorable developments lately.

There has been some hoarding of gold in high places. The general commodity price level has fallen to lower depths than heretofore touched. Stock and bond quotations have been weakish. Railway tonnage has receded. Retail trade volume is only so so, with the turnover as measured in dollars almost one-quarter below a year ago.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS ave depressed rather than cheered. The wholly unexpected happenings in Germany have caused bewilderment although Hitler is likely become less irresponsible when he finds the weight of responsibility weighing upon him.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Chamberlain has produced a most unfortunate effect by his extraordinary, bellicose, almost impudent declarations on Britain's attitude towards America on war debts. Japan still disturbs the world. Canada has announced one more step in her movement to handicap United States interests in competing for British empire trade.

NOTHING DEFINITELY helpful is coming from Washington—the reverse rather. Practicable agricultural aid is as far off as ever; the "allotment" plan is now generally recognized as unworkable. Hopes of constructive legislation by the "lame duck" Congress have vanished. Failure in Congress to insist upon drastic reduction in payments of taxpayers' money to ex-service men not disabled during active service also disappoints the financial community and dims prospects of substantial cutting of governmental expenditures.

PERHAPS THE most restraining influence of all in the highest circles is the uncertainty over the caliber of the next cabinet. I understand that Owen D. Young is not the only prominent man of affairs who refuses to accept office. This does not make easier the naming of a cabinet of a caliber calculated to inspire confidence, to say nothing of enthusiasm, among powerful financiers and large-scale employers.

No other single event is so largely awaited as announcement of Roosevelt's cabinet aides. The official announcement is certain to be promptly followed by events which will offer a clue as to how things are likely to go during coming months. Happily, there is a disposition to hope for the best—although this disposition is being tempered by precautions in financial circles.

NOTWITHSTANDING all the foregoing, when one travels throughout the country, one finds that nervousness has appreciably abated among ordinary folks, that there is a rather widespread tendency to look for improvement once the new administration takes the saddle.

Crumbling commodity prices are a bitter disappointment in agricultural states, of course. But, unemployment problems are being coped with effectively in nearly every community. Necessitous buying of the things essential to existence proceeds without notable diminution, and most businessmen reason that demand is more likely to rise moderately than to fall still further as time passes. Savings held up remarkably well.

THE MUCH-ADVERTISED readiness of powerful institutional lenders to treat borrowers considerately has produced most gratifying effect upon sentiment—and upon the social outlook. This last is important beyond exaggeration.

Wide-Spread Pessimism Suggests Rebound May Be Near

Some of the street's keenest observers were of the opinion that it might be found profitable to follow the practice of some of the successful old-timers in "coppering the crowd." In other words it was felt that there was too much bearishness in the market place as the new week began, and, accordingly, that if precedent held the list might be close to a technical rally. The market yielded to reactionary influences for five consecutive sessions, it was pointed out, so that the time element is possibly operating in favor of a rebound if only of a temporary nature.

A sprinkling of foreign selling, most of it believed to have originated with London sources, was reported in the early part of the day. Considering the spirited rise in the pound sterling to new high levels for the movement, this selling was not surprising to usually well-advised sources. Moreover, it was not interpreted as indicating any important change in London's view of American stocks. On the contrary, it was accepted as the result of selling by British speculators who sought to catch any real advance which might be in the making in sterling, with exchange control temporarily lifted as a means of checking the boom in African gold shares which have been "kiting" in London for more than a fortnight or since South Africa abandoned specie payments.

Chicago wheat traders devoted increased attention to the size of domestic wheat supplies today, as the experience of the present season has shown that the carry over might be as big a factor as production in determining prices. Present estimates indicated the winter wheat crop probably would be the smallest in recent years. The United States visible supply was steadily decreasing to around the smallest known recently for this time of the year.

Hornblower & Weeks say: "The start of the new week finds the market within striking distance of the broad October-December support levels, at which point, the buying during the past four months has exceeded the selling on every occasion when liquidation has threatened to bring about a general decline to lower levels. With the pattern of the market the last quarter of 1932 and the month of January in 1933, strongly suggesting accumulation, it can be readily seen that the market this week is due for an important test of this deduction."

Curiously enough, gold mining stocks holding the center of the stage in London as a medium of speculation for the rise lately, the open market price of the metal there is materially lower than several months ago. The price of bar gold in terms of exchange naturally fluctuates with the rise and fall of sterling. The peak was reached around the end of November and in early December when with sterling quoted at its low of about $3.14, bar gold commanded a price of 130 shillings an ounce. With sterling quoted around today's levels bar gold in London was quoted at 119¾ shillings the ounce.

The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange points out that coffee is the only major commodity currently traded in New York that is selling above its price of a year ago. The most widely used coffee, the Santos 4s, is quoted at 9½ cents a pound against 9 cents last year at this time. Maintenance of the price level is attributed generally to the "defense" activities of the National Coffee Council of Brazil which has caused 13,000,000 bags of coffee to be burned since June, 1931. Other protective measures have also been effective.

BRITISH POWER OUTPUT

Electricity generated in Great Britain in 1932 amounted to 12,224,000,000 units, an increase of 811,000,000 units or 7 per cent over 1931, the government's trade commission at London reports. While the depressed conditions of the last two years have checked consumption of electricity in the heavy industries, this has been more than offset by expansion in domestic and commercial demand.

NITRATE EXPORTS GAIN

Exports of chemical fertilizer nitrogen compounds in 1932 amounted to 167,000 long tons, an increase of 230 per cent over the year before, the Department of Commerce announced. Imports totaled 50,000 tons. Last year was the first in which American nitrate exports exceeded the imports. More synthetic nitrogen was exported than by-product nitrogen.

BLACK & DECKER CAPITAL CUT

Stockholders of Black & Decker Manufacturing Company have approved the reduction in capital represented by 298,354 no par common shares to $1,491,770 from $6,262,730 and transferring $4,770,960 to surplus account. The company has 40,000 preferred shares outstanding of $25 par.

RAIL-STEEL PROBLEMS

Steel manufacturers are taking some comfort from the fact that the moderate January increase in operating schedules occurred in spite of a continued paucity of railroad buying. Any considerable progress this year in working out the carriers' problems is expected to stimulate buying of railroad steel.

LOCAL MARKET MOVEMENTS NARROW

There was no change in the general character of the market as the new week opened on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. Continued light trading and an extremely narrow price movement marked the dealings. While demand for stocks was very light at current levels, it was also true that offerings were equally scant.

Lone Star Gas, key issue of the local list, fell back slightly over the week-end, but the small loss recorded in the early market did not carry the stock out of the narrow price range in which it has been hovering for the past three weeks. The other fuels were dull and practically unchanged. In the industrial list the same insignificant fluctuations noted last week were again recorded. Copperweld Steel was off fractionally, but there was no noticeable pressure on the stock.

WHEAT CLOSES STRONG, UP

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Threatened severe damage to the United States winter wheat crop as a result of predicted sub-zero temperatures tonight led to higher prices for grains today.

In late dealings especially wheat quotations moved upgrade, and buying became active. There was notable reinstatement of lines of wheat recently sold out.

Associated 'Phone Seeks Extension

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Associated Telephone Utilities Company is asking holders of its $3,858,000 6 per cent notes, due April 1, 1933 to accept an extension of the due date until April 1, 1935, to avoid receivership.

The company states it is solvent and is meeting its obligations currently as they fall due. It also has funds with which to meet the interest payment on the notes, but sees no possibility at present of acquiring funds with which to meet payment of the principal on April 1, 1933.

Masefield Pleads For Saloon Return

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(INS.)—The saloon was a great American institution, John Masefield, poet laureate of England and once a porter in an old-time New York barroom, said today during a visit here. A teetotaler for 35 years, he declared:

"I hope your saloons come back soon."

AVERAGES DROP THREE POINTS IN WEEK

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics New York University

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Stock market averages declined about three points last week, losing all the hard-won gains of early January. Bonds also lost ground, falling back to the mid-January level.

The volume of trading was appreciably heavier, and the market broader, whil the great majority of issues traded were lower. One can hardly escape the conclusion that considerable liquidation occurred on Thursday.

Despite obvious efforts to stem the decline by bidding up the rail stocks, these issues closed the week a little under the level of a week ago. The utilities were the chief weak spot, their average being off about five points, or say 8 per cent.

Gold mining shares were strong, both here and in London. There is some real basis for this strength, as the gold producers are showing good earnings, and the fear of inflation increases their attractiveness. This, however, is not bullish for other stocks, and gold mining stocks frequently move inversely to the averages.

BULLS WASTE FORCE

It is worth noting that the averages fell definitely below levels at which the market should have been supported if an immediate resumption of the upward push were in prospect, and I continue to feel that the bulls wasted too much of their resources in the attempt to keep prices going up a week or two ago.

The low level of previous declines is now only a couple of points away and it seems that this should at least be tested.

There seems to be little probability that much progress on the up side can be made until the Telephone dividend action is out of the way, for that is both important and uncertain.

The reports of subsidiaries of the big utility (which it has drawn heavily upon in paying it dividends) are hardly encouraging. These subsidiaries show greatly reduced earnings and deficits after paying dividends, which have eaten into their surplus.

PUBLIC BIG FACTOR

The parent company naturally desires to maintain the basis for rates, and may have been too slow in writing down assets on account of obsolescence, etc. Now, however, the public attitude toward maintaining high dividends, when almost everything else is down, is becoming a strong factor. The feelings of stockholders, numerous as these are, may not prevail against the attitude of the outside public.

Whatever dividend action General Motors may take today, its earnings statement is likely to look unfavorable. One should note, too, that the selling in General Motors and in Du Pont (which owns a large block of G. M.) has been persistent, and this does not suggest confidence that the dividend will be maintained.

STANDARD STATEMENT

We should ponder well the statement issued with the recent cut by Standard of New Jersey. Emphasizing the overbuilt condition in industry, it says:

"Dividends were continued at the previous rate although not earned, with a resulting draft on surplus. It is obvious that use of earnings of the past for payment of dividends cannot continue indefinitely and that there must be an improvement in our business to justify continuance of the present rate. Unfortunately no such improvement has taken place."

I think that for the long run, the current tendency toward conservatism in dividend policy is good, as showing the deflation of one of the last of the "new era" notions. But for the present, it is likely to bring some lower stock prices.

CAST OFFICIAL VOTE THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner will be formally elected President and Vice President day after tomorrow.

The event will take place in the chamber of the House of Representatives after the Senate in a body solemnly proceeds thither for joint session.

Two mahogany boxes will carry "certificates of election," sealed and sent in to Vice President Curtis by the electors of each of the 48 states.

One box will be Roosevelt votes and one will be Garner votes, and Garner will be sitting in the Speaker's chair to hear each tally as told by the tellers.

The electoral college, composed of the men who, picked in the November election, cast these votes which in legal form do the real electing, never has met as a whole, but this year it has been invited to Washington for the first time—to attend the inauguration, March 4.

State Educator Raps Real Estate Taxes

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 6.—Declaring present methods of taxation are in "the horse-and-buggy stage," L. B. Strayer, of the State Department of Public Instruction, drew the attention of Venango County School Directors in annual convention here. Strayer declared:

"It is those who have stocks and bonds who should foot the tax bill, not holders of real estate."

BUSINESS

Steel Industry Is Not In Agreement On Wages

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

THE STEEL INDUSTRY is not in complete agreement on wage problems. This was made known yesterday when Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corporation, sixth largest producer in the business, condemned further wage cuts.

Mr. Weir's statement followed reports which have been prevalent for several weeks that a third reduction in the pay of mill workers is being planned by the leaders in the industry. Weakness in prices during the past month has been an influence in reviving the discussion of the wage question. Many steel officials wish to pass on the loss of income through lower prices on to the shoulders of employes.

Opposition to wage cut proposals has been developing in many quarters due to the fact that previous reductions did the industry no good. They were followed by price cuts so that the sacrifice of labor was of no benefit to the industry

* * *

National Steel Head Takes Firm Position

IT WILL BE remembered that Mr. Weir was opposed to the first steel wage cut. His organization, however, was compelled to follow the lead of other companies in making reductions in order to maintain its competitive position. No one company in any industry can afford to pay its labor more than its competitors for any considerable period of time.

Mr. Weir was outspoken in condemning the latest wage cut proposal. He declared that labor has done its part and that a further reduction would only produce decreased buying of steel. He said:

"Steel manufacturers are not justified in even considering any further liquidation of labor. It would be unfair."

* * *

Wage Cuts Would Not Help Sales

"WE HAVE gone, if anything, too far along those lines. It is true that the capital invested in the industry has suffered a very heavy reduction of its earnings, but labor has certainly borne its part of the burden.

"Another wage cut at this time will not add a single ton to the sales of steel. On the contrary, it may be expected to produce a decrease in sales, for buyers will tend to withhold purchases in the hope of still further concessions."

MUTUAL LIFE'S CASH GAINS

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—The Mutual Life Insurance Company, which on Feb. 1 rounded out 90 years of operation, today issued its annual report showing net income of $20,749,272 for 1932. Total income was $228,798,139 and total disbursements, $208,048,867.

The company closed 1932 with a fund for depreciation of securities and general contingencies of $58,773,457 and in addition set aside as a special reserve $9,275,166. Cash was increased from $6,885,281 at the end of 1931 to $15,721,251, which, the report explained, "is about three times its normal cash." Furthermore, added the report, the company "set aside $34,600,367 for dividends for the current year."

While loans against policies were still reported to be large, the total in the second half declined to $23,736,402 against $34,501,195 in the first half.

The company said it had made its mortgage loans mainly on business properties and on apartments and other residences "in selected cities and towns of the nation. The report added:

"The company has not made loans on farms for many years past, and has only one farm loan amounting to $6,000."

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Jewel Tea Company, Inc., reports for the year ended December 31, 1932, net income of $1,053,625 after provision for depreciation, federal taxes and reserve, but excluding loss from operation of Jewel Food Stores, Inc., which was charged against contingencies. This is equal to $3.76 a share on 280,000 shares of capital stock, and compares with net income of $1,363,780 or $4.87 a share in the year ended January 2, 1932.

American Snuff Company reports for the year ended December 31, 1932, net income of $1,818,025 after taxes, interest, depreciation, etc., against $1,916,132 in 1931.

Household Finance Corporation and subsidiaries report $3,645,280 net earnings for the year 1932, compared with $4,154,608 in 1931, equivalent to $4.29 a common stock share after providing $5 a share on the preference stock, against $4.99 in 1931. The company announced the purchase of the Central Finance Corporation of Toronto. Household Finance now has 154 offices in 95 cities.

South West Pennsylvania Pipe Lines Company reports net profit for the year ended December 31, 1932, was $29,273 after depreciation, taxes and profit and loss debit adjustment of $16,665. For the year 1931 net profit was 155,498.

Twin City Rapid Transit Company and subsidiaries had net income of $115,280 in 1932, compared with $395,129 in 1931. Current assets as of December 31 totaled $2,226,411 and current liabilities $836,080, compared with $2,722,584 and $1,009,224, respectively, at the end of 1931.

Irving Air Chute Company and subsidiaries report for the year ended December 31, 1932, net profit of $162,796, after charges and taxes, equal to 77 cents a share on 211,000 shares of capital stock, including 211,000 shares in treasury. This compares with $184,046, or 87 cents a share in 1931.

GENERAL TRADE UNDER LEVEL OF YEAR AGO

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
(Universal Service.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Business, still deep in the subnormal valleys, holds steady as the second month of the new year gets under way.

General trade, though above the low level of last summer, is perhaps 7 per cent below the average in the opening weeks of 1932. The business volume last year fell so low that the realized national income probably dropped to below $40,000,000,000, compared to $84,000,000,000 in 1928.

Mr. Rukeyser

The decline in national income helps to explain why those with fixed debts are having a hard time. Debts and taxes, unadjusted, take a larger portion of the national income than in better years.

Having condemned as unorthodox various proposals for promoting the gross volume of business, the business world instead is seeking to scale down debts to present low capacity to pay. Business volume is very little higher than the 1912 level, and there are 10,000,000 more adults in position to accept gainful employment.

The immediate trend is in the form of debt repudiation—an unpleasant episode in the senseless process of deflating to the bitter end. The realities are now flung before the public in the form of announcement by insurance companies of leniency toward delinquent farm mortgagors. The moratorium on foreclosures follows the instances of rebellion in the corn belt. Likewise, organized efforts are being made to scale down urban mortgages to present deflated values through the euphemism of reducing the specified interest rates.

Savings banks and other conservative lenders have been doing this quietly for months, but the title companies, which guaranteed as to principal and interest the mortgage certificates which they sold to investors, found themselves in a straitjacket. The largest of these now makes a frank appeal to certificate holders to consent voluntarily to a scaling down of interest rates from 5½ to 4 per cent. Thus the concept of a "fixed investment" is again knocked into a cocked hat.

With real estate subject to wide fluctuations in value, events have pointed to weaknesses in conventional financing methods. The guarantee idea presupposed a comparative stability, which has been found to be lacking. In the present hurricane, even those who used the guarantee with restraint, limiting it to a specified ratio of capital and surplus, are recognizing its lack of harmony with the chaotic state of the real estate market.

STEADIER TONE IN COPPER

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Although prices were unchanged, an improved undertone was reported in copper as a result of somewhat better inquiry for second quarter delivery and moderate gains in operations of fabricators. Offerings remained limited at the basis of 5 cents for electrolytic in the Connecticut valley. Demand from Germany also expanded moderately, and producers were said to be hopeful of continued foreign buying as forward needs abroad are believed to be unfilled.

Advances in tin quotations reflected strength at London, but domestic consuming trade remained indifferent.

Demand for lead diminished which was said to be a reflection of reduced activity by various consuming industries. Prices, however, remained unchanged.

Further slight declines occurred in zinc quotations early in the week, but prices became steadier when moderate investment buying appeared and consumers' bids slightly under the market were rejected.

BERN MARRIAGE PROBER DIES

FINDLAY, O., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. John Hartranft, 39, who has instituted an investigation to determine if her sister, Dorothy Millette, was the legal wife of the late Paul Bern, died at her home here today.

The body of Miss Millette was found in the Pacific Ocean near San Francisco a few weeks after Bern, who had married Jean Harlow, film star, shot and killed himself.

Mrs. Hartranft had employed attorneys to search court files in New York and other cities in the belief they might find a marriage license bearing the names of Miss Millette and Bern, a motion picture producer.

Mrs. Hartranft will be buried here today. A sister, Mrs. Viona Hissler, of Seattle, Wash., survives.

52 Schools Closed By Lack of Funds

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Fifty-two rural schools in two Mason County districts were ordered closed today because of lack of funds. More than 1,200 pupils are affected.

School officials said 33 more schools were expected to close this week, taking 773 more children out of school.

SHORTER WEEK HITS RAIL'S REVENUE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP.)—Adoption by many manufacturers of a shorter working week has proved a thorn in the side of the railroad industry and a boon to competitors which can offer lower-priced transportation service.

Railroad men report that the three-day week, the four-day week and one-week-off-in-four systems of rotating labor to keep as many people on the payroll as possible has made noticeable inroads on their commutation business. This business in running some 15 per cent behind a year ago. Loss of jobs furnishes only part of the explanation, transportation students declare.

MAKE FEWER TRIPS

Commutation books, issued monthly, in most cases cost the same whether the passenger makes 24 round trips each month, or only part of that number. Moreover, commutation rates have been little changed, as indicated in Interstate Commerce Commission figures. In fact, they were increased by some roads in 1932.

Consequently, it was pointed out, a man who ordinarily made 24 rounds trips in normal times is paying the same monthly transportation when, working part time, he makes, for example, only 12 trips. This, in effect, has doubled his commutation charges, measured on a mileage basis. As a result many commuters have taken to new forms of transportation.

TURNING TO AUTOS

At Kearney, N. J., an electrical manufacturing center close to New York, it is reported that part-time workers have turned in large numbers to automobile bus travel. Some workers have found it economical to pool the costs of operating second-hand automobiles.

Progress at a time like this is progress indeed

●

There are approximately 19,000 banks in the United States. The Colonial for years has been on the list of the 200 largest of these, as compiled by the American Banker (a daily newspaper in the banking field). The American Banker each year analyzes the banks of the country and lists them according to the size of their deposits.

The new listing by the American Banker shows that in 1932 The Colonial passed six of the other leading banks to move into a higher place in the list.

Commenting on this advance, Fred H. Kury, Financial Editor of The Pittsburgh Press, wrote: "This was construed to be a substantial gain in a year when business was at its lowest ebb."

It was also recently announced that more than 2,000 new customers opened accounts at The Colonial during 1932.

REDHEAD

CHAPTER VII.

It was odd, come to think of it, how deeply that pitiful little outbreak of Mr. Hemingway's had cut into Charlie . . . "Oh, if you could only do something! Kidnap her!" . . . round and round in his head those words raced. They were doing something to him. Yet his mind seemed cold. While they visited, playing along in that hopelessly insincere key, he was thinking, "I suppose it really is a battle. This love business. Be interesting to fight it out. Point by point. Outwit her. Even frighten her. Beat her down. Be worth doing for Mr. Hemingway's sake. Might be the one way to pull the family together again."

They'd persistently avoided any personal note. But finally Sue, as she was getting out that eight-inch cigaret holder, ventured this: "How is everything with you, Charlie?"

"Oh, all right." Was she softening a little? She had always been so eagerly responsive to atmospheres. Or was she just sinking the hook in a little deeper and twisting it? She looked cool. You couldn't tell. He added, deliberately: "I've bought a boat."

"Oh, how interesting. Have you, Charlie?"

"Yes, I'm sailing off tonight."

"Sailing off? Did you hear that, Dad? Where to, for heaven's sake?"

"The Caribbean, first. After that I haven't planned. Maybe Rio and Buenos Aires, maybe the South Seas."

"Good heavens, Charlie! Really? Why, I never heard anything so extraordinary. Alone?"

"Oh, yes."

FATHER STARTLED

Charlie could feel the father's startled eyes bent upon him. He didn't know why he'd so coolly announced that he was leaving that night. Oh, the boat was stocked and ready. But the morrow had been in his thoughts. Was he unconsciously catching a little of Sue's indifferent manner? Well . . . what if he was!

Mr. Hemingway sat motionless, looking down at his plate and occasionally moistening his lips. It was then that Charlie realized how sensitively this bewildered, defeated man had been leaning upon him. The cool announcement had struck him like a blow.

Sue kept looking at her watch. Her eyes roved about the huge, crowded dining room. All through her girlish natural years those eyes had been friendly and twinkling with healthy humor, but now they were preoccupied and (thought Charlie) a little hard. In less than three months she had changed that much. Her mind, of course, was full of this flight business. Utterly absorbed in it. Recklessly absorbed. And doubtless, too, in thoughts of that British flier. Charlie winced, but caught himself. Mr. Hemingway must have had the fellow in mind when he dropped that painful remark—"I'm afraid it has gone pretty far." And—"She's worth saving, Charlie. She is!"

SUE ANGERED

The silence lengthened and lengthened. Sue looked once again at her watch, and reached back to draw her coat up over her shoulders.

Mr. Hemingway cleared his throat. "I'm afraid I've got to get back to the office. I'll leave you two to visit."

"I'll have to run," remarked Sue, briskly. "I've simply got to go out to the airport and look things over."

There was another silence; broken, this time, by a boy paging—"Miss Sue Hemingway! Miss Sue Hemingway!"

She frowned over the card. "Newspapers again!" she muttered; then beckoned the head waiter. "The manager promised he'd keep those newspaper men off," she said, angrily. "Make it clear, please, that I won't see anybody!"

The man rushed away. The page was staring at Sue in frank excitement. People at nearby tables were staring too. And Charlie heard the whisper radiating off from table to table—"It's Sue Hemingway!" Chairs scraped around.

"Look here, Sue," said Charlie (his voice sounded brisk enough)—"I can't let you run away like this. Come on down and take a little ride on the boat before I go."

"Why don't you, dear?" This from Mr. Hemingway, pleadingly.

"I oughtn't to," she murmured, reflectively. He wondered what she could be thinking. Had she any feeling left for him? Any at all? . . . Perhaps a little. For she asked—"Could you land me at the airport"

"Surely."

"I really must get there sometime this afternoon. Dick will be furious."

GOES WITH CHARLIE

Dick, eh! That would be her precious flier. Suddenly Charlie felt certain that they had sailed together across the Atlantic. And now, still together, they were to fly back. Just another reckless, half-crazy pair. And it made a difference that Dick would be furious.

"We'd better go right away," he said.

"Can we dodge those newspaper men, Charlie?"

"I think so. There's a cafe downstairs and a door to the sidewalk."

They slipped out that way, and Charlie hurried her into a taxi. The "Sue" lay at Neponset. It would cost two or three dollars to drive out there, but what of it!

Mr. Hemingway watched them go, and then walked back down town with a very slight sense of relief. There seemed a vague chance. He knew this daughter of his. She had a headlong streak in her. Went hard at everything. But at least she'd have to think about Charlie for a few hours, and about her treatment of him. It would give her a healthy wrench. She'd always been a pretty good sort of girl, before the seven millions turned her head. And it was something that Charlie still wanted her.

SEES NAME ON BOAT

That was a curious long ride in the taxi. Charlie's mouth was clamped shut. Only a few meaningless phrases slipped past the compressed lips. Sue, in her new pose as a sophisticated young woman of the world, made one or two efforts at casual conversation, but finally fell silent. A queer, hostile atmosphere seemed to fill the cab, coloring the moody thoughts of both.

When they reached the boatyard, Charlie, without a word, led the way along one of the piers to his boat. He was turning to help Sue aboard when he found her, a little way back, standing motionless, staring at her own name bravely painted over the stern transom. She looked rather angry, he thought. But with a little independent toss of her prettily shaped head, she stepped aboard, ignoring his outstretched hand. For a few minutes he was busy getting the little ketch out into the harbor. When he came to the wheel he found Sue sitting in the cockpit looking very thoughtfully at the life-preserver that hung in the mizzen rigging. Of course! That had her name on it, too.

Synopsis

Young Charlie James, formerly engaged to Sue Hemingway, finds that sudden wealth and a prolonged trip to Europe have turned her head and taken her out of his world. Charlie buys a boat, intending to try forgetfulness in voyaging. Sue returns unexpectedly. Her father tells Charlie she is planning a trans-Atlantic flight with a young aviator she met abroad.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER JUNIOR COMIC CLUB

Saturday the winners in the membership drive, which closed at the Cameraphone Chapter a week ago, were presented with their prizes.

Little Adele Yorio, popular member of the club and many times chosen by the members to be their grand jester, was awarded first prize in the girls' class for bringing in 91 new members in four weeks. Adele was presented with a handsome vanity case. After the presentation she entertained the members with several songs.

The winner in the boys' class was Jack Krastrantas, who has been a member of the club since it started and has served several times as the grand jester. Jack was presented with a fine pair of ice skates, which he tried out Saturday afternoon. Jack, a talented entertainer, also performed for the members.

Also appearing at the Cameraphone was Josh Dreno's stage show consisting of the "Texas Rangers," Tedye Rhea and the Colbert sisters, clever little girl acrobats. It was a great show and the Cameraphone, notwithstanding the inclement weather, had every seat filled.

One Foot After the Other

We do not wish to discuss the flagrant accusation that the feet of American women are growing up with the nation.

This flatfooted indictment was made by a shoe expert who must have fitted the lady who wore fives, but took sixes because sevens were so comfortable.

It requires plenty of unconstitutional courage for a shoe man to slap that sort of statement on the line.

It means that fifty million enraged girls will beat a path to his door even though he claims he is making mouse traps.

The writer can not scoff at the tootsies of the feminine people. He has plenty of his own body on the ground. From stem to stern his dogs are streamline elevens with their delicate contours broken at strategic points by bunions, corns and inlaid callouses.

His feet curl up on both ends like porch rockers. His arches are flatter than flowers in the family album.

That's why we are not saying anything about the women's feetsies. And we can't figure how any other man can afford to criticize 'em. Of all the horrible sights in the world the most fearsome is a man's groundgrippers in the raw.

Man is a vain rascal. He primps and poses like a bird in the spring. Looking through the ages we find he made his greatest gain in personal appearance when he switched from sandals to rubber boots.

So we will close this debate on the girl's feet and regret that anybody mentioned the subject. We lost the argument before it started.

When the beaches open next summer take a census of the male dogs you see on the sand. Most of 'em only lack three strings of being banjos.

Pan-American Reciprocity Would Offset British Empire Exclusiveness

ONE OF THE FIRST DUTIES of the incoming national administration is to CALL a PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE ON RECIPROCAL TRADE.

If before the United States has an opportunity to act, some one of its sister republics should take the initiative—well and good.

It makes not a particle of difference whether the conference is held at Washington, Mexico City, Rio Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Santiago de Chile, or other convenient city as may be agreed upon.

This country should make clear its willingness either to lead or to follow, to initiate or to second, in every matter pertaining to the conference.

The common purpose of the conference should be to give the fullest possible effect to those principles in the economic sphere.

* * *

FOR more than a century we have had Pan-American conferences. It is not our intention to speak slightingly of their accomplishments.

While their results have been largely confined to expressions of amity and good intentions, such sentiments after all play an important role in international friendships and in the smooth course of international relations.

BUT NOW WE HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SOMETHING MORE CONCRETE!

A Pan-American reciprocity conference, under the conditions which today exist in the world, will be an HISTORIC LANDMARK in the ANNALS OF THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE.

It will mark the emergence of a new world force of infinite reach, lasting duration and immeasurable blessing to all nations.

* * *

The ordinary diplomatic agencies, upon which President-elect Roosevelt has shown a commendable disposition to rely, are ample for the few and easy steps to be taken.

There should be an undelayed exchange of views between the republics of Pan-America as to where the conference should be held. It should be assembled in response to an invitation joined in by not less than three representative nations designed for that purpose by informal suggestion.

Prior to the date of the assembling of the conference there should be a meeting attended by two or more delegates from each nation, to formulate in general terms the agenda of the conference and the number and types of representatives who should constitute the active body of the conference.

No limitation should be put upon the size or character of the delegations that may attend. The political, industrial and financial ability of each participating nation should be amply represented in the conference. The authority of its conclusions will be determined by the representative character of its attendance.

* * *

THE proceedings of the recent Ottawa conference, although not a pattern, may have usefulness as a guide.

THE MAIN PURPOSE WILL BE THE EXTENSION OF MUTUAL TRADE BETWEEN THE REPUBLICS OF THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE BY MEANS OF RECIPROCAL PREFERENTIAL TARIFFS.

The stabilization of exchange, the steadying of prices, the laying or lowering of duties to insure the development of resources and industries on sound economic lines, are all subjects which will have to be examined. Their political, economic, financial and monetary aspects will require study and treatment in the broadest spirit.

The lowering of interest rates and the provision of an abundance of short-term money and credits are cognate matters, which must be competently handled with the same breadth of sympathy and purpose.

The avoidance of violent speculative movements in commodities and securities is another subject of primary importance to be examined with explicit reference to the mutual interests of the nations represented in the conference.

* * *

THE IMPERIAL ECONOMIC CONFERENCE at Ottawa will look like a KINDERGARTEN compared to the conference which deals with PAN-AMERICAN RECIPROCITY.

The financial and economic power which will find expression there; the material resources and the inexhaustible natural wealth which it will represent—assure it an importance and reach of influence to which no limit can be set.

The OTTAWA CONFERENCE has sought to EXCLUDE THE AMERICAS from their NATURAL MARKETS and to BAN and LIMIT their LEGITIMATE TRADE.

LET PAN-AMERICAN RECIPROCITY be the ANSWER of the excluded Americas to the HIGH-HANDEDNESS of the IMPERIAL ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

Get the 'Higher-Ups!'

The Grand Jury Should Inquire How It Came About That The Monaco Club Enjoyed Immunity.

For months and months the Monaco Club, notorious speakeasy and gambling house, on Forbes street, opposite the Oakland Police Station, enjoyed immunity.

It remained for Judge Frank P. Patterson to take up this impudent challenge. With the aid of state police from Reading he succeeded in getting evidence against the club and in bringing the case before the Criminal Court.

But the "higher-ups" have not yet been brought to book. Nor has it been revealed how the resort came to enjoy immunity from raids for so long a period.

The County Court Job

It Is Desirable That a Judge Shall Be Appointed Who Is Qualified to Handle Juvenile Cases.

The police are holding a 19-year-old boy as the murderer of Charles F. Huber, the East End druggist who was shot by a bandit in an attempted holdup.

Many of the most shocking crimes are committed by mere boys, who are not infrequently aided by young girls.

The situation emphasizes the importance of dealing adequately with the juvenile delinquents and "problem children" from whom the ranks of the youthful desperadoes are recruited.

Juvenile delinquency first comes to public attention in the Juvenile Court, and it is in the Juvenile Court that opportunity is furnished the public authorities to save "problem children" from the course that leads to crime.

The problems presented by juvenile delinquency call for finesse, experience and sagacity. Not every judge who is capable of handling the affairs of adults satisfactorily is capable of reaching wise decisions in the cases of bad boys and girls.

In Allegheny County the Juvenile Court is a branch of the County Court. The County Court judges have not been elected or appointed to this bench because of any particular preparation or fitness for Juvenile Court work.

But Gov. Pinchot would do well in filling the vacancy now existing on the County Court bench if he would select someone qualified by personality, training, experience and aspiration to sit permanently as Juvenile Court Judge.

The Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs has called the Governor's attention to this need, and the Governor has admitted the importance of it.

It would be well if Allegheny County were granted by the Legislature a separate and independent children's court.

The reclamation of the many bad boys who are growing up to become murderers and robbers is an urgent necessity, and a court and a judge are required that can give their entire attention to such cases.

Better to Avoid Deficit

The Board of Education Has Followed a Sensible Policy In Fixing the Tax Levy.

At the meeting of the newly organized Allegheny County Real Estate Owners and Taxpayers League the Board of Public Education was denounced for fixing the school tax rate at a figure which theoretically will yield more money than is required.

The budget was reduced $1,500,000, but the tax rate was left unchanged. It could and should have been cut, the complainants say.

They are ignoring the fact that tax collections are abnormally low. While 92 per cent of the school taxes was collected in 1929, the collections last year fell to 77 per cent, and it is estimated that they will fall to 75 per cent this year.

The Board of Public Education has done the sensible thing in facing the facts. A tax rate which would result in a deficit would make higher taxes inevitable later on.

Two Sides of the Picture

THIS COSTS THE STATE $300.00 A YEAR.
THIS COSTS THE STATE $100.00 A YEAR.
FALSE ECONOMY
SCHOOL BUDGET
ENRIGHT

Not only does it cost $300 a year to keep a man in prison, as against less than $100 a year to keep a child in school.

Consider also this fact, reported by the National Education Association in its survey of crime in relation to education:

"The total annual bill of the nation for preventing and punishing murderers, highwaymen, robbers and all other law violators is ONE AND A HALF BILLION DOLLARS."

Instead of CURTAILING educational opportunities, for the sake of TEMPORARY economies, the nation should steadily INCREASE its school facilities until illiteracy vanishes.

More education means a better citizenship and a lower crime bill—which will be a PERMANENT economy.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up, and a pithy note on the times from Meredith Nicholson. Also, a hurried scrawl from F. P. A., penciled in red, green and black. Came news, too, from Win Larkin of the passing, in Paris, of his wife, Charlotte, as brave and noble a lady as ever I knew.

So abroad with the dogs, falling in step with Phil Baker, and he told of his writing the diary of a stooge. We hallooed to Sophie Tucker, breezing along in excelsior trudge. Then to C. B. Driscoll's hill-top manor to dip into an omer of hot libation which Count Morner brewed, setting all tongues a-wagging.

To dinner with Lucy Virginia Long at W. W. Hawkins', in Pelham. A great crowd there, including the Keats Speeds, M. H. Aylesworths, May Allison Quirk, Fred Fergusons, Karl Bickles and the Robert Benders. Home, in a mistral so thick we had to tarry two hours along the countryside.

Several dozen bright-lit little haberdasheries, that shone so resplendently on Broadway and side streets have been extinguished by the times. Their proprietors were the last of the sportish fellows of another era. They tricked out in fancy shirts and Brazilian diamonds, and frequently graced boxes at baseball games or about the ringside of fights. During trade lulls, they stood in doorways, hanging to awning ropes, puffing large cigars and indulging in good-natured bicker with passing acquaintances. They were mostly hallroom bachelors whose "fronts" added luster to Broadway.

Nat Lewis, perhaps the best known of the Broadway haberdashers, has weathered the storm. He sells bright ties, gay socks, shirts, and such to the theatrical and sporting fraternity. His manager is Dave Levy, who knows the Broadway of yesterday and today as few know it—and still is genial. In the rear of the shop, after theater, is a group remindful of the huddle around the base-burner of a crossroads store. Damon Runyon, Bill Corum, George Jessel, Eddie Cantor, and Al Jolson have discussed new bits of stage business there.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

"Brute Magnetism"

What is the quality in a woman's makeup—and particularly in a finer type of woman's soul—that makes her fall for "brute magnetism" in a man?

* * *

And why does a fine, generous, highly-sensitized woman so often fling herself away by marrying a large body of sensuality and selfishness, completely surrounded by vanity?

* * *

In "Mad Melody," that holding and delightful new novel by Warren Spencer, this feminine weakness is vividly portrayed. And in Marcia Powell, the heroine, who lightly passes up the love of a high-souled young genius in order to marry a "gorgeous brute" (with a high-powered magnetism but a low-powered mentality) many a disillusioned woman can see herself.

* * *

Yet, somehow (if you're a woman), as you read of Marcia's mad love affair and tempestuous honeymoon with the fascinating, domineering brute (Caska), you can't help envying her a little and feeling that you might have done the same thing, in her place. Woman's passion for making a human sacrifice of herself on the altar of love is positively insatiable.

* * *

No matter how "modernized" we women may become, this secret atavistic longing to be "conquered" and ruled by a strong, dominating man persists somewhere in a pigeonhole of our souls.

* * *

So often, a delicate, sensitive, modest man, who treats all women with consideration—and would treat some woman with lifelong, unselfish devotion—draws a selfish lightweight, a gold digger or a shrew, who spends her life using him for a doormat and treading all over his finer sensibilities.

* * *

But the big, magnetic "he-brute" always manages to find some loyal, capable worth-while gal, with a mothering-complex, who will pet him, put up with his bullying, nurse him through his morning-after headaches, forgive his infidelities, pick up his clothes—and, if necessary, go out and bring home the bacon, while he lolls in bed and gets his beauty sleep.

* * *

"SOME girl," did I say? Forgive me—one girl after another—as many as he wants or cares to bother with—until he begins to get fat and bald and loses that inexplicable physical magnetism.

* * *

What IS this thing called "magnetism," which is so often given to men of one-horse brain-power, and sometimes to those with neither good looks nor good figures, nor any other visible charm. Caska (the woman-tamer of "Mad Melody") was not especially handsome, but this inexplicable magnetism made every woman think him an Apollo. He was only a third rate violinist; yet, women had only to LOOK at him—and they believed that it was his music, which was swaying them.

* * *

"Mad Melody" is a fascinating book—and every girl should read it, and cross her fingers and shut her eyes, when she meets a man with "brute-magnetism."

Text For Today God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.—John, iv:24.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I used to run away from life.

I didn't put it that way to myself, of course. I didn't make a definite decision to duck experience. To the contrary, I thought I was living all the life that was worth living. Yet, actually, I was passing up the whole show.

For example—I hated to run risks. Any kind of risks. Silly, simple risks like getting tired, or taking cold; risks of trusting the wrong people; of being imposed upon; of making mistakes and being laughed at or talked about. Graver risks of being bored or bewildered, being lonely, or hurt, or broken-hearted.

I dreaded them all—so I solved the problem neatly by avoiding all situations which might force me to take risks.

Remember the old verse?—

"Mother, oh mother, may I go swim?"
"Yes, my darling daughter;
Hang your clothes on the hickory limb

That was my predicament. I, too, wanted to "go swim." But I hated the thought of getting wet. So I "hung my clothes on the hickory limb" of caution—and I DIDN'T GO NEAR THE WATER OF EXPERIENCE.

So I made life easy and foolproof, and I thought I was playing the game as it should be played. Other people thought so, also. They, too, were sitting snug. Things went nicely with them. They never got into embarrassing messes. They never assumed nightmare responsibilities. Nobody talked about them, or laughed at them, or imposed on them. They led 100 per cent safe and sane lives. And yet—

FOR SOME MYSTERIOUS REASON, THESE SNUG PEOPLE WERE NOT HAPPY. AND NEITHER WAS I.

In spite of all their cozy comfort, they seemed to feel that they were missing something. They complained that they had "never had their chance." They were restless and discontented, peevishly criticizing more crowded, colorful lives, yet plainly envying them their adventures. And I, too, shared their emptiness, their envy and discontent.

The truth was, of course, that we were all running away from Life and suffering from the consequences of our own cowardice. And gradually that truth dawned on me.

It was natural, it was necessary for every human spirit to want to live. No one could stay healthy or happy unless they did live abundantly, to the limit of their capacity. No amount of comfort or safety could ever be a substitute for real living. Yet an abundant life could only be had at great risk and expense.

If I wanted adventure, I must accept the risk of danger and disaster, loneliness and failure.

If I wanted wisdom, I must be willing to admit my stupidity, to forego my prejudices, to accept bewilderment and humiliation.

If I wanted love, I must pay the price in heart ache—even in heart break.

If I wanted any of life's great prizes, I must take the penalties along with the profits. I must not only "go near the water," but I must plunge into its muddy depths up to my chin.

So I've plunged! And it has been a long, tough paddle! Many a time I've envied those sitting safely on the bank. Many a time I've wished I had never left the stupid security of the land. And often—when the surf rolled higher than my courage, and the storms battered and blinded me—I've been willing to give up and sink.

BUT I'M GLAD I HAVEN'T!

For though the going is rough and the far shore hidden, this is the life! And I'm part of it! To be part of life; to move with life; to risk all you have for the sake of life, as though you were a god with eternities at your command—that is worth anything it costs. That outweighs all the safety and comfort.

So, let the mud hens sit on the bank if they wish! While there are waves, I'LL RIDE 'EM!

The earth lies fair before me
With lure of Spanish cities,
With hints of Mandalay,
With tales of brooding Egypt,
Of pyramid and Nile,
The world lies, wrapped in wonder,
For golden mile on mile!.

The earth keeps singing, singing
Of fabled land and sea;
I thrill to all these splendors,
But they are not for me,
The tears shall not come stinging
My eyes at Taj Mahal.
The sudden tears of rapture
With perfect beauty's thrall.

But I have found all loveliness,
